HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries—Column Indicated to Tired

CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

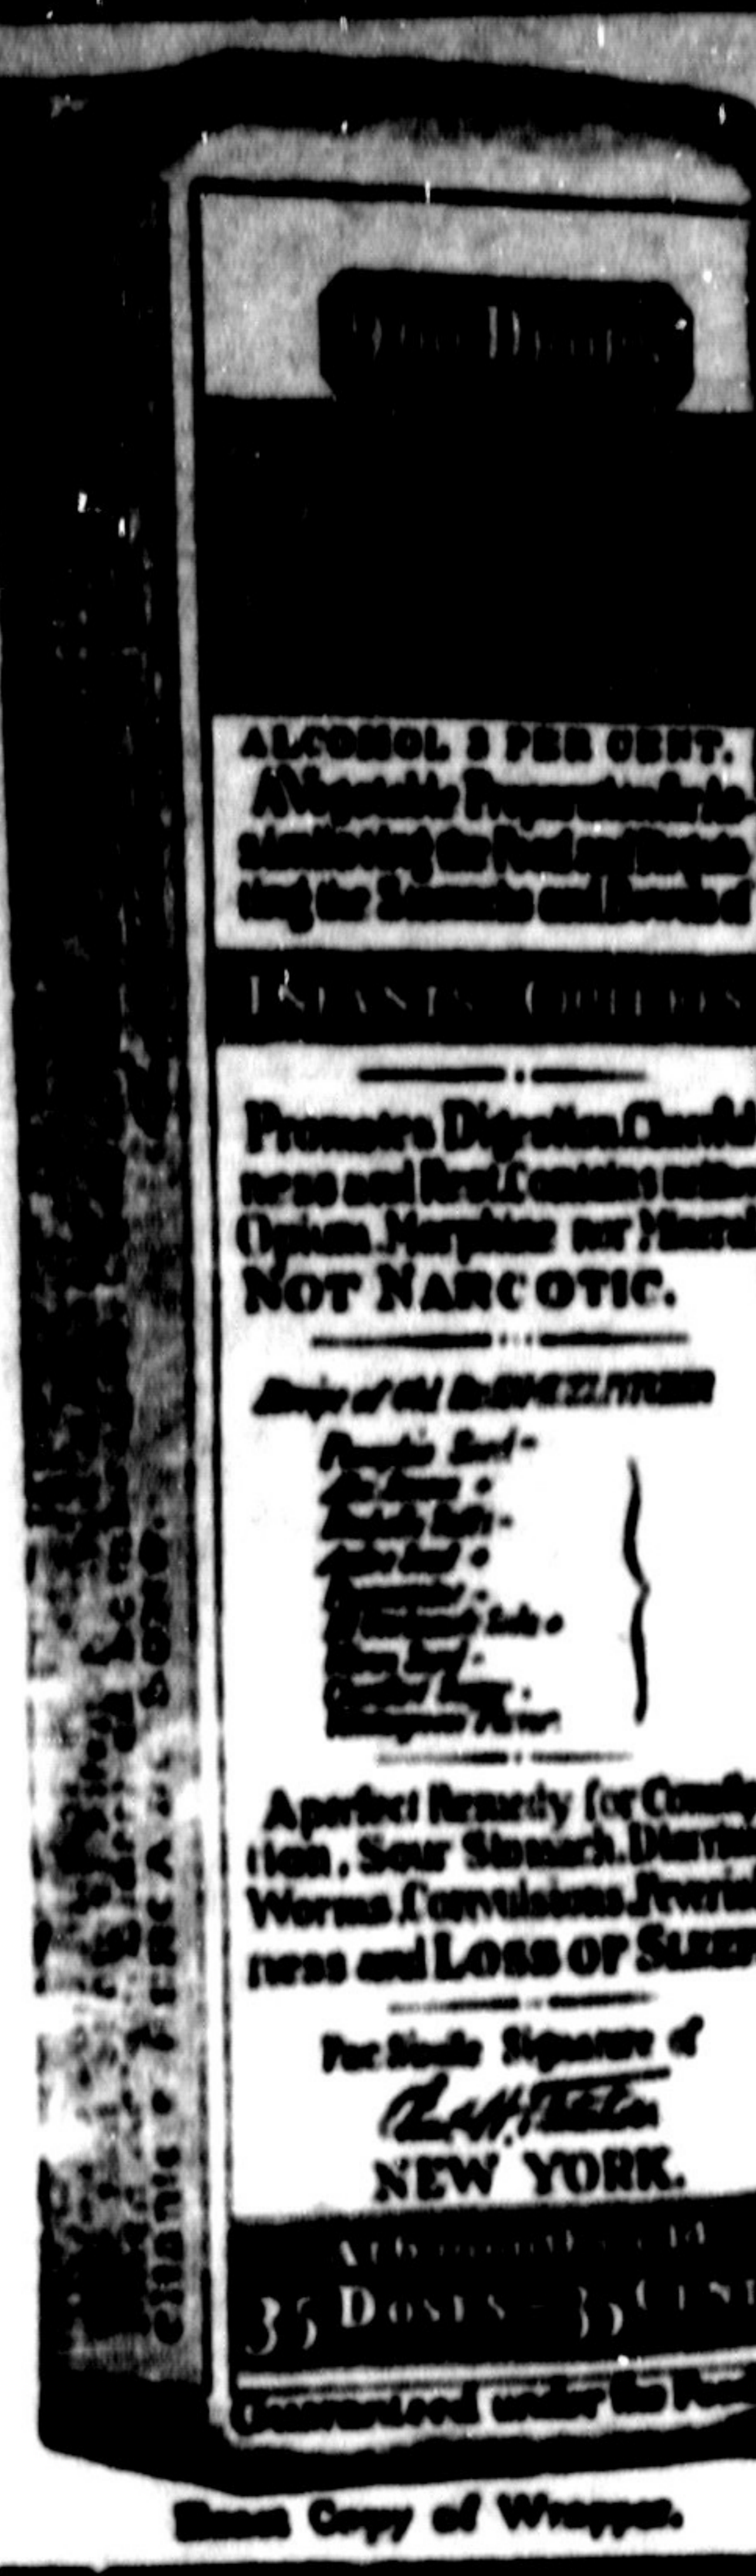

Home! What a hallowed name; how full of enchantment and how dear to every heart. How it touches every fibre of the soul and strikes every chord of the human heart with its angelic fingers. Nothing but death can break the spell. What tender associations are linked with home. What pleasing images and deep emotions it awakens. It calls upon the fondest memories of life, and opens in our nature the purest, deepest, richest gush of consecrated thought and feeling. Home, home. There is no place like home. Home of our childhood. How affection clings and hovers round thee with her seraph wings.

"Be Ye Not Unequally Yoked."
No matter how refined a woman is, if she marries a coarse, immoral man, she will be likely to have a coarse, immoral man for her husband. In ninety nine cases out of one hundred, a vulgar horse jockey will remain a horse jockey still, in spite of the possession of a refined, intelligent wife. With that possession his reverent admiration for her superiority has departed. She is now simply the woman who has joined her lot with his, and must take him and his circumstances for what they are. He will have no patience with fine idyls, or her distaste for coarse thoughts and actions. She must come down to his level and stay there. She must bear his children, and cook, wash, iron and mend in the homely house that is all he is able to provide for her, just the same as if she had never been in social superior. Should she rebel and leave him, her future is blasted, and though she may be strong enough to rise out of her misery, she can never efface the results of her folly. But the probabilities are that she will drag out her dreary days in surroundings utterly repugnant to every fibre of her nature, because she will not be allowed to take her children—which are his also—and she cannot leave them behind her. The romance of this kind of clandestine marriage is very soon dispelled, and only hard, bitter facts remain.

Teach the Children to Save Money.
It is often and truthfully said that a penny saved is a penny made. The foundation of many of the greatest fortunes was begun by saving a penny. The habit of saving is one of the best that can be formed. Every child should be taught to save something every week. The satisfaction of counting these pennies when the bank is emptied is one of the pleasures we never forget; perhaps every one of us can remember the thrill of joy we had when we emptied the contents of the bank on the table and counted and re-counted this mountain of wealth; how eager we were to tell our little friends the amount of our great fortune, and crowd with them in raffling the bank. To bring this pleasure within the reach of every child and help the formation of the penny-saving habit, Messrs.

What is a cold in the head? Nothing to worry about if you treat it with Ely's Cream Balm. Neglected, the cold may grow into catarrh, and the air-passages be so inflamed that you have to fight for every breath. It is true that Ely's Cream Balm cures catarrh, promptly. But you know the old saying about the cause of prevention. Therefore use Cream Balm when the cold is in the head above all things. All druggists sell it, or mailed by Ely Bros., 23 Warren Street, New York.

CHALMERS—DETROIT "30"

Won Every Event 'In Their Class'
on Atlanta Speedway

During a week's racing on the new two-mile Atlanta Motor Track the Chalmers-Detroit "30's", driven by Matson and Knipper, were never defeated in their class.

Think of going out day after day the same two stock cars and winning every race offered, from four miles to one hundred miles. Here is another remarkable fact: In every race in which both "30's" were entered they won second place as well as first. Both "30's" defeated every other car of their class. They were always together, neck and neck, at the finish. Neither of them were out of commission at any time. During the whole distance covered in all these races the "30's" averaged 60 miles an hour, a mile a minute for every moment they were running on the track.

There are no other cars in the world at any price with such records for consistency. Members of the technical committee of the A. A. A. and editors of the Automobile Trade Journals, who keep careful records of automobile contests of America and Europe, are authority for the statement that the CHALMERS-DETROIT "30" holds the world's record for consistent performance.

The Chalmers-Detroit "30"
Sells for $1500

and it is thoroughly proved to be the best car in the world at the price.

Hupmobile

Having secured the Agency for the exclusive sale of the Hupmobile in Kent and Queen Annes Counties, we will be pleased to demonstrate the ability of this car to compete with larger and higher priced cars now on the market, at our establishment at Maney, Md.

The Hupmobile retails for $750. It weighs eleven hundred pounds complete with regular equipment, but despite its light weight it is strongly and compactly built. It has a 4-cylinder, 30-h. p. engine, water cooled, semi-elliptical springs in front and patented cross springs in back.

Exclusive Bosch Magneto Ignition, No Batteries, No Coil.

This absence of batteries of any sort eliminates the trouble of times experienced in the use of machines who rely upon them for ignition. A trial is asked.
