

AFTER DUSK.

Faintly gleam the stars in the dark sky,
The yellow moon hangs low;
The little white-topped wavelets die On foam-girt rocks, and rippling flow On into shining pools where slow
The silver-celted twigs to and fro;
And with a clang of wings on high
The wild swans seaward fly.

The sea's soft wash among the weeds Sways hushfully away;
The wan blue heron soars and specks Back to the inland marshlets stray Where hardly ever wind-breaths fray
The brooding waters day by day;
And from yon sea-marge of tall reeds The loon his shy mate leads.

An English Girl's Impressions of an American German.
Some English ladies possibly quite a young one, has contrived to a leading Scottish periodical a description of a German given at Troy, N. Y., with some rather amusing details of the supper and the dress and appearance of American women and girls.

When American girls receive more bouquets at a party than they can conveniently carry they then around their necks. As to personal beauty, the conclusion is arrived at that English girls and rain are more favorable to the continuance of bloom and beauty than the extreme heat and cold of America. Girls of eighteen looked ten years older than they really were, and ladies past thirty wrinkled and scraggy, "as are seldom our women of 30."

How THE APOSTLES DIED.—Peter was crucified in Rome, and, at his own request, with his head downward. Andrew was crucified by being bound to a cross with his arms, on which he hung two days, exhorting the people till he expired. St. James the Great was beheaded by order of Herod, at Jerusalem. St. James the Less was thrown from a high pinnacle, then stoned, and finally killed with a fuller's club. St.
Philip was bound and hanged against a pillar. St. Bartholomew was flayed to death by command of a barbarous king.
St. Matthew was killed with a halberd, St. Thomas, while at prayer, was shot with a shower of lance and spearhead run through the body with a lance. St. Simon was crucified. Thaddeus, or Judas, was crucified to death. St. John died a natural death. St. Paul was beheaded by order of Nero.

Caution is a good thing for a man to have, but when he has got so much of it, that he is afraid to tutch a kast iron lion, for fear it will bite, ignorance is what's the matter of him.

Chronic Affections.
The proper treatment of chronic cases of disease requires a thorough knowledge of physiology and pathology. Such knowledge is not attained by study alone but by years of experience. We have in this city a physician who has, during the last four or five years made many remarkable cures, and those treated say that for all forms of chronic disease no doctor in Baltimore is more competent and uniformly successful than Dr. Underwood, of No. 166 West Fayette street. He cures cancers without the use of the knife, and all kinds of tumors by electricity. His electro-cal instruments are of the latest improvement, in fact one he has had manufactured with some improvements according to his own design. The doctor is a physician and a gentleman, and any one calling on him can depend on his judgment and skill.—Pena Saturday
