Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for November. -- This is another exceedingly brilliant number of one of the most popular periodicals of the day. The title might possibly convey the impression that it is of a sombre character; on the contrary-there is nothing brighter in literature. The leading paper, The Religion of Shakespeare, by Rev. Jno. Bayley, s a brilliant article, profusely illustrated, and making the reader familiar with the fact that but for the Bible and Shakespeare's faith in religion, he never would have been what he is Richmond has an admirable sketch of Catharine Von Bora, Luther's wife. Mr. Hudson's Pompeirand Vesavius is a deeply interesting, finely illustrated article. In the department of fietion the serial, A Thorny Path, is continued, and among the notable stories are Horse Chestnut Blooms, A True Heart, Out of the Depths, Katy Avenal, etc., etc. The poems are of unusual merit, particularly Miss Hatton's Out of the Depths of God's Twilight, After, by Miss Mathews; The Maiden's Yacht, by Mrs. Kidder, and Mrs. Skinner's Can it Be? There is an excellent sermon by the editor, Night and Morning, the Popular Exegesis, At Home and Abroad, Editor's Portfolio, etc., but it is impossible to enumerate a tithe of the good things with which the number abounds. The beautiful Litany Hymn (with music) with which the number closes composed by the lete pages, quarto, and nearly 100 engravings. The with approved sureties. annual subscription is $3; single copies 25 ets.; sent postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, N.
