Howard Co., Md.

To the Farmers of Howard County: Having long felt the need of some FOOD FOR CROPS more lasting and valuable than any of the popular fertilizers of the day, I have watched with interest and sought diligently to discover a manure which would combine in large proportions, regardless of cost, those elements which would restore permanent fertility to the soil.

Having been a farmer for many years myself, with large opportunities for observation of the effect of many different fertilizers, I have never been altogether satisfied with any

The Popplein Silicated Super-Phosphate of Lime.

On an indifferent piece of land I have raised with this manure two corn crops and an oat erop, all very large, in three successive years; the last of these crops (corn) planted June 7th of this year, being now from 10 to 14 feet high, with large stalks and cars, rapidly maturing, which I will take great pleasure in showing to my reighbors.

To insure the introduction of this most valuable manure into our county, I have consented to be made sole agent for its sale in the county, and offer it to my friends and the public at the unprecedented low price of $38.00

The young man did not conclude this letter without some misgivings, "because," said he to himself, as he read the rough draft, "it looks a little bit forced -too plain to be artistic. The Daily News affirms: That human beings should die of hunger in the streets of the richest city in the world, and amid all the pomp of a system of charity so elaborate that it has become proverbial, is one of those cruel paradoxes which may well stagger philanthropists. When we consider the horrors of such a death - the fact that the victim must have traversed the successive stages of its ghastly termination in the presence of some at least of his fellow-creatures, and that the symptoms of this terrible complaint must have been unmistakable when the remedy was still possible—one feels inclined impatiently to indorse Swift's view of human nature, and to shrink horrow-struck from the picture of such brutal insensibility. Year after year rolls by, loud with the cant about social progress, and year after year are these tragedies, the foulest blots on our boasted civilization and a shame to our common nature, allowed to repeat themselves.
