THE OFFICIAL BOARD OF EMORY M E. CHURCH PROTEST.

Rev. J. H. Marsh's Removal Was Against Their Wishes-The Presiding Elder's Letter-The Unknown Delegation That Waited on Hishop Foster-A New Bridge

at Savage-Other Matters. At the conclusion of Rev. J. H. Marsh's farewell sermon at Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, Ellicott City, last Sunday morning, Mr. William J. Robinson, of the official board, arose and read a letter from Rev. J. St. Clair Neal, presiding elder of the West Baltimore district, to which Emory church belongs, stating that Mr. Marsh's removal from his pastorate here after two the usual term, had been in the face of ing counties. It goes where other payears' service and before completion of the presiding elder's protest; that Bishop Foster had stated that he had been waited upon by a delegation proporting to tepresent Emory and protesting against two papers in this part of Maryland. Its had never seen the face of a single member of that delegation. After reading the the representation made to the Bishop and disavowing any connection with or knowledge of the identity of the persons who, according to the resolution, acted entirely without warrant. The resolutions are signed by the entire official

After the reading of the resolutions Mr. Marsh stated that the action of the official board was a complete vindication of all parties affected by the mispresentations made, and asked that the most earnest support be given his successor, Rev. D. M. Browning, who comes from Washington. Mr. Marsh goes to Long Green Circuit, Baltimore county. The removal of Mr. Marsh caused quite a flurry here. He states his belief that designing outsiders misrepresented the wishes of his flock to Bishop Fos-Mr. Marsh, Monday, made a speech at the Baltimore Methodist preachers' meeting in which he related the circumstances which led to his removal. He said: "My appointment is a de lightful one, and by the change I am $300 better off. But the church at Ellicott City, which I have served for two years, has been hurt. I have been swung up from my place and sent to Long Green. If I had remained the congregation intended to increase my salary $100. The Bishop refused to tell who had influenced him in making the appointment. I will say that I believe me of the bishops are not bishops in the sense of the discipline." The statement of the case of Mr. Marsh caused a renewal of the discussion of the tenure of the episcopacy, which has been before the meeting several times recently.

Rev. George C. Bacon said: "The Wesleyan Church in England gets along without any bishops. Things are coming to such a pass that we will be crushed between the upper and nether millstones if something is not done. If we do not watch we will go to the dogs." M. Courtenay advocated modifications of the episcopacy. "I have heard it said that Bishop Foster said that God could not have made better appointments under the circumstances at this conference.'

Some one interrupted Dr. Courtenay by saying that the Bishop had said, They were the best possible appoint-

"This claim," continued Dr. Courtenay "goes further than the claim of the infallibility of the Pope in the administration of church affairs." I do not think Bishop Foster would soberly lay claim to suc infallibility. I presume he would qualify the remark." Referring to a remark made by Bishop Foster at the close of the conference, referring to certain ministers as "trash." Dr. Courtenay continued: "In uttering that word Bishop Foster put a brand on Methodist preach ers that burned to the centre of the heart. I am ashamed of my bishop, not of my brethren. We should testify our unwillingness to sit under this imputation. There is not a Catholic bishop who would have dared to do with a rector what Bishop Foster did with Mr. Marsh. I doubt whether we have many Methodist bishops who would do it. A few more such scenes as we have witnessed and we will end the power of Methodist bishops." Dr. Courtenay's speech was delivered with perfect calmness and deliberation, and he was frequently interrupted with applause. Rev. M. F. B. Rice said: "I could say something about a brother which would be as a bomb thrown in here. I have been told about a secret meeting held six years ago, when things were said about me and I had no opportunity to go in and explain. I never heard anything of the charge until last Saturday. It has come to the point now that the only chance for a man is in the ability of the presiding elders to care for him Unless the bond of secrecy is lifted from these presiding elders men will be stabbed in the back by self-constituted committees of churches. What intrigues are hatched at these secret meetings of the Bishop and presiding elders?" · Mr. Bacon said Mr. Rice was not discussing the question, and was making it appear that there were really a set of criminals in the Bishop's cabinet. "I am trying to show," said Mr. Rice, "thetbings that are done in secret. Secrecy is one of the methods which renders injustice to churches and preachers. Unless modifications of the episcopacy come there will be revolution in our ministry just as sure as day follows night. Men will not always be dragooned by the bishops."

A NEW BRIDGE WANTED.

A delegation from the Sixth district waited upon the county commissioners Tuesday to ask for a bridge over the Middle Patuxent at Savage. An iron structure of about 115 feet span is desired This is to obviate a detour of nearly two miles necessary to those opproaching Savage from the side of the river opposite to that upon which the village proper is situated.

Messrs. Wm. H. Baldwin, Jr., & Co. proprietors of the Savage cotton factory, agree to give the ground for a road to begin at and connect with the Guilford road at its junction with Baltimore street, thence to the river and across to con nect with the road leading from the Columbia road to the Baltimore and Washington pike. The board agreed to visit the site of the proposed structure at an early day.

The delegation was composed of Dr. T. W. Linthicum, Messrs. Wm. II. Baldwin, Jr., Thomas L. Marriott, Robert pistol. Murray at once disarmed her, up a wide field for fun and satire. Morang, Joseph H. The case was sent to T. Slater. county clerk John H. Owings and others. A petition was presented bearing 159 signatures, including those of Senator Gorman, Chief Judge Reuben Dorsey of the Orphans' Court, Messrs. Louis P. Haslup, member of the House of Delegates, Wm. II. Baldwin, Jr., Ed. win Warfield, James A. Gary, Thomas H. Hunt and others of well-known peo le. Accompanying the petition were also favorable letters from Senator Gorman and Rev. J. Lanahan, Speeches were made before the board by Messrs, Baldwin, Marriott, Macgill, Dr. Linthi cum and others. After a hearing the delegation dined at the Howard House.

The regular meeting of the B & O's directors took place Wednesday. For a hard swearer. February 1892 there was a marked in crease in the gross carnings, but also an unusually heavy increase in expenses, leaving a decrease of net earnings of $94.157 in comparison with February, 1891. The increase in expenses is attributed to necessary facilities for handling the immense freight hauled during the month, the net results of which will be shown later on.

The earnings for February, 1892, as compared with the same period of 1891, were: On all lines east of the Ohio River, $1,385,211; increase, $80,191; expenses, $1,057,894; increase, $168,638; net decrease, $88,447. On the lines west of the Ohio River the earnings were $479.848; increase, $75,848; expenses, $418,598; increase, $81,558; net decrease, $5,710. The summary of the entire system east and west of the Ohio River, shows that the earnings were $1,865,059; increase, $156,039; expenses, $1,476,492; increase, $250,196; net decrease, $94,157. MR. ROGERS' ELOQUENCE.

IN THE SENATE.

Annapolis, March 17 .- Senator Rogers, of Howard county, Tuesday made his appearance in the Senatorial arena of debate and distinguished himself to a degree which must be most gratifying to both himself and his con- majority report in the Calvert county stituents. The special order for one o'clock

> Senator Toadvine. He was opposed by Senator Brown, of Queen Anne's, who claimed that he was opposed to the bill and that his people were opposed to it because they were afraid that politics would enter into the public school system if the appointment was given to the Governor; that he was a politician necessarily, and that the efficiency of the system would become greatly impaired. Senator Pearre, the Republican member from Alleghany, then arose and opposed the bill in a most vigorous and eloquent speech, deprecating a change in the law, pecause the law was perfectly constitutional; that whenever Democrats wished to make a change in the law, they cried in the holy name of the Constitution, 'unconstitutional,' and it was only a subterfuge to put politicians in possess ion of the appointing power.

> This brought Senator Rogers to his feet and in a few moments the Senate chamber was filled with a dense throng attracted by the eloquence of the Sena tor from Howard. Ilis telling points soon made the Senator from Alleghany uncomfortable, moving him to constant interruptions, by question after question to the now thoroughly animated Howard countian, only to be worsted by every reply from Mr. Rogers, much to the delight of the assembled crowd. Mr. Rogers contended that the law giving the appointment to the judges was unconstitutional and in support of that proposition cited the opinious of Judges Alvey, McSherry, Robinson, Watters, Hammond, Jones and others, and rested upon the same as sufficient to support his assertion of its unconstitu ionality. He called upon the Senators

Senator Rogers further urged that the E. B. Prettyman, principal of the State Normal School, as to the efficiency of the respective boards appointed by the Governor and by the judges, Mr. Prettyman replied that they were so uniformly zealous in their devotion to the best in terests of the school system, that he was unable to draw any distinction.

f the Governor made the appointments, that the State Board of Education was appointed by the Governor and no one charged that there was a lack of interest or efficiency in that board and further that Democratic judges ap pointed Democratic boards and there was no charge against any boards of school commissioners. Mr. Pearre here said that Republican judges in his district had continued Democratic commissioners and a Democratic examiner, because of shown by Mr. Rogers that instead of appointing these gentlemen the appointing power had only allowed then: to hold over, and as soon as the Legislature adjourned be predicted that their official heads would fall. They had been suffered to remain for a time to hoodwink the present Legislature. Mr. Rogers had some of the big guns had the best of the argument right straight through. When he had concluded, there was a rush from all over the Senate chamber to grasp his hand in congratulation and he was the lion of the hour. By evening the fame of the Howard countian's eloquence had spread all over Annapolis, and Senator Rogers was continually stopped on the streets in passing to and from his apartments. by admirers with congratulations to offer. Wyman, Gaston Manly, C. Eckert, B. H. Wallen horst, James Heavey, Daniel Lauman U. Jeanneret, John U. O'brien, A. H Trueheart, Robert T. Baker and others. It was urged that Ellicott City at present has to stand the liquor traffic without any compensation in the way of revenues for either town or county. A uniform and stringent high licerse law imposing greater restrictions than at present exist and applicable to the entire town was desired. Such a measure, it was claimed, would be in the interests of temperance, morals and good government. The present Baltimore county system of regulating the liquor traflic was not properly restricted and inefficient. Rev. 11. Branch and Mr. Horace Isaac appeared in opposition to changing conditions at present governing the liquor traffic. They urged that people owning property in Ellicott City, but residing outside the limits were entitled to no voice in the matter. Ugly Girls. Most ugly girls have something pretty about them, and the few who know that they cannot claim even this limited endowment become pathetic to men of a generous mind, exciting pity, and we all know what pity is akin to under favorable conditions. recall a maiden of this stamp who secured a handsome and devoted husband by her very hopelessness of winning his preference by the tender humility of her worship of himself. Living in the same house, the constant appeal to his chivalry became more powerful at last than all the varied charms of other women he might have Ugly girls, however, generally carry their consolation with them in a blessed unconsciousness of their want of good looks. Have we not all seen them stand before a mirror noting the effect of a color or a new fashion with an undisguised expression of admiration on their faces?-very much like the ugly young man who ties his cravat and smiles at his image in the glass with the comforting mental comment, "Not handsome, but fascinating!"

The statement that "ugly girls are generally left to run to waste as unappropriated blessings," is not supported by evidence. Who has not met wives as ugly as any old maid in his list of acquaintances? It is safe to make the broad generalization that an ugly girl, all other things being equal, is likely to have fewer offers than a the one offer which will make her a happy wife. It may be doubted whether a plu rality of lovers is an unmixed advantage to a girl; one good lover, the elect man, attracted to her by affinity in its highest sense, is forever enough.—Francis Albert

The mother who has once been roused by the hoarse, barking cough so unmistakable in its warning is never likely to forget the thrill of terror which seemed to make her very heart stop beating. No matter whether it be true or false croup, the alarm at the moment is the same, and in neither case is there any time to be lost. If the cough does not seem very tight and is not accompanied by strangling, begin giving sirup of ipecac in doses of fifteen drops every twenty minutes. Continue this until the child's breathing is relieved or until he vomits. But should he awake with symptoms of choking and great difficulty of breathing, administer at once a teaspoonful of the ipecac, into which has been stirred a good pinch of powdered Should this not cause vomiting in fifteen minutes, repeat the dose and assist its action by making the child drink a cupful of warm water. Place him in as hot a bath as he can bear-about 100 degrees-and keep him there at least ten minutes spreading blankets over the tub to prevent the water cooling. He should be supported in a reclining position, so that as much of his body as possible may be under water. When he is taken out, roll him at once in heated blankets and put him to bed in a warm but well ventilated room. He may sometimes be relieved by inhaling steam. If possible, get a doctor immediately.
