ELKTON, APRIL 4, 1874.

Local Affairs.

—Good Friday has been made a legal holiday by our present legislature.

—The Westamwell Sabbath School will be re-opened on to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon.

—Peach trees are in full bloom in the southern parts of the State; no injury to the buds reported thus far.

—A little son of Mr. C. W. Wilson, of Rising Sun, fell out of a cart a few days since, was run over and had his arm broken.

—To-morrow is Easter Sunday, the end of the Lental season. A great many eggs will pass into circulation on the occasion.

—Money sold at the Mutual Building Association of Elkton on Saturday night last at $1.50, $1.51 and $1.47 premium per share.

—March, true to its traditions, went out with snow and sleet. No month ever made its entry with softer skies and balmier airs.

—The Public School was not opened on Wednesday last, April 1st, the Principal, Mr. Hanna, being prevented from attending by a sprained ankle.

—Andrew J. Pennington, of Sassafras Neck, has been appointed Quartermaster General on the Governor's staff. Mr. P. is the only member from Cecil.

—A black kid glove was left at the M. E. Church on Sunday afternoon. The lady can have it by calling at the Post Office.

—W. H. Wright has sold out his butchering and vegetable establishment at Mr. McAteer's, on North street, to his brother. T. Wright, and George Maxwell and proposes to shift his quarters to Little Elk.

—The firm of Drennen & Bro. has been dissolved, and Mr. J. K. Drennen becomes sole proprietor of the business, and will open out a new stock of Spring goods for his customers, next week.

—The firm of Rittenhouse & Heston, at Rising Sun, has been dissolved, and the Mammoth Store will be conducted in future by F. W. Rittenhouse. The Mammoth advertisement was received too late for insertion this week.

—Davis, Pugh & Co. propose to do an extensive warehouse business at North East and have made preparations for a large Spring trade. We invite the attention of farmers to their special advertisement in The Whig headed "Fertilizers."

—The firm of Davis & Miller, who have been engaged in the lumber business in Elkton, for some time, publishes this week, Notice of Dissolution. Col. Davis will conduct the business in future. Mr. Miller retiring on account of bad health.

—The Amateur Dramatic Company, which gained so much eclat in their first effort in "Ten Nights in a Barroom," had intended to repeat the performance next week, but that purpose has been postponed and the company will perhaps exhibit about the first of May.

—Mrs. Ascherfeld's farewell Concert on Tuesday evening will be a musical entertainment most enjoyable. She has taught numbers of pupils in Elkton who regret her determination to leave town. Several of her pupils and other musical talent of Elkton will assist at the Concert.

—Now that the mild days of April have come, everybody who has a bit of ground should plant shrubs and trees. Nothing more delightful to the eye than a rose bush covered with bloom, or refreshing to the olfactory organs than the exquisite perfume of this old queen of the lawn and flower garden.

All-fools' day, the first of April, was celebrated in town by a party who made the bar-room of the Howard House their headquarters. They nailed a penny fast to the pavement, and the delight consisted in watching pedestrians stoop to pick it up—an entertainment infinitely amusing, and a spot well chosen for "smiling."

—The funeral of Capt. L. G. Ford took place on Sunday last. Services were held at the M. E. Church and the remains interred in the Methodist burying ground here. The Captain was an old and much esteemed citizen of Elkton till recently, when he moved to a farm near Chesterville, Kent county, where he died last week.

—Our report of the testimony of David Phillips in the Kearney case, which was published in last week's Whig, did the witness injustice, he complains. The report makes Mr. Phillips say that he "had told Mrs. Kearney that he hoped Kearney would not come back alive; yet he wished him well." The witness denies having any conversation with Mrs. Kearney: Said he did not wish to see Kearney come back.

—The Stereoptian Exhibition at the Odd Fellows' Hall on Monday and Tuesday nights was a most enjoyable entertainment. The Drummond light brought out the colors on the screen in great beauty and perfection. The attendance was quite small and the exhibitor, we judge, did not clear expenses. Even the distribution of chromos did not draw, although some of the audience got very handsome pictures.

—There will be an all-day meeting at Providence First Colored M. P. Church, on Sunday, April 5th. General Class at 7 A. M.; 11 o'clock Preaching; 2½ o'clock Preaching by Rev. W. W. Heberton, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church. 7½ o'clock P. M. Preaching by Rev. E. W. Scott, at which time the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.—There will be a Sunday School Exhibition held in the said church, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 6th and 7th, at 7½ o'clock. Come one, come all.

—A Pied Form.—The first form of type that has been pied in The Whig office in twenty-three years, and perhaps the first ...er pied in the office, came to grief on F...ay evening of last week. In removing one of ...the forms from the sink after washing, and w...hen in the act of placing it on the imposing s...tone, the chase slipped and down one corner ...of the iron frame came to the floor, leaving ... and indellible "imprint" in the board, and out went eight columns of type, composed of a dozen different fonts and styles and shades of letters, all in a heap. The printers had a handsome job sorting pi and throwing back into the proper cases, and no time to spin tops, fly kites and play marbles. But noticeable is the fact that no delay was caused thereby, and that scarcely a vestige of the catastrophe remains.

—Rev. Mr. Cross, of Baltimore, who was in attendance at the Circuit Court, delivered a temperance lecture from the Court House steps, on Sunday afternoon. The lecture wasn't remarkable for anything new or striking, but was a fair discourse. The day descreated, the town disgraced, law was violated and the speaker and audience insulted, by a wanderer from one of the grog shops, whose name we will not mention, as he is said to be heartily ashamed of himself after getting sober. Nevertheless, he will doubtless get drunk and do the same thing again. It is fashionable to make an outcry against the rum-sellers, but we are disposed to lean toward the doctrine beginning to be advanced, that the rum-drinker is about as bad as the seller, if not a "little more so."

—A Curious Egg.—Mr. Ferdinand Lungreen, of Lowisville, Pa., an old cattle drover, with whom we used to drive sharp bargains, in the days "befo' the wah," when we followed pastoral pursuits, sends us a curious specimen of an egg. This nondescript egg is about two inches in length, about the thickness of our little finger, and shaped like a long necked gourd, slightly curved in the middle where it is smallest, and bulging at each end, with one end a little the larger which will represent the dipper end of the gourd. The old gentleman sends this diminutive hen egg, by way of reparation, he says, for cheating us in a horse trade which we once had. The difference could not have been great between the "hanimals," if this egg makes up the balance.

—Sportsmen should be on their guard in future when trespassing on the farms in Cecil county, as the consequences are much more serious than has heretofore been supposed. By the late decision in the trial which consumed all of last week, in the case of the State vs. Robert Kearney, for shooting Thompson Fuller, it was established that any person found trespassing on the grounds of another, by crossing his fields, and when ordered off if he does not go immediately, the proprietor of the farm may shoot him down, and there is nothing in the law to punish the act. Every farmer has an absolute right to clear his farm of any and all trespassers and intruders, either man or beast, and to use the necessary means to effect that purpose in the most summary manner. If cattle or other dumb animals he must empound or pen them and notify the owner, who must pay the damage caused by the stock; but if the trespassers are men or persons, he may shoot them without ceremony. A land proprietor's rights are absolute.

Another Lawyer.—Mr. William Warburton, Jr., who has devoted the customary period of studentship to reading law in the office of R. Haines, Esq., was admitted to practice at the Elkton Bar, at the last term of Court. Mr. Warburton passed his examination with distinguished honors, the Judge complimenting him on his very creditable examination. Mr. Warburton publishes his professional card in The Whig this week, and is now prepared to give advice and take fees.

A Remarkable Twin Lamb—Last week a ewe belonging to Mr. R. J. Lusby, residing two and a half miles out of Chesterville, in this county, gave birth to a twin lamb, which was more remarkable in structure than anything of the kind we ever saw. The body of the animal is about twice as large as an ordinary lamb, this being its only visible peculiarity.—There are two necks and two heads, with ears, eyes, mouth, and all other features complete. It has five legs, six feet and two tails. Four of the legs are natural and in their proper positions, whilst the fifth is attached to the body where the tail would be were the twin a natural issue. This limb is double down to the first joint above the foot, but is enclosed by one skin. Below the point named the leg branches out and forms two perfect feet. The tails are on either side of this fifth appendage, and would be in proper place if each half constituted a complete whole. The sex of the animal could not well be determined. Unfortunately the ewe could not give it natural birth, and artificial means had to be employed, in consequence of which the mother and lamb lost their lives. Mr. Lusby has had the skin of the lamb stuffed and any one can see it by calling at his residence. Barnum would doubtless pay a good price for it. Kent News.

Court.—Court closed on Monday last with the trial of State vs. Veal for assault and battery. Tried before the Court, plead guilty and was fined one cent.—When the fine is less than fifteen cents the State pays the cost. It is a sarcasm on justice that it is made possible for such cases to consume the time of a Circuit Court.

The Jury in the Kearney case after having been out from Thursday night agreed on Sunday evening about half past eight o'clock. The news soon spread through the town, and the Court House filled with an eager crowd to hear the verdict. The prisoner was brought out of his cell and placed in the box, and the judges summoned, but after consultation they determined not to hear the verdict till a quarter past twelve o'clock. This was showing a pious regard for the Sabbath worthy the days of the Puritans. We read in the Book, "What man shall there be among you that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the Sabbath day will he not lay hold on it and lift it out?" And the same author says, "I will have mercy and not sacrifice;" but it was sacrifice and not mercy that kept a Jury four hours longer on the rack, and a prisoner on trial for his life with his enfeebled wife, wantonly four hours in terrible suspense.

North East Items.

Almost a Riot—Shad—Seeding—Market—Prolific—Removing.

There was almost a riot in Charlestown, on Wednesday last. It seems that a gentleman from the country is the owner of a little property on the southeast corner of Caroline and Bladen streets. Said country gent is about erecting a new fence on his premises and according to Charlestown rule, was about to encroach pretty heavily upon said corner. At this junction one of the old residenters came along and used rather severe epithets; such as d—m barremisters, &c., &c., which excited the wrath of said owner of the corner, who pounced upon the town man and disfigured his countenance fearfully with his fist. At one time matters assumed large proportions as hatchets and saws were dextriously waived in the air, but fortunately better judgement prevailed and no serious injury was sustained.

Some white shad have been caught on the North East river; highest boat, thirty-five. Herring are rather scarce, yet Mr. Barnes put on one of his hauling seines on Thursday last.

Farmers are nearly done sowing oats, but the cold snap prevents their vegitating.

Flour, $9.50 per barrel; corn, 75 cents per bushel; butter, 40 cents per pound; eggs, 22 cents per dozen; beef, 14@16 cents per pound. (Since the new butcher came to town.)

Perkinsville ahead. Five offsprings to two mothers came around the other night. They are live people on the other side of the foot log.

On the 1st inst., Wm. D. Alexander, agent at North East Depot for some ten years, removed to Oxford, Pa. He is going in business there.

REAL ESTATE IN EASTERN MARYLAND.—The Eastern Shore of Maryland is now reaping that result from our late financial panic which it was predicted would follow as a natural sequence. There are now more inquirers after land than ever before, and Mr. J. F. Mancha, of the firm of Mancha & Bro., Ridgely, the most extensively engaged in real estate of all the firms in Eastern Maryland, informs us that there is a corresponding increase in the number of sales. There has, however, been no appreciation in the value of real estate as yet, but if these sales continue such must be the inevitable result. The Mancha Bros. have also been empowered to sell a tract of 4,000 acres lying east of Ridgely, belonging to Parson Ridgely, which they have divided into small lots and some thirty settlers have already purchased homes. Of these, eight or ten have already built themselves houses and moved in. An incentive to purchase is the very easy terms upon which the lots are sold, no money being required for five years.

LECTURE AT JACKSON HALL.

A LADY ON THE STAND.

The few persons who found it convenient to be present at Jackson Hall on Thursday evening, March 26th, to hear the lecture by a Wilmington lady were amply compensated by a rich intellectual feast, for their trouble and labor involved.

The subject of the lecture was "Mind." The lecturer said, "as we know nothing of Mind disconnected from Matter," it would be necessary to treat of Physiology in connection with Phrenology. And the ability with which she handled these kindred sciences, evinced a rare acquaintance with them. Had the lecturer not been a woman this effort would have passed muster anywhere, for everybody has heard of female inferiority.

The mysterious connection of mind with matter, of soul with body, and their sympathies one with the other, were discussed with rare ability.

The effect of bodily disease on the mind and the importance of attending to a few simple rules which she laid down for preserving the health of the body, were forcibly illustrated.

The lecture abounded with so many useful suggestions, that it would be impossible in my brief notice of it, to give even the outlines of it. It was one of those rare efforts that must be heard to be appreciated. As a scientific inquiry into the wonderfully and fearfully made creature, man, I have never heard it surpassed, while the literary dress in which the subject was displayed is seldom equaled. Altogether this single discourse would establish the reputation of a man as a lecturer, what it may do for a woman remains to be seen.

LETTER FROM OHIO.

CAMDEN, Preble County, Ohio,
March 30th, 1874.

EDITOR WHIG:—Gone, though not forgotten, is the Hon. H. G., who gave utterance to the words, "Go West young man, go West. Being determined to seek my fortune, I left Cecil county on Tuesday, the 24th inst. Meeting with a friend in Baltimore, we took the train for Washington via. the B. & O. Railroad. After viewing the Capitol, Treasury, White House and the Public Works, we started for Harper's Ferry, stopping there over night. In the morning we walked upon Boliver Hights to view the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers and the old town of Harper's Ferry. From there we went to Loudon Hights, where we could view the town and Sandy Hook, just across the Potomac. Returning again to the depot, we took the train via. Cumberland, up the 17 mile grade on the Alleghany Mountains, viewing such scenery as is not surpassed in America. Hearing so much of Cheat River Valley, on the Alleghany Mountains, we determined to stop over there at a small town called Rolesburg. The next morning we started down Cheat river; after traveling a distance of three and ahalf miles, carrying our view traps, we became somewhat exhausted and determined to retrace our steps, and that Cheat river must look far prettier in Summer than in the Spring.

From this point via. Cincinnati, we made our way to this little town of nearly 1,000 inhabitants, situated on the Cincinnati & Chicago Railroad. This town is truly one of the women's crusade towns. The crusade began here about a week ago, a part of the saloon keepers closed at once, saying they did not want the women praying around them. So they signed the pledge, saying it was a low, mean business at any rate. One other who determined to hold out, swore he would not quit until h—ll froze over, but during the week they met with him often. On one occasion he put on the stove peppers and tobacco, when they opened the doors they determined to stay on the outside; so they sang and prayed there. His billiard room was filled with some of the citizens of the town who were ashamed to be seen, and they soon left by the back entrance. Most all the ladies in the town from all the churches have taken hold of this work, and the rum-sellers had but few on their side.—Camden is now without a rum-shop. The last one gave up on Saturday last at 1 P. M. This crusade is not only in Camden, but all over the country, and in nearly every instance they have met with success.

The women here are determined that if any one opens again to repeat their prayers until he gives up and signs the pledge not to sell any more liquor. An old bystander makes the following remark:—"Dings ish comin tu a grate pass in the name of Got; de womens ish goin tu take care of de mens." GEO.
