to the railroad. On this, the Baltimore county side of the Patapaco river, there is a fine agricultural section tributary to this point on the road, besides well-known granite quarries, urgent for in-healthy and attractive, and it is but a repetition of what every one is talking, to state that a large and productive district would be materially benefitted, and the railroad correspondingly, by greater facilities of transportation and travel. But at "Woodstock," if it be a station, there is not a depot for the convenience and protection of passengers from weather and no shelter for produce. This cught
