THE PASTORATE OF EMORY.

Rev. J. H. Marsh Says His Flock Has Been Misrepresented.

There is indignation among the parishioners of Rev. J. II. Marsh, pastor of Emory M. E. Church, Ellicott City, at the false light in which it is alleged the congregation was placed by a delegation which waited upon Bishop Foster in the closing hours of the conference and before the appointments had been finally settled, and a meeting of the official board will be held tomorrow (Sunday) to correct the impression that Mr. Marsh's transfer was desired. Mr. Marsh was seen by a representative of THE TIMES and said:

They came in at the last moment after the most of the appointments had been finally settled, and every one had taken it for granted that I would return to Ellicott City. When told that a delegation had come in at the last moment to protest against my return to Emory, I told Presiding Elder Neal that now under no circumstances would I return to Ellicott City. I would leave the conference rather. Upon my return nome, however, I found my members indignant at the light in which they had been placed, and as much thunderstruck as myself at the representation which had been made. All my efforts to find who mispresented the good people of my church have been in vain. I would rather trust my pocket book or life in the hands of the worst convict in the penitentiary than in the hands of individuals who would make such a misrepresentation as I believe was made to Bishop Foster. I go to Long Green circuit, Baltimore county, where 24 years ago I spent three of the happiest years of my life in the itinerancy. It is a strong charge and pays equally as well as Elli cott City. While my relations with the good people of Emory have been pleas ant. AFFAIRS AND NEEDS OF THE HIGH-LAND LYCEUM.

Result of the Recent Oyster Supper-Plans for Lifting the Lyceum's Indebtedness -China Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Amos -Funeral of Mrs. B. S Dixon-Other

News of the County. HIGHLAND, March 8.—In consequence of unfavorable weather, the oyster supper held recently in the Lyceum here was not a financial success, the net proceeds-amounting to only $24.16. The expenses were very heavy, amounting to $33, yet the directors are perfectly satisfied with the result of the entertainment, as it was very little trouble and everything passed off so pleasantly, not withstanding the very unpropitious weather. The Lyceum, including the piano and furniture, is insured for two thousand dollars on the three-year plan. The premium, $20, was paid out of the proceeds of the supper, and the balance be ing insufficient to pay the interest on the mortgage due since January last, several young people came forward and very kindly volunteered to arrange a dramatic entertainment in order to given the first week after Easter, about the 22nd of April. The very generous thought was prompted by the Misses Brown, of Brighton. Mr. Kenneth Williard, of Clarksville, by request of the directors, will have charge of the entertainment. The directors have an eye on the piece of land lying between the Lyceum and the store occupied by Mr. Rannie. Indeed it is absolutely necessary to have more land in the Lyceum lot if only for the accommodation of vehicles. The entertainments there are very popular and very largely attended. The neighborhood people arrive early in order to secure good positions for their teams, but the unwary, guileless stranger attracted from a distance, has frequently in the Trysinger, editor Baltimore Methodist: past experienced great embarassment by hitching at an unfriendly fence. The lot could be planted thickly with well grown shade trees, and in a few years the Lyceum would be surrounded with a beautiful grove which would not only be adapted for summer entertain ments, but would add very considerably to the appearance of the village, It is not possible to remove the Lyceum to a grove, but it is very possible to bring a grove, a beautiful grove, to the Lyceum As the stockholders have invested only $600 in a property valued at $2,500 (the balance having been raised by gifts and various entertainments) the directors think of asking them to buy the piece of land. If this plan fails, they will try to sell ten shares of stock. The Lyceum is thoroughly equipped with every convenience and there remains only a small debt of $375.
