—Captain B. F. Kimberly, of Denver, Colorado, is the hero of a strange adventure. He was galloping a $500 horse over the plains, when, the animal shying to one side, he was pitched out of the saddle, his right foot being caught and held in one of the stirrups. In his perilous position his head was dragged over the rough ground and dry cactus plants for a hundred yards or more. In the meantime the captain, who is a man of great nerve and powerful build, had taken a large pocket knife from his pocket, and stretching his arm to its full length, plunged the huge blade into the bowels of the beast. Not only once, but several times the knife was buried to the hilt. The brute finally came to a dead standstill, then gave a sudden lounge, and dropped dead, falling, of course, upon the captain, crushing one of his legs and inflicting other serious injuries. Captain Kimberly extricated himself from the stirrup and the carcass and crawled a mile and a quarter to the nearest house. His injuries are very severe, if not dangerous.—Chicago Times.

—A gentleman has just died in Paris who owed most of his celebrity to the quaint manner in which he managed to disembarrass himself of his creditors. No sooner did a dun present himself than he was ushered into a room hung round with a variety of mirrors, some convex, others concave, &c. In one the unfortunate creditor beheld himself with a head as flat as a flounder, in another the features were nearly as sharp as a knife, in a third he had several heads, and in a fourth he was upside down. Here he had the broad grin of a clown, there the long-drawn visage of an undertaker. On one side of the room he saw himself all head and no body; on the other side it seemed as if a dwarf had put on the boots of a giant. No applicant, however pressing, was known to resist this chamber of horrors for more than a quarter of an hour.

—It is a time honored belief in Turkey that an eclipse of the moon is caused by a huge dragon which seeks to devour it, and, in doing so, inserts his body between that luminary and the earth. A Constantinople correspondent of the Paris Temps says that at the recent eclipse observed there, a general attempt was made to frighten the dragon away by firing muskets and revolvers, shouting and beating kitchen utensils and cymbals. The muezzins mounted to their minaret balconies, and, with loud cries, besought Allah to render the moon triumphant. As in past times, it was found that the moon soon again showed its face, and congratulations were everywhere heard upon the victory gained. This luna-superstition is by no means confined to the poorer classes. The rich have an equal faith in the dragon theory.

—So completely had Lady Scott, the great novelist's daughter-in-law, who died a few weeks ago, ceased to be remembered, that her name was omitted from a very careful work—"Dod's Peerage, Baronetage and Knightage." Successful as he was in authorship and in many other ways, it was the fate of Scott, as of so many others, to fail in the very point which he really had most at heart—the founding of a family. Both his sons died childless, and even "Hugh Littlejohn," his daughter's (Mrs. Lockhart's son, had the same fate. Scott is to-day represented at Abbotsford by his great granddaughter the Hon. Mrs. Maxwell-Hope-Scott. This lady is the child of Mr. Lockhart's daughter. There is scarcely a literary celebrity of the last century in England who has a representative to-day in the male line.

—In Wales it seems that a man has to support his parents, even though he may have a wife and children, and barely enough to live on. An unfortunate sawyer earning $5 a week "when he makes full time," but who has a delicate wife and three children, and had lately buried his mother-in-law without any help from the parish, was summoned for not supporting his mother, who was in the poor-house. He pleaded that he owed £16 in consequence of sickness in his family, and was quite willing to pay for his mother, but could not until he had paid off his debts. But the bench, on the principle that sons must support parents, ordered him to pay 25 cents a week, with costs $7 50.

—Wild hogs abound in the tule lands of San Joaquin, Cal. They were doubtless originally propagated from domestic stock that have escaped into the jungle and have become as wild as the famous game infesting the Black forest, the hunting of which affords so much sport to the German nobility. They live and thrive on the succulent roots to be found in the tules, but are exceedingly shy, and it is only by accident that one catches a glimpse of them, as they instinctively avoid the haunts of men. They are trapped and caught occasionally in an ingenious manner by the tule farmers, who build small but very strong corrals or pens on their stamping ground for this purpose.

—One evening in 1849 Rachel invited Alfred de Musset to dinner, when all the other guests were men of mark in society and very rich. During dinner the great tragedienne's left hand neighbor admired a magnificent ring she wore, and every one went into raptures over it. "Well, gentlemen," said Rachel, "as this triumph of art happens to please you, I'll put it up for auction. What will you give?" In a few moments the price had gone up to $600. "And you, my poet," said Rachel to de Musset, "let me hear what you will give." "I give my heart, was the reply. "The ring is yours," said she, as she drew it from her finger and threw it on his plate. On leaving the table the author of "Caprice" wished to return the ornament, but his hostess wouldn't hear of it.

—The rapid extension of the cultivation of peanuts is due to the use now made of them for the oil they contain. Last season's product reached 2,000,000 bushels, valued at $8,000,000. The oil is in large demand as a substitute for olive and almond oils, and keeps a much longer time without becoming rancid.

—Huyghens introduced the pendulum, there has been nothing covered that can oscillate between two points more regularly than Mr. 's mind between what he'd like to and what he's allowed to do.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M. D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Respectfully,
DAVID SPRECHER.

POPLAR SPRINGS, Howard Co., Md.,
March 6, 1877.

Mr. David Sprecher—Dear Sir: In a full and fair trial with Buckeye, Champion, No. 6, Wheeler and World Reapers on our farm last harvest, it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the Buckeye was the best machine. Table Rake far excelled all others in delivering the grain. It delivers on the side out of the way in straight and compact sheaf as good as any hand rake; no waste in handling the sheaf after it is bound, which no other Self-Rake that we have ever seen would do. After twenty years' experience with machines and through trial last harvest with the Buckeye in wheat, rye, oats and grass, from the manner in which it did its work, lightness of draft and managed so easily when in motion, we do not hesitate in recommending it to farmers as the best machine now in use.
Yours Respectfully,
TRACEY & WHALEN.

WEST FRIENDSHIP, Howard Co.,
January 25, 1877.

Mr. D. Sprecher—Dear Sir: In answer to your inquiry as to the comparative merits of the Buckeye and Champion Reapers, I hesitate not to say that after a full and satisfactory trial of both, I pronounce the Buckeye the best machine I have ever handled; and that both as a Reaper and Mower, the Buckeye has, perhaps, no equal, and surely no superior. The Table Rake delivers the bundles perfectly straight or as near so as can be done, and it saves at least one binder and enables them to do far better work.
Respectfully Yours,
G. W. LEISHEAR.

GLENELG, Howard Co., Md.,
July 10, 1876.

Mr. D. Sprecher: It gives me the greatest pleasure to state that the Buckeye Reaper, with Table Rake Attachment, bought from you, far surpasses all that I had hoped for, both in reaping the grain and delivering the sheaf. Such is the excellence of the Rake that three binders can do as much as five after any other machine and do far better work. For simplicity of construction, lightness of draft, and evident durability, it cannot be excelled. In my opinion it is all that a machine can be in excellence. I advise my brother farmers to buy a Buckeye.
Yours Truly,
ENOCH SELBY

Mr. D. Sprecher—Dear Sir: I bought a combined Champion Reaper for the harvest of 1875 and was pretty well pleased with it until I saw the Buckeye perform in its contest with the Champion on the farm of Mr. David W. Burdette, in the harvest of 1876, and was so satisfied of its superiority over the Champion that I traded with you for a combined Buckeye Table Rake Machine. I am still of the same opinion and pronounce the Buckeye the best machine in use as far as I know. It cuts clean and delivers in nice condition on the side, with no tangle, and any binder can make a nice sheaf with no preparatory labor, which will not scatter the grain in gathering. Fewer binders can do as much and better work. I also like it as a front cut. It is a light draft, durable, easily managed machine. Both as a Reaper and Mower it pleases me. As a saver of grain and labor it must win the favor of the farmer.
Yours Truly,
RICHARD VANSANT,
Mt. Airy, Carroll County, Md.

Mr. D. Sprecher—Dear Sir: I am much pleased with the combined Table Rake Buckeye Reaper and Mower bought from you. In my opinion it is the only machine that gives the farmer full value for his money. It saves money, because it causes no loss of time in the harvest field, and it cuts and gathers the grain clean, and the sheaves made from it do not scatter the grain in gathering and they are in nice condition for shocking and stacking. It saves labor, as three binders can do as much and better work after it than five can after any other machine. It is the strongest light draft machine made and is more at command of the driver by use of levers, both to suit all kinds of grain and to regulate the size of the sheaf than any other. It cuts six feet and yet is easily worked by two horses. As a Mower it is all that a farmer needs. I like it also as a front cut. I would have no other. For safety, service, saving of grain and labor, easy management of the machine, and comfort, both to man and beast, I heartily commend the Buckeye.
JOHN W. RHINE.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Howard Co.,
Feb. 6, 1877.

Mr. D. Sprecher—Dear Sir: The combined Buckeye Reaper and Mower with Table Rake Attachment, bought from you, gives entire satisfaction. I believe it to be the best in use, both as a Reaper and Mower, and the Table Rake side delivery is surely far the best for making good bundles that I have seen or heard of, and I think it cannot be improved. It delivers the bundles on the side out of the way without a particle of tangle underneath and saves at least two binders as well as enables them to make nice sheaves and clean work. In some of the worst down and tangled wheat I have ever seen it went right through cutting smoothly and delivering in good shape. It delivers in good order the tallest wheat, rye and oats, as well as the shortest, and also grain leaning from the machine. In every respect, as a harvester of grain or as a mower, I deem it perfection and would have no machine but a Buckeye. This I say after testing it fully. I believe it to be durable, and I know it to be of light draft, easy on the horses and so easily managed by use of levers (with nothing slashing around the head of the driver like the Champion Rake) that a boy can drive and at the same time lower or elevate the bar and guards to suit light or heavy or down wheat and stop the rake at pleasure, making the sheaves of any size.
Respectfully Yours,
JAMES S. RIDGELY.

FEB. 12, 1877.

Mr. D. Sprecher—Dear Sir: The combined Reaper and Mower bought from you is all right, and I have never made a purchase that pleased me better. It gives me pleasure to commend it as superior to all other machines for many reasons; among which are—lightness of draft, durability, easily managed by the driver to suit short or tall, down or upright grain and I also like it as a front cut machine. But its crowning perfection is the Table Rake, which delivers the bundles on the side in the very best condition free from tangle, and is thus a labor and grain saver. After a full trial I think, both as a Reaper and Mower it cannot be beaten. I heartily indorse the Buckeye.
Yours, &c.,
JOSEPH SMALLWOOD.
"Locust Grove," Howard Co., Md.

ELLICOTT CITY, Aug. 24, 1876.

Mr. D. Sprecher: It gives me pleasure to say that the combined Table Rake Reaper and Mower bought from you gives me very great satisfaction. The Table Rake delivers the grain in better condition than I thought any rake could be made to do it. It also cuts the grain clean and as a Mower in my opinion it cannot be beaten. I hesitate not to say that both as a Reaper and Mower I think the Buckeye has no equal.
Yours &c.,
MARGARET E. POLAND.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

APRIL 1st, 1875

In again assuming sole proprietorship of the drug and apothecary business I have to thank my many patrons for their kind and generous support, and tho' I am mostly engaged in the practice of my profession, I shall continue to have care in selecting pure and fresh drugs, and make a further promise to have always careful and efficient clerks to compound and dispense them.

My stock of Patent Medicines will be varied, consisting principally of such as are of general use, and by having stood repeated trials, may be regarded the best.

I shall also keep an assortment of Toilet Articles, Brushes, Combs, Perfumes, Soaps, &c.

Also chewing tobacco and always the choicest brands of cigars that can be procured.

My motto in future will be as in the past, 'Small Profits and Cash', with a determination to please all who may favor me with their patronage.
