THE COMING MAN.

What THE TIMES said last week about Senator Gorman as a Presidential possibility has since been borne out by the most influential newspapers of the country. Elsewhere in this issue will be found some of the most receist noteworthy utterances of such journals on

The staid and conservative newspapers of this State too are beginning to take in the situation. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore San says that Senator Hill of New York will make a fair and square fight for the Presidential nomination before the national convention, and if that the Maryland Senator can get the nomination if he wants it, is a leading editorial in the Easton Democrat, the tendency of which is to the same conclusion.

When all the facts as they exist are fully appreciated in this State, there can be no doubt of the choice of the Democracy here for the highest office in the land is deservedly popular. THE TIMES | rule. has supported him in the past and would the Holy Trinity of New York to test be glad to support him again if it were found in the best interests of Democracy for him to be the standard bearer next fall. His hold upon the popular heart is not to be wondered at in the least, for his name is associated with the Senator Gorman would permit the use Romero, Mr. Frank Thompson, Mrs of his name as a candidate, under existing circumstances we submit the following considerations as being overwhelmingly in his favor in the estimation of every Maryland Democrat:

1. He is in every respect competent to fill with distinction the high position of chief magistrate of the United States.

2. He is in thorough accord with conservative Democracy, which will in its name as the county have "Court house," platform of this year renew its pledges or more properly the capital letters "C. 4. He is a Marylander, and, other things being equal, must be preferred from motives of local pride by Marylanders to one from another State.

If, as it seems, the choice of the Dem ocracy this year is not to fall upon son of the great Empire State, and Senator Gorman will not accept a nomination, then, of course, the chances of some man from the Northwest loom up. But if the man from Maryland will accept, he will prove the strongest candi date in the United States and will b elected President without a shadow of

The bill authorizing the killing of dogs which prev on sheep-folds in Gar rett county, might well be made applicable to the entire State. Law or no law, the prudent Howard county farmer and his shot-gun will very likely continue to make it warm for stray sheep-killing curs.

Incessant work has aggravated his trouble. In his deaththe Democratic party will sustain just now a well-nigh irreparable loss. Mr. McMillan will take up Mr. Springer's work. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided in favor of the United States in the case brought up by the governments of Great Britain and Canada, in the name of Thomas Henry Cooper, owner of the schooner W. P. Sayward, to determine the right of the United States to exercise exclusive juris diction over the seal fisheries in Behring Sea. The court holds that it has the right to review the decision of the Alaskan court, but that the jurisdiction of the Alaskan court in the case appears fully on the face of the proceedings, and therefore the question of jurisdiction he can't get it, his strength will be thrown cannot be raised now. GENERAL NEWS NOTES,

The wife of James G. Blaine, Jr., has been granted a divorce from her wayward husband who received a scorching at the hand of Judge Thomas, of Deadopinion. The divorce is given for desertion and non-support. The plaintiff a month, and $1,060 for the expenses of Secretary Blaine has given to the pres marriage of his son, James G. Blaine, Jr., to Miss Marie Nevins. Mr. Blaine says his family have so far borne quietly every publication inspired by the young wife, but the decision of the judge at Deadwood, S. D, makes it impossible for them longer to remain silent. Mr. Blaine quotes a letter which he wrote to Rev. Thomas I. Ducey, the Catholic priest who performed the ceremony, criticising the priests's course in marry ing the young couple without communicating with the young man's parents. Mr. Blaine charges that Miss Nevins, who was twenty-one years old, tempted his books, and led him blindly to the al-

In the March Periodicals. Scribner's Magazine for March conains many noteworthy contributions. The opening pages have the widely announced last poem written by the late James Russell Lowell, entitled "On a Bust of General Grant," which is in the vein of Mr. Lowell's highest patriotism, ranking with the famous "Commemoration Ode." It includes a fac-simile of one of the stanzas, showing the author's interlineations. Those interested in artlatic subjects will find two articles appealing particularly to their tastes-the third and concluding paper by W. A. Coffin, on "American Illustration of To day," with examples of the works of Abbey, Reinhart, Smedley, Frost, Pennell, Bacher, Thulstrup, Pyle, Gibson, Loomis, Sterner and Van Shaik: and Mr. Aphthrop's second article on "Paris Theatres and Concerts"-this one having particular application to the Opera, the Opera-Comique, and the Conservatoire. There are portraits of Lassalle, Miss Eames (Mrs. Julian Story), Mme Rose Caron, and Mlle Horwitz, with illustrations of the grand staircase at the Opera, the stage between the acts, etc., by the French artists, Sinibaldi and Morand. The Atlantic Monthly (Houghton Mifflin & Co., Boston) for March opens with an article by the Rev. Brooke Herford, the popular Boston clergy-"An Old English Town-Mr. Crawford continues his serial of Italian life, "Don Orsino," and Miss Isabel F. Edith Thomas, under the fanciful title of "The Little Children of Cybele," describes in a half-serious, half fanciful fashion, the habits of the swallow, the squirrel, the tortoise, the chipmunk, and other dumb pensioners of nature, interspersed here and there with short oems, also by Miss Thomas. The most important article in the number, however, is "Why the Men of '61 fought for the Union," by Major General Jacob

Dolson Cox (at one time Governor of Ohio, and Secretary of the Interior, and now Dean of the Cincinnati Law School). Another important article is by Professor George Herbert Palmer, af Harvard University, who writes on 'Doubts about University Extension." "Education" and Agriculture. Editor of THE TIMES:

I have been inter sted in reading Dr. Elzey's article on the loss of rural population and the wood, South Dakota, in rendering his agricultural depression resulting there from. For the past decade, and for the decade before it as well, the casual obgets the custody of the children, $100 | server has seen in every rural district boys and girls, white and colored, running to school and getting disciplined out of manual labor, and, as a result, afterward running to the cities and seekpersonal statement relating to the ing occupations congenial to the abil ities that education formed. They are clerks, they are teachers, or something similar, or they are nothing. Their fathers worked on the farm or the railroad, but they are out of all. Every farmer knows that without the aid of machinery, his crops would rot on the ground. Even with it the situation is one of trepidation to him continually-help is scarce. The papers inform us that in some places at the South, on account of the exedus of colored help, the situation is really alarming. It would be interesting to his son, who was under eighteen, from know whether those localities are not the very ones that the would-be philantar. Mr. Blaine asserts that the young thropists of the North have spent wan's mother did all in her power to large sums on in the education of the promote the happiness of the young colored people. Every now and then some tich man or woman will die at the North and leave a fortune for the education of the colored people of the South. It results in changing the tenor of their lives, and brings them, and through them their country, into unrest and trouble. It is a fact that "'Tis education forms the common mind"-forms the inclinations which boys and girls have when they grow up and forms the abilities which they have for life-work. If it is the one-sided thing that it appears to be and there are only the city openings awaiting those who have it, we cannot expect other than the exodus to the ci ties which we see. Education, in the proper sense of the word, should be that which fits the boy or girl for life-work in callings which they are by birth and surroundings naturally expected to fill. bach, of Philadelphia, her fortune of Genuises may branch out as exceptions; but the ordinary run of people are in-tended for "the good old way."
