PACKARDS NOW PUSHING FORWARD TO THIS POINT.

TRUCKS FOR PRANCE

forward from Detroit to an Atlantic Port. The convoy consists of 262 Packards and the trains are tweety-four hours apart.

Except that they use their lights and are not bothered by sudden gusts of shrapnel or other attentions from Fritz, the truck companies are proceeding as if in the immediate neighborhood of the front.

The soldier drivers 78 men to a train, make camp by the roadside wherever dawn greets them, cook their meals on field ranges carried in the trucks, and clamber into the three-ton carriers for their day's sleep. As soon as "breakfast" is fintshed in the evening they swing the big khaki-colored trucks into the road again and hit out toward the sea board

Besides the equipment of the soldiers there is a 15-day ration aboard for each man-the trucks carry loads of parts, also destined for the American Expeditionary Force.

This is the first night run of a sertes in which the Quartermaster's department of the United States Army is giving the drivers a foretaste of the work they will be called on to do delivery of trucks from factory to Packard trucks are given the honor of pioneering the night drives. Anothtrucks than those which have been making the daylight run

Co-operating with the Quarterman ter's Corps in the new drives as a the old are the Highway Transport Committee at Washington, and the state highway commission.

The commanding officer in charge of convoy is Major James Wheeler, L 8 Q M. C.
