The Cecil Whig

ELKTON, MARCH 7 1874.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—Farmers will take notice that J. Tome & Co., Port Deposit, advertise the celebrated Lister Bones.

—Mr. E. M. Jinks, special agent for the pension office was in town on Monday last, looking up some cases on the special list.

—A fine snow storm set in yesterday morning, giving our boasted Spring weather a wintry aspect.

—The Mutual Building Association of Elkton, sold $3,000 on Saturday night last, at $1.50 premium. Mrs. Sarah Ella Clark, purchaser.

—W. P. Shade has captured in Skunk Hollow, near Rising Sun, the present season, 125 rabbits, 71 muskrats, 58 polecats, 7 opossums, 4 minks and 2 coons.

—Muddy roads are the standing subject of complaint by the wayfaring, but the bright sunshine and warm winds of March promise to speedily remove that difficulty.

—The steamer "C. P. Smith," Captain Brown, which plied between Baltimore and Elk Landing last season, will resume her trips on Monday next between Baltimore and North East.

—The lecture of Rev. T. L. Poulson on "Queer People," delivered at Cherry Hill, on Wednesday evening last was well patronized for the season, and the lecture highly entertaining.

—Cars fired into.—The evening train which arrives at Elkton at 6 o'clock was fired into at Havre de Grace by some unknown villain. The ball passed close to two of the passengers in one of the cars.

—A Prolific Heifer.—Mr. Roger H. Kirk has a Durham heifer 3 years old next May, which has given birth to three calves. Her first calf was in the Spring of 1873. At present she has a pair of heifer calves by her side.

—James H. Morgan, an employee of the P., W. & B. R. R. Co., about the Elkton depot, had one of his hands badly crushed while coupling a train of cars one day last week. The previous week Roger Feeley lost a finger by the same means.

—The first herring of the season were caught by Captain W. Drew in the Elk river this week. Very fine pike, sunfish, yellow neds and mullets were quite plenty this week. McNeight appears to have the fish market to himself.

—The vane has been placed in position on the spire of the new Presbyterian Church of this town, and points immovably to the southwest. It is an indicator of perpetual fair weather. The slaters will finish roofing the tower the first calm day.

—The Sabbath School of Zion M. E. Church will hold an Exhibition and Concert, on Wednesday evening next, the 11th inst., for the benefit of their library. It is promised that the programme will be somewhat different from that of the 19th ultimo.

—An important notice is published by the Register of Wills to Guardians, Executors and Administrators; which will be apt to create a flurry among those officials. The County Commissioners have been raking up some laws for taxing property which appear to have fallen into disuse.

—Mr. A. S. Mason, who has been a citizen of our town for sixteen years past, and since the war has carried on the boot and shoe business on Main street, left for Wilmington, on Thursday evening last. Mr. Joshua M. Ash takes his place in the shoe business.

—Our enterprising sewing machine man, Mr. J. Wilkinson, has placed a new sign over his door, blue and gold, painted by Mr. G. Wells. The execution does infinite credit to the artistic skill and taste of the painter.

—Long train of cars passed through Elkton on Saturday, which were loaded with tea and silk-worm's eggs from San Francisco. The cars were all of uniform size with ventilators, and pronounced by the agent, Mr. Wells, the handsomest train of cars that ever passed over the P., W. & B. R. R.

—Two of the pupils of the Night School gave a fine exhibition of their proficiency in the "manly art of self-defence," in the Hollow, on Thursday last, to admiring lookers-on. After becoming tired of using their fists, they flourished knives, but did not use them. As usual, when needed, no officer was about. A citizen finally parted the belligerents.

—We have been kindly furnished with the weather report for February by a friend, which our readers, who have a taste for meteorology, will find an interesting study. A marked difference in temperature appears between the 22d and 23d, when the thermometer rose to 70°, and the 25th and 26th, when the mercury fell to 20°, with 5 inches of snow on the ground.

—It gives us pleasure to publish the arrival in town of Miss Brooke, of Fredericksburgh, Va., who proposes giving lessons in vocal music and on the piano.—Miss Brooke's recommendations are high, and we hope that those who desire to avail themselves of the services of a thoroughly qualified teacher, will give her a fair trial. She may be communicated with at the Howard House.

—Spring is rapidly advancing. The warm genial days of the present week opened the maple buds and called out the bees, whose hum among the branches, and the warble of the blue birds lent a new life to dreary days of departing Winter. The farmers speak hopefully of the wheat which has not been checked or injured by the frosts of Winter. In the fields the grass is growing green and the buds of the peach trees are pressing and expanding and in a few days bid fair to start into bloom.

—We saw two barrels of oysters on Thursday last, marked H. H. Bennett, being of an inquisitive turn of mind we invested 30 cents for one dozen, and found them simply delicious, and we pronounce them the best that have appeared in the Elkton market for some years. Four of them opened successively measured from four to six inches inclusive, and were plump and fat accordingly.—B. [We have eaten a half dozen of them, kindly presented as a specimen, and advise all lovers of the bivalves to try them, and find that our reporter is correct.—Ed.]

—Mr. Wm. Falls, the popular proprietor of the Howard House, has returned from a trip to Annapolis. He gives a glowing account of the inauguration ceremonies, and speaks with great pride of the dignified and graceful deportment of our own Cecil Governor. He was also delighted with the beautiful grounds and buildings at the Naval Academy. We have not learned whether or no he would be willing to exchange his own popular house with the Maryland Hotel, but he says that his son "Bob" has a good scholastic record at St. John's College, and that he likes the capital if possible better than Elkton.

B.

If you want Sewing Machines Cheap go to J. Wilkinson, Whig Building, Elkton. You can get Silks, Cotton, and Threads of all kinds, and any thing connected with the business at city prices.

Ten Nights in a Bar-room.—Bills have been out for several days announcing the performance of our juvenile comedy troupe, which will come off in the Hall, on Tuesday evening next. The young artists have been rehearsing and preparing for several weeks, and will give a very creditable representation of the above piece. We hope the dramatis personæ will be careful to avoid a too literal representation of the play in the thirteen bar-rooms which accommodate Elkton, and turn out graduates for this great drama on the world's stage.

Sudden Death.—Hasson Lynch died very suddenly on Tuesday night last. He was apparently in his usual health when he retired to bed. His wife was alarmed in the night by some manifestations of illness on the part of her husband, and turning up the light, discovered that something serious was the matter, when she immediately called the family, but when they reached the room the man was dead. Mr. Lynch was well known by many of our citizens. He was in Elkton the day previous to his death in his usual health. Cause of death unknown.

Port Deposit & Columbia Railroad.—Work continues to progress on the Port Deposit & Columbia Railroad. The heaviest part of the work is done except a portion between Fite's Eddy and McCall's Ferry. Messrs. Keaveny & Buck have contracted to complete a portion of the road in that vicinity and have commenced work in earnest. The diligence and good management exhibited by these gentlemen on the contract they finished last Summer, ensures the seasonable completion of their new enterprise. It is the intention of the company to lay the track as far as Peach Bottom this Spring. The farmers near that part of the line will be rejoiced when such an event does come to pass; and we shall all be glad when the cars run directly from Columbia to Port Deposit.

Important to Those who Draw Notes.—A man drew a note promising to pay one hundred dollars. He used the printed form, and did not close up the blank devoted to dollars, and after passing it as negotiable paper somebody inserted "and fifty" after the one hundred and before the printed word dollars. The note thus altered, got into the hand of an innocent party, who presented it to the drawer, and the Supreme Court decided that the maker of the note was liable for its face, because through negligence he did not draw a line between the written word "hundred" and the printed word "dollars." Any testimony that the drawer might offer to establish the fact that he gave the note for one hundred dollars must go for nothing, as "there was nothing on the face of the note to show that it had been altered." Evidence of an alteration on the face of the note would have changed the case.

Death in Jail.—A colored infant whose mother was confined in jail for larceny, died in jail on Sunday morning last. The Coroner was promptly on hand with twelve men and a physician to see whether foul play had anything to do with the death of the child. The physician had attended the child through its lingering illness. The Coroner, we suppose, is compelled to go through all this farcical work in complying with the requirements of law in the fulfillment of his official duty. The bill of costs to the County for holding a Coroner's inquest is as follows:

Coroner,	$5.00
12 Jurors, at 50 cts. each,	6.00
Serving 12 summons, 12½ cts. each	1.50
Examining physician's fee, $5 to mostly the latter fee.	10.00
Total,	$22.50

for each inquest, paid by the County. If the holding of inquests is required by law in cases like the above, when the cause of death is so self evident, made obligatory on the Coroner, and we presume it is, or the County Commissioners would not pass the bill, it strikes us that the Legislature might do a little useful work for their constituents by a little judicious alteration of so foolish a law. The Coroners with the same propriety might hold inquests over the bodies of all persons who die in the State.

Drowned.—Bill Badger, a one-armed colored man, of dissipated habits, was found drowned in Dr. Mitchell's mill race, at the east end of Main street, on Saturday evening last about 9 o'clock. Badger had made his customary daily visit to town, from Red Hill, and after loading up with whisky started for home some time in the afternoon. When discovered by two of his comrades the top of his head was protruding above the water, frozen stiff and standing erect on the bottom. He was taken out, and two bottles of whisky were found in his pockets. He appears to have left the road, and going through a gate laid down on the bank of the race, and being so intoxicated had rolled into the water. Mr. John E. Wilson whose residence is close to the scene was summoned and assisted by the men the body of the drowned man was taken from the water and the Coroner summoned, who, attended by Dr. Tuft visited the scene and the body was deposited in Mr. Flinn's stable close by. The next morning (Sunday) the ceremony of holding an inquest was gone through and the remains were left in the stable till Monday. The verdict however was accidental drowning. Drowned when helplessly drunk, would have been a more appropriate rendering, and had the advantage of being a new version for an old occurrence. Badger was a soldier in the late war and lost an arm in front of Petersburg.

Pigeon Match—2nd District vs. 3rd District.—A large number of the sporting fraternity with many others as lookers on, assembled on Wednesday afternoon to witness a pigeon match, held in a field adjoining the town. The contesting parties were Messrs. Polk Steele, Edw. Biddle and Henry Bidle, who came up to try their skill against Messrs. C. W. Maxwell, A. P. Shockley and Harrison Bennett; each party had the privilege of pointing his shooting iron at ten birds. The strangers won the toss and Mr. Maxwell was the first to discharge his piece and open the ball. At first the Elktonians scored greatly ahead, at one time leading by five birds, but their opponents improved, and toward the last did some very creditable shooting, especially Mr. Steele, who killed five straight birds; he and Mr. Bennett both lost a bird by falling dead a few feet out of bounds. Messrs. Maxwell and Edw. Biddle also did well, killing seven out of ten; but to Mr. Shockley, belongs the credit of doing the best shooting, and had he let well enough alone, instead of challenging Steele, for a second match, he would certainly have saved a defeat and a woful one too, as all the birds in the last match were young and scarcely able to fly.

Should there be another match, the managers should try to have their dogs tied up at home, and also to enforce better order among the outsiders, as the rope they put up was of no use whatever; and when the trap was sprung, should a bird refuse to fly, while the umpire would by his watch be ascertaining the requisite 60 seconds to call "no bird," many would indulge in making noises and clapping their hands, and even one of the trappers who should have known better, waved his hat to frighten a bird. The following is a score of the shooting:

Maxwell,	1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 0—7
Bennett,	1 0 0 1 0 1 1 0 1 1—6
Shockley,	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0—8
E. Biddle,	0 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1—7
H. Biddle,	1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 0—6
Steele,	0 0 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1—6

Lumber Trade—Grain Shipment—Ducking Improvement—Gone to Conference—Public School Examination—Weather.

Lumber trade has opened once more, some has already been shipped while other vessels are loading at the wharf. The firm of Davis & Way having dissolved, W. W. Davis is now connected with the firm of Davis & Pugh, and W. T. Way with J. H. Roland & Co.

Quite a number of the farmers have been engaged for the past week hauling in hay and grain, notwithstanding the dry weather and short crops, they sell.

Some of our citizens are engaged in ducking. Ducks are more plenty this Spring than they were last Fall, and owing to the mild weather they have fed well.

Mr. Geo. Vannort intends building a store house opposite the railroad depot, between J. H. Shannon's and J. N. McCullough's. We have no doubt Mr. Vannort will find a good foundation there. West & Vannort are the contractors.

Rev. T. E. Martindale left Port Deposit on Monday last. He preached his farewell sermon on Sunday night; the church was full, and all regret that his stay was not longer among us. The sermon was very interesting and instructive. Text, Acts 20:32. And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.

The examinations of the Public School were held on the 26th and 27th ult. There was not a general attendance of patrons, but those who were present expressed themselves as being much pleased with the proficiency displayed by the pupils. The examination comprised a review of the course of studies during the term, and the readiness of the pupils in answering the questions propounded spoke well for the faithfulness and assiduity of the teachers in the discharge of their, too often, thankless duties. Masters Fredie Smith and Michael Murphy each received prizes from their teachers for merit and proficiency in their studies.

Is it too early to boast of Winter having passed away? Some of our weather-wise knowing ones assure us that we must yet have a baker's dozen of snows. Would it not be well for the clerk of the weather to postpone some of them until July, to make up for the scarcity of ice? Our business men are busy preparing for the Spring trade. Indications of activity are seen all around. The various quarries are actively engaged, and furnish steady employment for many of our citizens.

North East Items.

Building Association—A New Telegraph Office—Ducks and Fish—Death—Change of Firm—Business Brisk—Gone to Conference—Mud.

The Building and Loan Association sold two thousand dollars, on Wednesday, the 25th ult., at 1¼ premium. Annual meeting and election of officers on the 4th Wednesday in March inst.

A new telegraph office is being established down town by the automatic line, as a test office.

Ducks and Fish in considerable quantities in the market, from the North East river; a few herring have been caught.

On Wednesday last, Mr. Sanks, late of Harford county, died of typhoid fever after a lingering illness. A clever man and good citizen.

The grist mill heretofore conducted by Woollens & Co., will now be run by John Woollens. The former party, including Wm. D. Alexander, ex-agent at the depot, will remove to Oxford, Pa., where they have a steam grist mill in operation.

Business is very brisk at Davis, Pugh & Co.'s ware house; they are receiving large quantities of hay and grain for the Spring trade. We expect a heavy trade there, as they have secured the services of Darius from the "Hills," who has thrown up the sponge in the whisky traffic for a more respetable calling.

Gone to Conference—our preacher; and great anxiety is felt who will be the coming man.

Mud, mud—in great quantities and depth—hope the new road law may pass, if it will improve the roads.

—We are in debt to the Havre Republican for the following items:

Business at our ship yard promises to be good this year. Mr. Magowan informs us that he now has twelve carpenters steadily employed, and expects soon to increase this force considerably.

The near approach of the Shad and Herring season is causing great activity among our fishermen. They are busy caulking and painting up their boats, and overhauling and renewing seins, &c.

A meeting was held at Havre de Grace, on Wednesday last, to adopt measures in regard to a steam ferry across the Susquehanna between that town and Perryville. A committee was appointed to confer with President Hinckley of the P., W. & B. Railroad.

The great Temperance excitement has, in a mild form, reached Havre de Grace. On last Monday the proprietors of the Harford House and Nixon's Hotel were notified that a prayer movement would be inaugurated for the suppression of the rum traffic in this town, but, as yet, no active or open demonstrations have been made.

About 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the back building of the dwelling of Mr. C. P. Field was discovered to be on fire. A force of men with buckets and water were soon on hand and after a pretty hard contest, for the mastery with the flames, subdued them. The fire succeeded in reaching the main building but was not allowed to make much headway therein. The damage done to the building and furniture will amount to about $200. No insurance.

SCHOOL EXHIBITIONS.

Fourth District, Mar. 3d, 1874.

Dear Whig:—The schools in the eastern end of this District closed with great demonstrations in the way of examinations and exhibitions.

On Thursday night of last week, Mr. H. H. Kimble had his at the Jackson. The scholars acquitted themselves well, greatly to the delight of the spectators and to the credit of their teacher. There were at least four hundred persons present, and all were much pleased.

On Friday, Miss Rachel Harland had an all-day's examination of her school at the Big Elk School, which I learn was very satisfactory to those interested, and sustained fully the high reputation of the teacher.

On Friday night, John H. Kimble, at the Fair Hill school, held an examination of his school in the presence of an immense crowd; everything passed off satisfactory.

Then on Saturday night, Mr. S. T. Kimble, who taught the school at the Centre, had a very successful examination of his school.

Finally on Monday night, Miss Bella Waid trotted out her school No. 2, but she was so cramped for room that only those who were in the house could hear or see; while eager crowds thronged the windows and doors, few of whom could catch a word. A number left, in despair of hearing or seeing anything, and scores remained, who could not get near either windows or door. Such a miserable coop is not fit for a school house. The most remarkable feature was the following address of the teacher:

[We omit the opening paragraphs of the address, as however true, the reflections on superiors it contains, would be in bad taste to put in print. The balance of the address is very creditable indeed.—Ed.]:

Kind Patrons:—This is the end of my second term in this place, and yet it is the first time I have had the pleasure of seeing some of you in the school room. We make you welcome; and I hope you will be satisfied from what you see and hear, that we have not been spending our time in vain.

The opinion is too generally entertained by parents, that if they send their children to school that they have done their whole duty respecting their education. This is a great mistake. It is your duty to see for yourselves, what progress they are making, to assist and encourage them at home in their studies, and by every proper motive to incite them to diligence. How many of you can say that you have done all in this direction, that you might have done?

Parents who feel no interest in the education of their offspring are unworthy of the name of man, and yet I am obliged to believe that there are those who regard them only as a convenience—something to be kept for their services, or profits arising from their physical labors; while altogether too many waste on sensual indulgence—on rum and tobacco, the earnings of their children at the age when they ought to be attending school to fit themselves for their proper position in society.

Many thus rob their children of an education on the miserable plea that they cannot afford the expense of sending them to school, while they are wasting on their vices more than would suffice to school their children. Shame on such men! the very brutes are their superiors. No wonder there are in Maryland 135,499 persons, over the age of ten years, who cannot read or write. I feel the blush of shame on my face at the ignorance of my native State.

In answer to the complaint that our school system is too costly, let me say that it is shamefully too low, which is manifested in the ignorance and poverty of the people compared with other parts of our country. Take for example Massachusetts, where public schools have reached their highest state of perfection, and compare her with Maryland. In Massachusetts the cost of schools is $20.66 a head for the school-going population. In Maryland it is only $4.75 per head. Now, mark the difference in the condition of the two States: Maryland is the larger State, and has great advantages in soil, climate, and mineral resources and yet with all her advantages Maryland has only one half the population of Massachusetts and about the same proportion of property per head.—The assessed value of property in Maryland is but $542.76 per head of the entire population, while in Massachusetts it is $972.39 per head, Maryland has 135.496 persons who cannot read or write; that is 17 to every 100 of the people, while Massachusetts has 97,742, or only six per 100, unable to read or write.

These are humiliating facts. Let us ponder them and for shame, never complain of the cost of your schools, which is only one-fifth that of Massachusetts, while your illiterate population is three times as great, and your thrift and wealth is only about one-half as great. Is there in this District a father who has not been doing his duty to his children, let these startling facts rouse him to a proper sense of duty, and raising to the full stature of a man let him resolve to do his whole duty to his neglected children, by giving them that intellectual and moral culture, due from a rational being to his offspring.

A word now to the scholars and I am through. My dear pupils a short time ago we were strangers; now, I think we may claim to be friends. I know I have none but the kindest feelings towards you, and judging from your behavior to me, I can hardly misinterpret your feelings to me. I commend you for your attention to your lessons, my dear children, and for your general good conduct, crowded as we have been for room and hurried for time, you have done as well as could reasonably have been expected. If in the confusion or excitement, consequent on these unfavorable circumstances, I have wronged or offended any of you I hope you will pardon me, for I assure you of the innocence of my intention, and I make every allowance for you. Let us part friends, and if we never meet again, let us so live that we may meet in heaven, never more to part.
