CHESTER

Chester, March 23—Miss Julia Gardner, Mrs. Tilghman Eaton, Mrs. W. E. Gardner and Mrs. Earl Long visited Baltimore this week.

William A. Palmer has entered a sanitarium in Western Maryland for treatment for tuberculosis. His wife is in Emergency Hospital, Easton, where she is being treated for kidney trouble. Their many friends hope for their speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stinchcomb, of Glenburnie, spent the week-end with Mrs. R. L. Bird and Misses Eliza and Elizabeth Tanner.

Miss Marguerite Tanner spent the week-end with Mrs. R. L. Bird.

A mad-dog recently made its appearance around Mattapex, biting a number of dogs, sheep and hogs. Last week, a hog and sheep died from hydrophobia.

A novel sight here on St. Patrick's Day was a large auto being towed through the state-aid "canal" of Chester by the County's mules. Five autos got stuck Monday in the deep mud-holes of the "canal" and their drivers had hard times getting them out.

On Saturday night last a woman visitor walking from the railroad station to Chester become bogged in a mud-hole. A man came to her rescue, waded out, took her up bodily and carried her to terra firma.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Marvel, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harris and Mrs. Thomas L. Harris visited Baltimore during last week.

Miss Anna Phillips was the week-end guest in Centreville of Mr. and Mrs. Owens Phillips.

If Sunday is a good day, a large congregation is expected to attend Kingsley M. E. Church and hear Rev. G. S. Thomas deliver a special sermon to members of Chester Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Kent Island ducks have laid fewer eggs this winter than ever before known.

aloud for remedy. The country is being throttled. Whatever the power of production and manufacture, the output of both is limited by transportation facilities. A change of policy is imperative."

The letter is signed by George J. Seay, governor of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, and reveals, in strong language, the urgent need confronting the farmers of the country.

J. Fletcher Rolph, cashier of the Centreville National Bank, said that the local institution would cooperate to the fullest in bringing this problem to the attention of the farmers and in urging upon them its prime necessity for vigorous action in increasing agricultural and live-stock yields. It is agreed that the letter lays bare one of the causes for the existing high prices of foodstuffs. It also indicates the purpose of the federal government, through its various agencies, to fight the food pirates who have throttled the country.

CHURCH HILL.

Church Hill, March 23—Mrs. Woodring spent last week in Chestertown with her daughter, Mrs. Crow.

Mrs. Clara Spry is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Webb, near Locust Grove.

TOMATO GROWERS AND CANNERY STILL AT ODDS

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT AT "GET-TOGETHER" MEETING HELD TUESDAY.

Farmers who are members of the Queen Annes Tomato-Growers Association and J. Langrall & Bro., Inc., proprietors of the local cannery, failed to reach any agreement as to contract price at a so-called "Get-Together" meeting held Tuesday in the court house. Instead of reaching a compromise, as advanced by Elmer E. Langrall, the farmers made it plain that they either would grow on an open market or else plant corn, unless offered more than 22 cents a basket.

The meeting followed the organization gathering of the Queen Annes Dairymen's Association and most of the participants in the first session remained for the second, which was opened by Mr. Langrall as a representative of the Centreville cannery. He explained that he had expected canntry experts to come from Elkton and assist him in putting the canners' side of the question before the tomato-growers, but that these had failed to arrive.

Faces Serious Problems.

Mr. Langrall started out by saying that both the canners and the farmers are facing serious problems this year, including the expected shortage of labor. Before he had advanced very far in his statements however, he was subjected to a cross-fire of questions on the costs of cans, material, labor, freights, etc., that finally concluded by the meeting adjourning without any definite results being accomplished.

During his remarks, Mr. Langrall denied in toto that there exists any combine among the canners of Baltimore for the regulation of prices paid for tomatoes. Several instances were cited him, however, that tended to justify the belief, in the minds of the local farmers, that some such "gentlemen's agreement" actually does exist. Mr. Langrall classed as "gamblers" and wild-catters" the canners men who are paying 25 cents a basket for tomatoes and asserted that they simply were taking a chance of tomatoes being much higher later on.

He said there is a shortage of tin plate and this means that cans will be hard to obtain, though the local cannery already has made all it will need for the canning of the pea crop. Mr. Langrall stated that his firm does not wish to contract for more than 500 acres and now has about 200 under contract at 20 cents a basket. In offering 22 cents, he said, his firm is taking a big risk of sacrificing the profits which it is entitled to.

Under the oral bombardment of a number of tomato-growers, Mr. Langrall was unable to get ahead with his explanations, the questions coming too thick and fast to permit him to reply adequatey. He then concluded his remarks with a flat statement that, if the farmers do not wish to contract at 22 cents, they can take the risk of an open market or grow corn, just as it pleases them.

A number of the association's members expressed their intention to follow this advice and it appeared to be the sentiment of the gathering that no contracts would be made at a less price than 25 cents a basket. A clause in the contract offered by Mr. Langrall caused considerable apprehension. It seemed, because it appeared that, in the event of war, the cannery could void the agreement.

It was pointed out that canneries all over the Peninsula are paying $15 a ton for tomatoes, but Mr. Langrall insisted this was beyond the margin of safety and that his firm, fearing the uncertainty of the market, preferred not to take the risk, though it likely would purchase many tomatoes if they are grown for an open market. There the matter rested and the meeting broke up.

DAIRYMEN ORGANIZE

CENTREVILLE CHAPTER OF THE COUNTY ASSOCIATION IS FORMED TUESDAY.

With 53 members enrolled, the Centreville chapter of the Queen Annes Dairymen's Association was formed Tuesday at a meeting held in the court-house. Everett F. White, county agricultural agent, called the meeting to order and stated its object.

At the election of officers, Clayton Wright was chosen president and at once took the chair. John R. E. Turpin was elected vice-president and Richard T. Earle secreary and treasurer. Robert W. Thomas, Z. R. Collins and Harry S. Covington were nominated for delegates to the county convention, called to meet in the office of Mr. White next Tuesday at 1 o'clock. Messrs. Thomas and Collins were the two elected by ballot.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Earle collected dues of $1.50 each from the members enrolled. This will be used as a fund to cover expenses of the chapter, which will join with similar chapters in Sudlersville and Price in forming the county association.

The Price chapter, at a meeting last Monday, elected the following officers: J. B. T. Merrick, president; H. M. Cecil, vice president; Milo Evans, secretary and treasurer, and S. O. Sparks and J. H. Hall, county delegates. The membership solicitors are B. L. Appleford and Roger Brown. The enthusiasm shown at the meeting indicates that this chapter is going after every one of the Price cooling station patrons.

MARYLAND PREPARING

GOVERNOR HARRINGTON NAMES COMMISSION TO FURTHER MILITARY MEANS.

That Maryland may be prepared to do its part when actual steps of warfare are taken against Germany, Governor Emerson C. Harrington has appointed a committee, headed by Adjutant-General Henry M. Warfield, to canvass the military situation in the state.

The act which authorizes the appointment of this commission specifies that it shall inquire into and report on:

The practicibility of providing military education for boys between the ages of 14 and 21 years.

The practicibility of providing military training for youths in the public schools.

The advisability of requiring all male persons owing allegiance to the State of Maryland and physically fit for military service a limited period of such service.

The practicibility of creating a military reserve in this State.

The commission is expected to get to work at once if there is no immediate outbreak of war, in the event of which some of the members will be called into the service.

This census is to include all males between the ages of 18 and 45 years as specified under an act of the Legislature. In the cities and towns the police will be relied upon to do the work. In the smaller towns it will be more difficult and in the country districts even more so, but it is believed that there will be volunteers enough to get the information and whip it into shape in a few weeks.

Under the law certain persons are exempt from service in the National Guard, but they will not be excluded from the census. It will be for those who are so exempted to claim their exemption at the proper time and place, which are specified in the act.

The Governor said he expected to be able to get the rifles that are required in the event that the National Guard of the State is again called into service and ordered elsewhere. The number needed is estimated at 3,000 and the War Department has been asked for them. They are to be used in equipping a Home Guard that will take the place of the National Guard while it is in the field.

VESTRYMEN TO MEET

REPRESENTATIVES FROM PARISHES OF MIDDLE CONVOCATION ARE INVITED.

With the approval of Bishop William Forbes Adams, the dean of the middle convocation of the diocese of Easton, Rev. T. Manley Sharpe, has called a meeting of vestrymen to be held from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m., Thursday, April 12, in Trinity Cathedral, Easton. The parishes to be represented at this meeting will be Trinity Cathedral and Christ Church, Easton; Centreville, Oxford, St. Michaels, Longwoods, Trappe, Greensboro, Denton, Hillsboro, Church Hill, Sudlersville, Stevensville and Wye Mills, embraced in the convocation counties of Queen Annes, Caroline and Talbot.

The conference is to be along the lines of one for the northern convocation, recently held in Chestertown at which Col. W. Hopper Gibson, of Centreville, made a most important address. It is expected to foster personal acquaintance among the vestrymen. The program will include addresses, discussions open to all, formulation of plans as to the best methods of carrying on parochial work of the church as it is assigned to the various parishes and other matters of interest to the Protestant Episcopal laity.

In the invitation extended to the vestries, it is stated that much latent talent is lying dormant and it is desired to see how much could and would be accomplished if this was aroused, interested and stimulated to coordinate work of the vestrymen in their desire to uphold the Christian activities of the church. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and entertainment will be provided in Easton for all vestrymen who remain over night.

The invitation is signed by Col. W. Hopper Gibson, chairman; Edwin S. Valliant, John S. McDaniel, W. H. Adkins, S. E. Shannahan, William A. Smith, Dudley G. Roe and H. Lay Beaven, vestrymen.

MISS MARY A. CLOUGH.

Miss Mary A. Clough, for years a well-known milliner of Church Hill, died there last Friday from general debility. She had been in poor health for several years.

Miss Clough was 68 years old. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Noah Clough, of Church Hill, and had lived there all her life, having until several years ago been associated in business with her sister.

Five brothers, Noah, James H., William and E. T. Clough, of Queen Annes county, and Lemuel Clough, of Denton, and two sisters, Miss Sarah Rebecca Clough, of Church Hill, and Mrs. Harriet Anderson, of Denton, survive her. James A. Clough, of The Observer, was a nephew of the deceased.

Funeral services were held from her late residence at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, the officiating minister being Rev. E. A. Lambert, pastor of Church Hill M. E. Church, South. Interment was in Church Hill cemetery, the pallbearers being her four brothers and W. Emory and Caspar Clough.

SOCIETY

Messrs. J. Harman Whiteley and B. Harman Eaton, of Eddystone, Pa., spent the week-end here with their parents.

Mr. Claude Davis, of New Jersey, is visiting his father, Mr. Isaac Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Williamson, and little daughter, Geraldine, of Denver, Col., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Williamson.

Messrs. Bennett Carter and Joseph Bishop recently motored to Wilmington, Del., for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bishop.

Col. W. Hopper Gibson was a visitor this week in Cambridge.

OFFER FREE LIBRARY

MARYLAND COMMISSION WILL AID IN ESTABLISHING THE BRANCHES IN TOWNS.

Though Centreville already has a public library with many volumes, it is offered an opportunity to obtain another library, provided by the state, as is shown by the following article:

The Maryland Public Library Commission was established by Chapter 305, laws of 1910. It was the outgrowth of the state system of traveling libraries, established in 1902 by the general assembly. The Commission consists of four members, appointed for a period of two years, by the governor, and of three ex-officio members.

The duties of the commission are to aid in the establishment of libraries in the small towns, to advise and assist those already established and to provide travelling libraries for any community applying for them under responsible endorsement. Each traveling library contains about 35 volumes of miscellaneous reading and may be retained for four months. A registration fee of 50 cents is required. Through the efforts of the Commission, acting through its field secretary, a number of public libraries already have been established in towns throughout the state.

The commission is composed of Dr. J. H. Apple, president; Mrs. M. A. Newell, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. S. Johnson Poe, Miss Mace state librarian; Dr. Bernard C. Steiner and Dr. M. Bates Stephens. Miss Emma W. H. Scott is the field secretary and library organizer, and is glad to respond, as promptly as possible, to any calls for assistance. The office of the commission is at the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore.

MRS. MARY ANN MINNER.

Confined to her bed since Christmas with cancer and general debility, Mrs. Mary Ann Minner, 78 years old, passed away last Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sewell H. Ruth, Liberty street.

Mrs. Minner was twice married, her first husband being a Mr. Durham, and her second the late Dennis Minner, of Kent county. Surviving children by her first marriage are Mrs. Catharine Cain, of Kennedyville, and William and Benjamin F. Durham, of Millington. Besides Mrs. Ruth, she is survived by a son of the second marriage, Henry Minner, of Millington.

Two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, of Stony Creek, Va., and Mrs. Louise Hall, of Delaware, also survive.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Mrs. Ruth's residence, conducted by Rev. J. R. Ecking, pastor of Centreville M. E. Church. Interment was in Still Pond cemetery, the pallbearers being J. R. Jarrell, William Krusen, Eugene Bonwill, George Harper, Jacob Crowding and William G. Raisin.

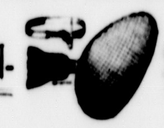
ARE YOU RUPTURED?

To Those Who Are Afflicted With RUPTURE
We Are Glad To Announce That In

EXCELSIOR NON-SKID TRUSSES



immediate relief can be had and eventually a permanent cure can be obtained.

Rupture or Hernia is a protusion of a part of the intestines, the result of an opening in the wall of the abdomen. It is generally visible, but sometimes might exist and not be noticeable, although pain will be felt. It is brought on by severe muscular work, such as heavy lifting, jumping and occasionally through severe coughing or sneezing.

Deep thought should be given the affliction of Rupture, and one so suffering should be extremely careful in the selection of a Truss.

Advancement in the mechanical treatment of Rupture, like everything else, is to be expected. The latest improvement is the NON-SKID TRUSS with the Excelsior adjustment attachment of the Pad. The Pad is Soft, Resilient and Non-Collapsible. The outer covering is of rubber, and the surface that comes in contact with the Rupture is so constructed that a counter-sunk checker surface makes the Truss Pad adhesive and POSITIVELY PREVENTS IT FROM SLIPPING. Perfect security may be felt by the wearer in lifting or in running or jumping without fear of the Truss working out of position.

Another feature of this advanced style of Truss is the sanitary part of it; the pad may be washed or scrubbed with soap and water daily. Any one who has ever worn a Truss will gladly hail the opportunity of having an article that may be kept as clean as any other part of the wearing apparel.

THIS TRUSS CAN POSITIVELY BE FITTED TO AFFORD YOU PERFECT COMFORT AND SECURITY
