ELKTON, JANUARY 3, 1874.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—See the advertisement of "For Rent in Elkton."

—Elkton Trinity church was handsomely decorated for the Christmas holidays.

—Miss Margaret McClery has been appointed sub-deputy P. M. at Elkton Post Office.

—A band of serenaders endeavored to entertain everybody who gave them fifty cents, at the Hall, on Wednesday and Thursday nights last.

—Live men—RITTENHOUSE & HESTON at Rising Sun who run the Mammoth store. Read their advertisement in The Whig to-day.

—There will be preaching at the African M. E. Church, west end of Elkton to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M. and 3 o'clock P. M.
D RIDEOUT, Pastor.

—The Misses Smith have purchased the confectionery store, good will and fixtures of Mrs. Henry Wood, next door to the Post Office, and have taken possession of the sweets.

—Kriss Kringle visited the Rose Bank Lodge of Good Templars, at Brick Meeting House and dispensed a bountiful supply of cakes, candies and nuts among the members.

—The Mutual Building Association of Elkton, sold on Saturday night last $2500 at $100 premium and several smaller amounts, ranging from $200 to $300 at premiums from $1.10 to $1.30 per share.

—Rumor hath it that important changes are soon to take place in our Post Office. Being all females in that department, the change in the very nature of things must be "for better for worse."

—The contest for the fine buggy for the benefit of the Presbyterian church was decided on Tuesday evening last. The competitors were Mr. P. C. Strickland and Ex-Sheriff Thomas. The buggy was awarded to Mr. Strickland, who raised $326; Sheriff Thomas' receipts amounting to $100.

—The valuable paper mill, known as Providence Paper Mills, on the Little Elk, a short distance from Elkton, is advertised at Trustees' sale in to-day's Whig. This mill is capable of manufacturing an excellent qualityof printing paper. The present edition of The Whig is printed on paper manufactured by Providence Mills.

—With the New Year R. C. Levis displays a new and beautiful assortment of dry goods of finest texture and latest styles. Notions in profusion with staple goods to suit every grade of custom. Fine groceries are made a speciality at the GLASS FRONT. A New Years greeting to all his old customers, and a cordial invitation to the public generally.

—The defeated pigeon shooter (Engle) of Baltimore, is not yet satisfied and has challenged his rival for another match for $200; thirty birds, twenty-one yards' rise.—Sheppard replies by agreeing to match him for $100; the match to come off any time after the 14th of January, at Millington. We understand that Englo agrees, and that the necessary preliminaries are arranged. Englo will furnish his own birds this time, and of course, will have only strong, old-tough fellows. B.

—Robert Chandler, a lad about 17 years of age, residing at Zion, was severely injured on Christmas day, by being struck by a piece of log. He, with other boys, were amusing themselves, and celebrating the day by having a small explosion. They placed a charge of powder in the log, and Chandler touched it off, failing to get out of the way before the powder exploded, he was struck by a piece of the log, which knocked him down, broke an arm and otherwise injuring him. Drs. Turner and Elderdice dressed the wounds.

—There will be an all-days meeting held at Providence colored M. P. Church, Elkton, on Sunday 4th inst., to commence at 7½ A. M., with general class. Preaching at 10 o'clock A. M., also and at 2½ and 7 o'clock P. M. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the 7 o'clock sermon. Our Fair is still going on: and will not close before Monday night 5th. There has been a great revival at Cedar Hill the last week. The Lord is working among his people.
REV. E. W. SCOTT, Pastor.

—We clip the following items from the Oxford Press.

IMPROVED STOCK.—Franklin Darlington, of East Nottingham township, recently purchased five head of three year old heifers of the celebrated Duchess strain of blood, from New York State. They will be in profit next spring.

CHROME.—The chrome mine of J. Smith Hilaman, in West Nottingham township, on further development, proves to be quite rich in chrome. A very large vein of the ore was struck last week and the prospect of obtaining a large quantity appears bright. Several tons have already been taken out. Its value at the mines is $25 per ton.

THE CAR COMPANY.—The Oxford Co-operative Car Company having become somewhat embarrassed in financial affairs, a meeting of the creditors, directors and citizens who have insured the bonds was held at the office of S. D. Ramsey, Esq., in West Chester, on Saturday. A proposition for settlement was made by the company to the creditors but it was not accepted. It is hoped a satisfactory arrangement will be arrived at this week.

SAD DEATH.—A little son of Thomas Somall, of East Marlborough township, aged about ten years, was choked to death by a glass marble, on the 17th inst. He had put one into his mouth when it slipped into his windpipe. There being no one except an older brother and himself at home when the accident happened, they started for a neighbor's but the child fell to the ground. A neighbor came along, who immediately summoned a physician, but the unfortunate child died before he arrived.

The Supper.—The ladies of the Presbyterian Church, who are ever willing to lend their aid for a good cause, gave an excellent supper, at the Odd Fellows' Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. They displayed good taste in arranging their tables, and we have yet to hear of a single person who left without praising their sumptuous repast. Many gentlemen were noticed wearing beautiful "button hole boquets," which were certainly a rarity considering the season—camelias and goranium leaves being a specialty, and all of them presented by Miss McIntire, from the conservatory of the Hon. J. A. J. Creswell. The Misses McCullough, Gilpin, Hollingsworth, and many others, were so zealous in the success of their enterprise that on the second evening the abundant store provided for that occasion gave out, and many were unable to enjoy a first-class supper. We must also mention Mrs. Booth, who as usual, was on hand and without whom no "Presbyterian Fair" could be a success. She, with her co-adjutors, all willing and helping, must certainly with glad hearts have listened to the deep sweet tones of their old bell hailing a new year, knowing at the same time that they had contributed to build the beautiful edifice from which hereafter shall be heard its solemn calls to "reverence the Sabbath day and keep it holy." B.

THE FARMERS MUTUAL OF YORK, PA., is acknowledged to be one of the safest Mutual Fire Insurance Companies in operation. Its Agents do a large business in this county. Risks on farm property taken at low rates.
E. E. EWING,
Agent at Elkton.

Bequest.—The late Johns Hopkins, the Baltimore millionaire, seems to have been careful to omit no one of his relations in his will, but kindly remembered all. To the children of Ezekiel Hopkins, a cousin of the deceased, he willed five thousand dollars. Ezekiel was a citizen of Cecil county, and his three children reside in Elkton. Robert Hopkins, of the butchery firm of Keys & Hopkins, who occupy Mr. Joseph Wells' butchering property, and Mrs. Keys, wife of his brother's partner, and an unmarried sister. Among these three the bequest of $5,000 will be divided. May some more of our Elktonians, who are blessed with rich relatives, be alike fortunate, when in the fulness of time, their wealthy relations are gathered to their fathers.

Fair and Festival.—The Fair and Festival held under the auspices of the Church of the Immaculate Conception has proved a great success. It was opened on Tuesday evening of last week and continued during the week. Being encouraged by so many visitors of every denomination, all of whom liberally contributed to make it a complete success, the managers concluded to continue it through the ensuing week, but learning that the ladies of the Presbyterian Church contemplated giving a supper, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, they generously closed their doors until Wednesday (New Years eve). The fair sex who so willing gave their aid, deserved mention, not only for their taste in arranging their beautiful articles but also for the zeal they showed in selling them. Rev. Mr. Dallard, the pastor of the Church, has succeeding in largely increasing his congregation since he has been here; and has, by repairs, so improved the Church that it can scarcely be recognized as the old eye-sore of two years ago. We could not learn the result of the drawings, raffles, &c., but understand that the whole receipts amount to a sum greatly in excess of their most sanguine expectations. B.

Report of the School Commissioners.—The Board met on Tuesday 16th; present all the members.

Mr. R. L. Thomas made a statement to the Board to the effect that there was a misunderstanding in regard to his interest in the school house and lot sold by the Board in North East; and after hearing the statements of Mr. Thomas on the one hand, and Messrs. Commissioner S. J. England and the Secretary of the Board on the other, the Board resolved to allow Mr. Thomas a proportional increase of value in the sale of house and lot together of two-fifths, amounting to $12.67, the whole amounting to $46.84.

The bill of Mr. R. L. Thomas for insurance on the school house in North East for seventeen years was referred to the committee on accounts, and on their recommendation was ordered to be paid; amount of bill, $13.77.

A request was received from a number of the teachers of the county, asking that they be permitted to omit school duties on the day succeeding New Years day, and make up the day at the end of the quarter. On motion the Board acceded to the request provided the vacant day shall not be made up on any Saturday.

Resolved, That one dozen of Mitchell's physical Geographies be used in the school of Port Deposit.

Mr. John Sentman, trustee of school No. 4, in the Fourth Election District, having resigned, Mr. Clinton G. Sentman was appointed in his place.

The Board took a recess until half-past one o'clock P. M.

After recess the Board resumed business, and on motion the trustees of school No. 8, in the Second District, were authorized to build a coal house, the cost not to exceed $12.

The quarterly accounts of the Commissioners were paid in accordance with the order of the Board at the last meeting.

Mr. J. W. Falls, presented a request asking the Board to make the school at North East a graded school, and he was heard in behalf of this measure. On motion the subject was postponed for the present.

Resolved, That the efficiency of the public schools in this county would be much increased if the teachers of the various schools were elected by the School Board, instead of being appointed by the Trustees of said school and we respectfully request the members of the next Legislature of this State, for Cecil county, to favor an amendment of the present School law making the change; and a copy of this resolution be sent to the Delegates and Senator of this county.

The bill of Commissioner S. J. England, for per diem and mileage of $100, was presented and ordered to be paid. The bill of Commissioner, F. S. Everist, of $100, for per diem and mileage, was presented and ordered to be paid.

Commissioner George Biddle's bill, for per diem and mileage of $100, and bill of Incidentals of $25.44 were presented and ordered to be paid.

The bill of Mr. F. S. Everist, for Incidentals, amounting to $49.08 was presented and ordered to be paid.

Resolved, That hereafter no increase in Teachers' salaries will be allowed when they receive pupils into their schools from other school districts without the written consent of the Trustees of the respective schools.

On motion adjourned.

OUR COLUMN.

Your issue of the 20th ult. was well filled: last week's Whig I failed to get. Think you we need go to Chicago for the Parents? "I'll not send my dear Willie to be punished and corrected while others are let slip." "What did you turn our Johnny back for? he is very much offended." "We want our children put through; Miss P. had Jimmy away over to per centage, and you have put him back to long division, and Jesse Jones says Jimmy ciphered clean through division last term, for he help do every sum in it." "Our Tom lent his knife to Annie Brown, and she don't know where it is, and we want you to find it or buy him a new one." "Our Teacher is good for nothing, because we never see the children learning a lesson at home."

Report of Elkton Public School.

The following are the names of the pupils who have attended Elkton Public School for the month of December, without missing a day. The names of those in the C Division are necessarily left till next week;

"A" DIVISION.—Geo. A. McFarland, David R. Wright, Jos. T. Lort, Thos. B. Wright, Harry D. Henry, Robert Strickland, John Cantwell, Louie McFarland, Nellie D. Bratton, Emma McFarland, Ella L. Rogsell, Mary A. Wright.

"B" DIVISION.—Lizzie Campbell, Julia McKinsey, Lily Gray, Lidie Bratton, Carrie McFarland, George Reese, Andrew Biles, Thomas Lort, George Smith, Chas. Wells.

☞We publish this week from the American Sportsman the first paper on the Ducks of the Chesapeake Bay and Tributaries, written by Mr. O. D. Foulks, of Town Point. Mr. Foulks is an amateur ornithologist, having given much study to the feathered tribes of the United States. Living in the heart of the favorite feeding grounds of the duck's, admirable opportunities have been afforded him for a thorough study of these birds, and a series of articles on the ducks has been promised the Sportsman by Mr. Foulks, which cannot fail to be a most interesting and useful contribution to the ornithology of the wild fowl of the Chesapeake Bay.

Disease Among Horses—Snow—Fox Hunt.

After the fourth horse on Charles A. Murphy's farm, died last week with throat disease, others that were similarly afflicted were saved by swabbing the throat.

Snow fell on Saturday night last to the depth of two inches.

One of the two foxes let out at Fair Hill, on Christmas day, was overtaken and killed by the dogs in a few hours. The other fox was holed on a farm near Cowantown. The huntsmen prepared to dig out reynard when the owner of the farm ordered them off. They dug on, however, and he went away. Soon a lady made her appearance on the ground and ordered some 15 or 20 men off the premises, declaring that the fox was her's, and it should be killed, two more turkeys having had their throats cut the night before. The diggers persisted in their work and she finding persuasion and threats alike unavailing, sprang squarely into the pit, though waist deep, and with clinched hands declared whoever took that fox out of that hole would have to take it out over her dead body! An altercation hereupon ensued in which some big and heavy words were uttered with emphasis. The heroine remaining in the hole, Jeff. offered her $10, to let them have the fox, and George offered $5 more, cash, but no. As each one looked upon her, in her situation, with sympathy, as the reader can imagine, she gave each one in turn his history, and told him where he had better go, and what he had better do,—advised George to go home to his old mother, cut her some wood, keep away from the "Dew drop," &c. George said his mother had plenty of wood, and every comfort, and a roast turkey for dinner, and tried hard to persuade her to come out of the hole, and go and eat dinner with his mother, but no. When she told Joe he had better be looking for a wife as he would soon be getting up in years, and was barely passable now, he said he would not like to invest in one like her; thought he would stand an old bach. a little longer, yet he most respectfully solicited her to come out. By the time that Bob., Mad., Harry, Sam., Dan. and Ben., and as many more had thus been limned, not excepting the Do-drop-in, (Dew Drop Inn) the sun was nearly set, the hunters finding victory beyond their grasp, threw up the sponge, and left the lady and the fox both in the hole. Soon after she and some of her boys dug out the fox and took it home and put it in the cellar. That night her cellar door was bored through, the bolt removed, footprints left on the floor, barrels left uncovered, and evidence left of a fruitless search, for reynard had been removed to an upper story of the house, the last thing our heroine did before retiring.

Christmas—Steamboats Stopped—The River—Sabbath School Exhibition—Show—Improvements at Rowlandsville.

Christmas passed off rather quietly.—Early in the morning the town was enlivened by music from the Union Cornet Band, (colored). They appeared to enjoy their Christmas in a lively manner. The boys played an accompaniment upon the fire-crackers. Others celebrated the advent of Christmas by indulging heartily in eggnog, or its equivalent, and before night they were not steady, sober citizens.—There was service in the M. E. Church, at 6 A. M.

The steamboat, Juniata, plying from here to Baltimore, made its last trip for the season, on Monday, Dec. 27th. The Lancaster was withdrawn some weeks since.

During Tuesday the river was filled all day with mush-ice, and on the night following it closed. The closing of the river last year was on Nov. 29th, 1872, and the great ice gorge commenced on Jan. 19th, 1873.

The Exhibition of the M. E. Sabbath School, on Christmas night, was a decided success. The children engaged in the exhibition did their parts admirably, and all went away well pleased. The receipts for the exhibition amounted to upwards of $70.

Buckley, Mooris & Co.'s Minstrel Troupe visited our town on last Friday and favored us with choice music during the day, and on Friday and Saturday nights the Hall in the Odd Fellows' Building was densely filled, prepared to enjoy a hearty laugh at the inimitable performances. It is not saying too much to style this troupe, The Troupe of America. They always provoke merriment, and any who wish to drive away the blues, should hear them. Let them come again and we will have fewer invalids among us.

The improvements at Rowlandsville, by the McCullough Iron Co., are quite extensive, and will add much to the business and importance of the place. This company has nearly finished a large addition to their warehouse, and are building a branch railroad from the B & P Central to their mills, thereby enabling them to convey their coal and iron to and from the mills direct, without using any teams, and thus save much labor and expenses.

Steamboat—Lecture—Death—The Holidays.

The C. P. Smith moved out for Baltimore on Wednesday evening last with a full cargo of hay, straw and grain, after having been detained several days at the wharf, on account of the extreme low tide. This perhaps will be the last trip of the season on account of ice.

The lecture on Tuesday night last at the M. E. Church by Rev. Thos. L. Poulson was quite a success. A good attendance, and the lecturer gave satisfaction to his audience.

Mr. John Galbraith, an old and respectable citizen, died at 1 o'clock on Thursday morning last of paralysis, aged 68 years. He has had several strokes, and been in feeble health for several years. He was one of the oldest school teachers in the county.

Christmas and New Years passed off without anything unusual transpiring. A raffle at Gilbert's for a big hog; a shooting match or two; turkey and goose dinners; ice and skating, on New Years, affording the boys and girls considerable amusement as usual.

Pilot Town Items.

River—Christmas—Death.

The river is frozen over; the ice is forming very fast.

Christmas is over and every thing quiet now along the lines. The boys coming home from church threw shooting crackers along the road. Mr. Griffing's horse becoming refractory, he had the juveniles before Esquire Cummings, for assault, &c.; bound over for next term of Court.—Cheap for coats. Next our Hotel: a gentleman stepped in on an old friend's heel rather light; he insulted the gentleman who immediately demolished a chair over the head of landlord and toper. Result—three black eyes and vacant place for chair in Bar room.

Henry Reynolds, Jr., died on Monday night. His leg was amputated three years ago for cancer, which was the cause of his death.

Chesapeake City Items.

A public Temperance meeting was held in the Good Templars' Hall on Tuesday evening last. The meeting was addressed by Rev. Mr. Sheppard of Bethel church.

The friends and members of the Presbyterian church held a Sociable in their church on New Years evening.

A hot Supper was held at the Bethel M. E. Church on the same evening, for the benefit of the church.

The ceiling of the M. E. Church here has been painted white instead of the blue which it formerly was. This will make the church easier lighted.

Two of our young men engaged in (what they called) a prize fight last Tuesday. We hope they may make new resolutions with the New Year that they may not so disgrace young manhood.

Dr. Karsner had an accident occur to his horse while in the stable, several days since. The horse was eaten at the footlock and around about the hoof. It is supposed to be done by rats. The horse is entirely disabled for road service.

The trade through the canal is very small at this time. Very few wooden vessels are seen passing through, though we have had no ice. The tug boats are nearly all layed up for the winter, and Chesapeake is beginning to have its wintry appearance.

Flour $9 per barrel; potatoes 40@75c. per bushel; butter 30c. per lb; eggs 25c. per lb; lard 10@12c. per lb; turkeys 16c. per lb; ducks 12c. per lb; geese 12c. per lb.; chickens 11@12c. per lb.; oysters 75c. per bushel.

Rising Sun Items.

The third lecture for the benefit of the "Ladies Mite Society," was delivered by Rev. Mr. Hughes, on "Peculiar People," on Tuesday night last. The panic tells heavily on lecture audiences, the turn out being much smaller than in former courses. The next lecture being on "Courtship and Marriage," will no doubt bring out a good crowd—including several old bachelors not in the habit of attending.

Mr. Joel Evans and Mrs. Annie E. Reynolds, quietly left our town on the 18th of December, and deliberately committed matrimony, without saying nothing to nobody. The boys only got wind of it on Tuesday night, 30th, when they were complimented with a huge serenade. May their married life run as smooth and quiet as their wedding trip.

The recent cold snap has created quite an excitement among owners of ice houses. Mr. Risle, our enterprising butcher, was the first man to make a start and found the ice some four inches thick and in good condition. All parties are now doing the best to get it in before a thaw.

The holidays passed off as quietly as a Quaker monthly meeting. On Christmas most of the stores were closed and very few people were to be seen about the streets. Not a boy "blowed" himself up, as is usual on such occasions; not a fire cracker to enliven the solemnity that overshadowed us.

Report of Liberty Grove School.

The following is a report of the attendance and recitations of Liberty Grove School, for Fall term, ending November 18th, 1873. The attendance was "par excellence." The following scholars attending every day: James Rowland, Theo. Taylor, William Woodrow, Cassie Rowland, Ella Saunders and Louie Saunders, the majority of the other scholars missing only days too inclement. The recitations were similar to their attendance; general average, 8½. Ten being the highest: Cassie Rowland, Ella Saunders, Rose Graham, Josephine Harland, George Jennes, George Phillips and James Graham, receiving the highest, average 10, (each being entitled to the premium,) consented to draw, which took place before several disinterested persons; Rev. Wm. Shroff supervising the drawing, for a few moments a silence and stillness reigned in the school room, when it was announced that Cassie Rowland had the lucky number. After a few appropriate remarks from the Rev. Mr. Shroff, we adjourned at the usual time; Cassie receiving the congratulations of the school. No reason to complain of not having visitors, the "latch string" is always on the outside. P. L. G. S.

THE END OF THE VIRGINIUS.—Lieut. Commander Haswell, executive officer of the Ossipee, says the Ossipee left the Tortugas with the Virginius in tow on the morning of the 19th instant, as already reported. They had fair weather until the afternoon of Saturday, the following day, when a gale sprung up. They continued to have bad weather, like that encounted by the Juniata, and the Viginius signalled that she was leaking badly. Captain Watters, the commander of the Ossipee, therefore determined to shape his course for Charleston, S. C., but as they got into smooth water the Virginius behaved better, and the water was kept out of her fireroom. On the morning of Christmas day, however, the severe weather having continued, the Virginius was again leaking as bad as ever, and the vessels put into Frying Pan Shoals, about ten miles south of Cape Fear light, where smoother water could be obtained. Here the vessels came to anchor, Captain Watters hoping that the Virginius would ride out the gale.—Before daylight the next morning (Friday) Commander Woodrow signalled with lights that the Viginius was leaking rapidly, with her fires out and pumps stopped, and that the crew wished to be taken off. Boats were lowered from the Ossipee at daylight, and by seven o'clock, A. M., all on board the Virginius were transferred to the former vessel. As a heavy sea was running, the work of removing the crew was one of much danger and difficulty, and therefore no lives were risked in endeavoring to save their personal effects or any other property on the Viginius. The hawser of the Virginius was cut, and a buoy attached to mark her position in case she sank out of sight. The Ossipee remained at anchor during the day, and at quarter past four o'clock, P. M., the Virginius, which had been gradually settling, went to the bottom. She sank in eight fathoms of water, and her topmasts remained above the surface.

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE for January, contains a lavish supply of first rate articles. It is now in its fourteenth volume and every year has increased its popularity and added new friends to its large list of admirers. Though retaining its old name, it has not the slightest connection with its former proprietor, but has for many months been the exclusive property of Mr. S. E. Shütes, its present publisher. H. V. Osborne (Tenoroon) still continues as its editor and is the only person employed in that capacity—giving to the magazine not a careless supervision, but direct personal attention in every department. The magazine is improving constantly, and is splendidly adapted to the members of the household. The present number contains three engravings and other good things in proportion.

Have We Any Law In Elkton.

MR. EDITOR:—May I beg a space in your columns? I wish to ask through the medium of your paper, whether we have any town authorities, and what are their duties? I wish also to make a plain statement, which is this:

On Christmas eve night, from eleven o'clock till eight o'clock in the morning, the section of the town around the Court House, Howard House, and all that immediate neighborhood, was a perfect pandemonium. Yells, shouts, and imprecations, accompanied a constant cannonading; large guns were fired under, and almost into, the windows of the houses in quick succession, whilst countless numbers of "shooting crackers," of heavy calibre, made sharp and loud reports without intermission: the flashes from all this artillery lighted up the chambers of the residents of this most-imposed-upon locality. The sick and feeble were the greatest sufferers; mothers of young children were distracted, and the children themselves terrified. Are the lovers of peace and quiet, the law-abiding people of Elkton, to have this thing repeated without publicly protesting against it, and against the neglect of duty in those whose duty it is to suppress or prevent these disturbances?

It is no excuse that this terrific noise, and shattering of window glass and nerves occurred on Christmas eve: that anniversary should, and ought to be ushered in with joyous merriment, but this should never be allowed to degenerate into unbounded individual license so unrestrained, as to be an annoyance, a pest; nay, even more, an outrage of such a nature as to require all the patience and forbearance of a much enduring and long-suffering neighborhood. Nor is this a solitary instance of such lawless conduct. If we have any town authorities, it is their part to be about in their official capacity, at such times as the public peace is threatened, or likely to be; on occasions of noisy disturbances in certain sections, and to ensure the comfort of citizens as well by night, as by day. I have heard from strangers, that persons passing through our town on business, or stopping over night at the best hotel, have been startled and kept awake, by the noisy and profane ravings of a drunken man, wandering about the streets the whole night, without any effort whatever made to arrest him, or place him in even temporary durance.

I believe no town in the United States, outside of the mining districts, is so disorderly at night as this; none where there is less effort to suppress the disorderly spirit and element. The participators and actors in such pleasant recreations, may think that the quiet, peaceable, tax-paying citizens are defenceless, but even if they call down upon themselves, only the power of the pen and the press, they will find it a mighty engine, and agitation accomplishes a great work in the end. It will also cause these inquiries—have we any town authorities? have they any power to act in such matters? If so, why do they not? X.

For The Cecil Whig.

NORTH EAST, Dec. 29th, 1873.

MR. EDITOR—Dear Sir:—We notice in the report, given through The Whig of 13th of December, of the Court proceedings, that the Grand Jury had rendered 17 true bills; now what we wish to say is, that we are creditably informed that 16 out of the 17 are, either direct or indirect ly, the legitimate offspring of rum, and quite a number we are informed are for selling intoxicating beverages to minors, we would here ask the question, does the Court grant the liceace for the sale of strong drink for the benefit of the traveling communi.y, or to demoralize the youth for a mile or so surrounding the grog shops? The reason why we ask this question is that on Christmas eve quite a number of the youth of this place were assembled at a place called Jacob's Station, (a grog shop of course) and several of the minors were quite drunk, some of whom were in a fighting mood, and the vulgar profanity was outrageous and a disgrace to any civilized community. We are not positive as to who bought the liquor, but have no doubt if a few of them were summoned to Court the fact might be revealed. We understand the conduct about the "station" on Christmas day was not of the most encouraging character. We also learn that one of the Stuarts of the fraternity administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper to the audience with doe-nuts &c. in the name of the mistress of the house. As so much has been said heretofore about those sinks of ruin we defer saying more at present, but if necessary, in the future will give names with the disgraceful conduct.

In view of the foregoing facts, it must be conceded that licensed liquor is just as disastrous now as it was when King Ahasuerus and his royal guests had a disgraceful, drunken time at a banquet, though, as we are told, "the drinking was according to the law." Solomon says, "It is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink, lest they drink and forget the law."

[Every officer of the law and preacher of the gospel have authority by law to arrest any drunk person found at large in the street. We suggest that the laws that we have against drunkenness be enforced on all occasions at North East and elsewhere, too, by the sober citizens who are charged with that duty].—Ed.
