A Most Happy and Prosperous New Year to All.

To Our Kind Friends and Patrons:

We desire to express our many and sincere thanks to our numerous friends and customers for their very liberal patronage and support during the past year of 1896, and to extend an earnest solicitation for their continued favors through the coming twelve months. It is our renewed resolution and determination to always be in a position to furnish the public with the best and purest of drugs, chemicals, etc., and to assist the physicians in relieving the sick and afflicted, that at the close of the year we may all look back with satisfaction upon the year that has passed, and thank our friends, at least have been spared, and health continually restored.

Church Hill.

Since our last writing we have had many changes, such as are usually brought about on New Year's day. In fact our town has been a continual stir with teaming in different directions for several days prior to New Year's.

Piney Neck.

Jan. 1st was the day for resolutions, and no doubt many were made only to be broken at short notice.

It is rumored that our school principal of Winchester, will shortly unite in the holy bonds of matrimony. If this is true we wish him all joys and comforts of married life.

A great many wagons loaded with household goods passed through Winchester this week on their way to Kent Island and others moving from Kent Island to other parts of the county.

The cold spell caused quite a little boom in the blacksmith shops, horses coming by two and three to be shod for several days. Some of those who are fortunate enough to have ice-houses took advantage of the opportunity to fill them.

An exhibit of stereoscopic views was given in the Church at Perry's Corner. The exhibition was very entertaining, consisting of views taken from noted places in England, Ireland and Scotland, and also from the land of the "Midnight Sun."

A crowd of colored men congregated at the store of Nathan Wilson, colored, on Christmas Day, when a dispute arose causing several pistol shots to be passed. No one was hurt but all were badly scared. The men who did the shooting are still at large in the city of Baltimore.

There seems to be much demand for "two in the hill" these days, in consequence of the continual rise in the price of flour. Hard times are working many changes that are not conducive to the comfort of those whom a Republican Representative designates "poor white trash." But the change from wheat flour to corn meal, all things considered, will not be found less expensive. While corn is but 25 cents a bushel, it is said, it is about 60 cents a bushel.

Templeville.

The entertainment given by the teachers and pupils, of Templeville school during the Christmas holidays was pronounced a success by all that attended. The children performed the pieces assigned to them very nicely and all seemed to enjoy it well. The school closed in two evenings about 10 o'clock.

The Rev. Howard Smith and family, have moved from Barclay to a farm near our town, vacated by Mr. Geo. Davis and family who moved to Ridgely.

Mr. John Daily who has lived in our village during the past year, has moved to his farm near Dover, Del.

Mr. Charles Temple, who thought of moving to Philadelphia and did prepare for the same, has changed his mind and has moved with his family to town. Mr. Wm. Clark has moved to the country from town and occupies the property made vacant by Mr. Temple.

Mr. Harry S. Daily and wife have returned home after a pleasant visit in Philadelphia.

Mr. Harry Temple and wife are now visiting Mrs. Temple's parents in lower Carolina.

Miss Lizzie Followfield is visiting relatives and friends in Chestertown.

Miss Emma Hall has returned home to attend school after spending the holidays with her parents in Maryland.

Miss Topsy Followfield is visiting friends and relatives in Chestertown.

Mr. John Clark has returned to school in Baltimore after spending the holidays with his parents.

The young people enjoyed skating on the pond the first of last week.

There has been several changes in town this New Year's but not many moved out of town. Mr. Wm. Smith and family have moved to Henderson.

Mr. John Stafford and wife have returned from their wedding tour and will make their home in Maryland.

Miss Cora Pippin, Miss Zella Healer, Mrs. James Green and son are home from Philadelphia.

Mr. Milton Green returned to school at Denton Monday morning.

There were several young ladies visiting the Delaware house during Christmas.

Mr. Will. Downes visited his parents near Denton last Sunday and Monday.

Miss Sarah Heather is visiting Mrs. Tom Green in Denton.

Mr. Phillip Downes who has been clerking for his brother will return home this week to attend school.

Mr. Joe Richardson from Denton has been visiting his friend Mr. William Downes.

Rev. C. F. Sheppard preached a very able sermon on Sunday evening, subject "So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

There was a watch meeting in Maryland Thursday night but was not very well attended.

Rev. C. F. Sheppard and family spent Tuesday with Miss Ida Carson near Templeville.

Queenstown.

Miss Edith, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. James Morgan, who is overseer on the "Blakeford" farm, had a very close call from drowning. She was on the creek in front of her father's residence when the ice suddenly gave way, letting her down into about six feet of water. Assistance was quickly rendered and Miss Edith was saved from a watery grave.

Most of the merchants have plenty of Christmas candy.

The storehouse occupied by C. J. B. Mitchell, was again closed on Saturday last. The stock will be resold.

Young folks enjoyed skating several days last week, but the warm wave of Wednesday and Thursday put a stop to the same.

A great many husbands after eating "angel food" as prepared by the hands of their young wives, who have graduated from the cooking schools agree that they do not want to go to Heaven.

A hen in the third year of her age is at the height of her laying capacity. She will lay from 300 to 500 eggs, after that she is adapted for the boarding-room table.

Mr. Harry Willoughby, of Bryansville, while skating on Garey's mill pond, between Ruthsburg and Ridgely on Monday, fell and had several of his teeth knocked out.

A small tenant house on the Keating farm of Mr. Hiram Dudley, adjoining town, was destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, caused by a defective fuse. Loss about $200, fully insured.

Miss Lizzie Dorrell on last Thursday while passing from the dining-room to the kitchen, stumbled against a cat and fell against the stove, knocking over a pot of boiling grease, which scalded her hand and arm so severely that she now has to use a sling to carry her arm. It is true saying, "look before you leap."

Notwithstanding the heavy ice, and low tides, the steamer Emma A. Ford has only failed to reach our wharf three times, and then there was no possible chance of getting in on account of a large schooner across the channel. Our people owe a vote of thanks to the genial captain of the steamer Emma A. Ford, for any captain ever tried to cater to the wants of his patrons it is certainly Capt. Wm. Taylor.

The tug Esby arrived in our creek about noon on Saturday of last week. She came to pull the schooner which is loaded with rails and coal into the wharf, but owing to low tide the tug was unable to move the schooner. Another schooner which was anchored off the mouth of the creek was towed in. A tug with a large in tow arrived early Friday morning to lighten the load of the schooner aground in the channel. The schooner was towed into the new wharf Friday evening, and men are unloading large and small.

Mr. John McFarland, who moved from this town to Wye Mills, had a very narrow escape from losing all of his household effects. The family started a fire in the fireplace and went to work unpadding the goods without paying any notice to the fire, and were not aware of the danger until some person notified them that the chimney was on fire. It was long before the roof caught, and, but the diligent work of the neighbors, the house with all of its contents would have been consumed by fire. The fire was finally extinguished with little loss.

Misses Alice McClough and Maggie Vansant, of Ridgely are visiting Mrs. Wm. B. Chance.

Mrs. A. M. Sherwood is quite sick with an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Howard Embert, of Baltimore, spent several days during the holidays with friends and relatives near town.

Misses Sadie and Nellie Shortall and brother, near town, and Miss Rosalie Connolly, of near Centreville, has returned home after spending a pleasant week with friends in Oxford.

Ashland.

A visit was made to Ashland M. E. Sunday School last Thursday night by Old Kris. The first part of the evening a program was rendered by the little folks, for which they deserve great credit. The exercises were in charge of Mrs. Cecil. One of the most enjoyable recitations was rendered by little Miss Bishop, daughter of Mr. Riden Bishop. Old Kris appeared at the conclusion of the entertainment. His costume was of furs and robes, completely covered with snow, and a large corn cobbler in his mouth. He entertained the children very nicely with comic actions. Candies were distributed to the visitors. At a late hour the large crowd left the church, all feeling well pleased. Mr. Geo. E. Brown was Old Kris.

Removals.—As far as can be ascertained the following is a complete list of the removals to take place about town: Thomas Walls, removes to Ridgely; A. R. Weedon takes the house vacated by Thomas Walls; Wm. McKenney, Jr., takes the house vacated by A. R. Weedon; M. A. Keating goes in the house formerly occupied by S. C. Allen on Water Street; J. E. Walters, Jr., moves to the house vacated by M. A. Keating; R. E. Cahall takes the house vacated by J. E. Walters, Jr.; Horace Vasey moved in the house vacated by R. E. Cahall; John Hartman takes the house vacated by Horace Vasey; W. J. Taylor moves from the wharf to the house vacated by John Hartman; Wm. Clark moved in the Elliott property over Geo. T. Hobby's store; J. E. Bramble takes the house over C. M. West's store; Bascom Eaton takes the house vacated by Thomas A. Mallalieu; Joshua Chance goes to the house vacated by John Walls; Finley Roberts moves from the Cook farm to the property vacated by Wimer Emory; Lemuel Dunbracco goes on the Cook farm; Mr. B. Emory Jr. goes to the house vacated by Mr. Wm. McKenney, Jr.; Mr. Thomas Mallalieu goes to the same house occupied by J. E. Walters; Mr. W. T. Chamber's house to the new house he has erected on Water Street extended.

How about the Centreville Postoffice.

President-elect McKinley has not been inaugurated, and yet the local Republicans are beginning to cipher out amongst themselves the division of the spoils. In view of the present year is one of profit to the sugar plantations along this sung bayou, and the "Eden of Louisiana" will justify her name in the plentiful crop now almost ready for the cane-knife and the mill.

Progress has been active, despite the falling price of sugar. Perhaps it is, if it, since salvation lay in the falling acreage and improvement of manufacturing processes. Six years ago the sugar plantations here were such that they will gain the prize. No one knows though everybody believes he believes he knows. Naturally each applicant for the place considers his own chances the best.

And yet they all fail to inform the public upon what they base their confident expectations. We all know that politics will play an important part in the settlement of the appointment. If this be true then it is impossible to foretell what will happen for politics is a fickle and treacherous power.

Factional differences in Republican ranks will necessarily cut some figure in the selection of the postmaster. We say this, because the alliance of the two factions run along counter lines. The Mallalieu or "Lily White" element of their party affiliates with the Barber, or anti-administration wing of State Republicanism. The Forrester or "Chocolate Drop" faction is a straight-out Wellingtonian.

The question is, will the two factions harmonize on one man? Whether they can forget their past differences or not is questionable. The Lily Whites have been unsteady in their abuse of the Forrester element. They have denounced it as the "negro wing" of the party. In these denunciations they have ridiculed, belittled and generally assailed both "Chocolate Drop" leaders and their numerous followers. The growing hostility between the two factions reached its climax at the Republican congressional convention which met in Eastern. It was there where the "Chocolate Drop" element was ruthlessly robbed of its political rights. The delegation sent by the Forrester element was the one properly entitled to seats in the convention. This we know because we were present when the difficulty arose. And yet in the face of their legal rights the duly constituted delegation from Queen Anne's was refused admission to the congressional convention and the Lily White crowd was seated. This was done to nominate Dr. Barber.

New the "Chocolate Drop" element is in sympathy with Senator-elect Wellington and enjoys his support. The "Lily Whites" have and will have the assistance and influence of Congressman-elect Barber. Suppose the two local factions should fail to agree upon a man, what would be the result? Each faction would appeal to its respective patron. The "Chocolate Drop" element is the dominant faction in the county. The Lily Whites, while in the minority, have a powerful personal influence in the members of their faction. Should each faction endorse different men, would trouble and discord result therefrom? If the factions disagree, what course will Wellington and Barber pursue? Will they both condescend in recommending one man, or will each support the man recommended by the faction of his sympathizers? If Wellington endorses one and Barber endorses another will the support of Wellington, supplemented by the counter-endorsement of the local central committee, be more potent with Mr. McKinley than the name and assistance of Dr. Barber alone? These are all interesting questions which the postmaster controversy may excite. Be they settled by one man or the other, our community insists upon having an efficient man.

The Delaware legislature on Monday organized. Both houses expected to have trouble in the organization. The senate stood 4 to 4 undivided and one seat contested. When that body met a Republican nominated another Republican for president officer, and a Democrat nominated another Democrat and at once declared his man elected, and his man took the chair. The Republican objected, but the new chairman declared the objection out of order, and thus the Democrats held the senate by a majority of one. The House of Representatives organized by the election of Democratic officers. The defeated candidates from Kent and Sussex who were not given seats because they were not elected, went down to the Hotel Richardson and held a legislature of their own, but of course that was mere child's play and nonsense. They too elected officers and swore them in, including Presiding Elder Adams for chaplain, and people are much surprised that he should allow himself to be made a tool of in such a business. This "rump" house will probably hang around for a few days until the time comes to elect a United States Senator and then they will vote for Mr. Addicks, who is now paying them their per diem and expenses. After they have done this and declared him elected they will probably get away and go home to face an outraged constituency.

Maryland Cure

"I have suffered with heart disease and trouble with my back for twenty years, and I became so bad I could not do any work. I was so that I could not be left alone and the doctor thought I should live but a short time. I spent many dollars for physicians, but instead of improving I grew worse, until one day I was reading about Hood's Sarsaparilla and I determined to try it. I procured a bottle and began taking it, and very soon felt a change. I took four bottles and it did me so much good that I still continued its use and do not now suffer with any heart trouble."
