VERDICT REACHED.

A Baltimore Jury Says John A. Denton is Guilty as Indicted.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS.

The Case Given to the Jury Late Friday Afternoon.

THE DEFENSE APPEALS.

THE GROUND GENERAL EXCEPTIONS TO THE STATE'S TESTIMONY.

Sentence of Three Years in the Penitentiary Suspended Pending the Appeal-The Traverser Released on $2,000 Bail-Surprise Expressed by Many at the Re sult-Mr. Denton Now at His Home in Ellicott City.

[From THE TIMES Extra of Last Saturday.] guilty was brought in. An appeal was at once taken by counsel for the traverser. Judge Wright announced that sentence would be three years in the penitentiary. Sentence was suspended pending the appeal. Bail of $2,000 was demanded by the court. Counsel for and Senator John G. Rogers would be giving the testimony presented.

In his concluding argument Friday Mr. Gans said: "The case is narrowed down to two points which must be proved: First, that Denton received money as agent of the county commissioners. Second, that he appropriated it to his own use.

"The receipt shows that Denton acted as the agent of Davis. The law makes his position that. The evidence of Sunderland and the collectors show this We could stop right here and ask you for a verdict, but we don't propose to acquit him on a mere technicality. "The second point rests on Davis' tes

"Do the books show $183.80 collected by Davis was appropriated by Denton? The Times Extra last Saturday morn-I asked Sunderland if there was any way of determining from the books whether or not Davis had paid in this particular item. He said no, because collectors paid in lump sums. He time forgotten. conceded that it might be in a lump sum of$2,000 paid in September after the alleged embezzlement. "The books of the county commissionthe collectors, but show that $47,505.43 was actually paid in. We have to take the books as testimony. If books are wrong, let us indict the ser was indicted, was sufficient to indi-county commissioners." Mr. Gans then criticised Mr. Davis' testimony very severely and said that Davis didn't know what he collected in 1889. "Even if he intended to be honest he could not have proper recollection of his transactions. Denton's guilt consisted in political favoritism in giving Davis preference by not placing stocks on the latter's books. The object of this was that Davis might be given more stocks to collect than the other collectors and that these other collectors might not get wind of it. There's lots of polltics back of this whole case. "Whipps testimony was straight and honest. It showed that Davis didn't | mined. know what he had collected."

Mr. Gans then attacked Mr. Davis' character and said that the testimony showed that he had left sums aggrega ing $723.98 out of his tax returns which returns he had sworn to.

"Davis has testified that there were no stocks on his book for 1888. Whipps and Epworth League Day." A number testified that he saw the stocks in Davis' book. Who lies? Whipps has no work among young people are expected motive to antagonize Davis. With the to be present on that day, and invita taxes on the property of Nathaniel Davis unpaid, the county books show that people's societies requesting them Wm. Davis over-paid what he was charged with on his tax book enthusiasm and interest is being mani by $691.21. Davis said he supposed he had paid this out of his own coming meeting. Bishop E. R. Hendrix, pocket. Now whatever else Davis may be, he is no fool, and he is certainly not likely to spend his own money this way.' began speaking at 2.15 and continued until 4 o'clock. His argument was exhaustive, able and at times impassioned. He inveighed vehemently against Denton, dwelling upon the enormity of his offence. Mr. Wilcox's testimony, he said, was that he had paid the money which Denton was charged with embezzling in cash over the counter and had identified Denton in court.

Mr. McGuire read from the public general laws to show that the county commissioners have authority to raise and collect taxes, and argued that the title to taxes is in the board.

Taking up the question of the large quantities of scrip turned in by Davis, that he said was quite natural, as the collector of the first collection district habitually took up the scrip with which the State's Attorney, county clerk and other public officers were paid.

"The court has admitted", said Mr. McGuire, "the evidence upon which at one time it looked as if I were going out of court. Therefore it is not necessary for me to argue now the admissibility of the receipt which Denton gave for the $183.80. It must be clear that the county commissioners have the title to county taxes." Mr. McGuire argued exhaustively the various transactions in which he claimed the evidence showed Denton had been engaged as part of systematic fraud perpetrated upon the county. For 1889, he said, over $199,000 of the taxable basis of Howard county in stocks had been placed on no collector's

In conclusion he said: "No corpora tion taxes went into Davis' pocket The traverser retained all. Davis paid Denton in money, because, as the evidence shows, Denton didn't want checks, he wanted cash. "Country people are not as accustomed to the intricacies of business as are city people, and there is excuse for such mistakes as Davis and others may have made in good faith, believing in the in tegrity of a trusted official, a man who had borne a good reputation. Such mistakes were not as grave as those made by the bank officers who had paid their tax bills to incompetent authority and accepted checks not one of which has been legally endorsed." The impression had become current Bateman's, Sykesville.

that the traverser would be acquitted THE LOCAL NEWS FIELD. and expressions of surprise at the verdict were heard. Senator Rogers had gone home, and when informed of the verdict was much surprised. Mr. Denton returned to his home in Ellicott City Friday night.

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Sentence Stricken Out Pending Argument before Supreme Beuch.

On Monday the appeal and judgment in the case of John A. Denton, convicted in the Baltimore Criminal Court of embezzlement, were withdrawn, and a motion for a new trial was filed. The mothe meeting of this body, it being governed altogether by its own discretion or convenience.

Upon motion for a new trial being made the Lail of the traverser was re newed. Mr. Denton has been at his home in Ellicott City since the trial.

It was the only paper giving a full prisoner stated thet Messrs. George A. account of the trial as the regular edition Howard, of Dayton, Howard county, of The Times had been the only paper It is needless to say, therefore, that while Ellicott City gets the Baltimore daily papers as early as residents of Baltimore, and is also supposed to have several local papers, the public would have been in entire darkness regarding the testimony, argument and details of the most famous trial to which the eyes of Howard county have ever been directed, had it not been for THE TIMES. One enthusiastic friend and admirer of this paper said Saturday morning: "THE TIMES is the only newspaper published in Ellicott City.

In the regular issue of THE TIMES this week are given the concluding details of the famous trial, as taken from THE TIMES Extra of Saturday last. This is for the benefit of readers who may no have seen the extra.

The testimony as given in THE TIMES, and the result of the trial, as given in ing, started everybody in Ellicott City to talking. In the stores and business places knots of men were gathered arguing the case over and over again, the isual routine of the day being for the Other who looked at the matter from the State's standpoint thought that the collateral evidence as to other transactions, similar to the one for which the travercate a system of wrong and that the jury was warranted in its action.

It is upon this very point that a big fight may yet be made when the case comes before the Supreme Bench. The testimony upon which the matter is believed largely to hinge is that of Mr. Wm. Davis, as heretofore given, and the defense claim it was set at naught by the testimony of Mr. Robert L. Whipps which, it is held, was point-blank contradictory in several particulars.

State's Attorney McGuire naturally felt professional gratification at the result of the trial of which he had entire charge, assisted by Deputy State's Attorney Wm. F. Campbell, of Baltimore, He will relax no effort in further prosecution until the case is finally deter-

906 551-6 1821-6 182 New Hampshire cast one vote for Lincoln and one vote for Reed. Rhode ls'and gave Reed one vote and Tennesse gave him two more, making a total of four votes for the ex-speaker.

TAKING THE VOTE.

President Harrison Nominated When Texas Is Reached. MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—Promptly at 11:30 yesterday, when the vast hall was lense with humanity, Chairman Mc-Kinley called the convention to order, and prayer was delivered, and immediately after it was announced that Pennsylvania had selected David Martin for its representative on the national committee, to succeed Senator Quay, and that Indiana has as yet made no choice. The call of states for the nomination of candidates began at 2:15 p. m. Senator Wolcott, answering for Colorado, put the name of James G. Blaine in nomination in a fiery speech, which often stirred the vast assemblage into After the uproar over the speech of Senator Wolcott had subsided the call of states proceeded without interruption until Indiana was reached, when the venerable ex-Secretary Richard Thompson, who on Thursday celebrated the completed of his 83d year, ascended the platform to place in nomination the present chief magistrate. When Ohio was reached the chairman asked to have the state passed, but Governor Foraker jumped into the aisle and announced that the delegation had been polled, he demanded the announcement of the vote. "If any one wants to challenge it then he can," said Governor Foraker. The chairman stepped into the aisle, and amid an almost perfect silence announced the vote: Harrison,

2: McKinley, 44. The convention went wild for a minute, while Chairman Mc-Kinley, his face whiter, if possible, than usual, pounded the table with his gavel. As the cheering ceased the chairman said in a clear, firm tone: "I challenge that vote. There was an outburst of applause from the Harrison men. "You're not a member of the delegation," shouted a delegate. The Chairman-1 am a member of the Ohio delegation.

tired from it and your alternate has taken your place. We don't own you in the delegation. (Cries of "Good," and cheers.) Chairman McKinley-The chair overrules the point of order. The secretary will call the roll. The secretary did so, the first name being McKinley who re-

and was cheered.

Governor Foraker-But you have re-

When Texas' twenty-two votes for Harrison, giving him the necessary votes to nominate him, was announce by the chairman of the delegation there was no chance for the chairman of the delegation to announce the balance of the vote of the delegation. The delegates had been sitting with roll calls in their hands keeping tally on the vote. They knew what the vote of Texas | a vote of 407 to 260 decided to adjourn meant, and as the "Harrison twenty two" came out, every Harrison man jumped to his feet, yelling like mad. Hats were thrown across the hall and there was great confusion. The band struck up "Hail to the Chief," which only increased the enthusiasm. The delegates went up and down the aisles cheering. When the call had been completed a murmur of conversation filled the air, while the clerks at their desks went over the figures and cast up the vote. There was silence as the secretary said: "Whole number of votes cast, 904 1-3 necessary to choice, 453. Benjamin Harrison received 535 1-6; James G. Blaine received 182 1-6; William Mc-Kinley, 182; Robert T. Lincoln, 1; Thomas B. Reed, 4."

the votes cast has received the nomins-tion of the convention. Shall it be unanimous? (Loud cries of "Yes.") The nomination is made unanimous.

A motion to take a recess till 8 p. m. was immediately offered and agreed to.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

The Ex-Minister to France Wins Without a Contest. MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—The nominee for the vice presidency was selected in a meeting of the New York delega-tion, held an hour before the convention was called to order. By tacit consent the nomination of vice presidential candidates was left to the New York dele-

The delegation at its meeting was not long in arriving at the conclusion to present the name of ex-Minister Whitelaw Reid. The only other man presented was that of Vice President Morton, and in the end the agreement upon Mr. Reid was unanimous. It was nearly 9 o'clock last night when Chairman McKinley called the convention to order. When New York was reached in the call of states State Senator O'Connor, in a neat speech, placed Whitelaw Reid in nomination. He was followed by General Horace Porter and Governor Bulkley, of Connecticut, both of whom lauded the candidate's diplomacy. A Tennessee delegate named ex-Speaker Reed, but withdrew the nomination at the request of the Maine delegation, and Reid was named by acclamation. After passing the usual votes of thanks the convention adjourned sine die. THE PROCEEDINGS.

Governor McKinley Chosen to Precide Over the Deliberations. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 7.—At 12 o'clock today Chairman Clarkson called the national Republican convention to order. Mr. Clarkson used for this purpose a remarkable gavel which had been made for the occasion. It is handsomely carved and mounted with silver. The handle is inscribed with date and temporary chairman, and made a ringing speech. He devoted considerable of his time to the injustice of Democratic denial of the freedom of suffrage in the south. These references finally resulted in the audience calling "Reed, Reed, Reed!" and calls for him to come forward. Reed finally rose and went to the platform and made a brief speech, after which the work of the organization was proceeded with. MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.-Nearly every delegate was in his seat when, shortly after 11 o'clock this forenoon, Temporary Chairman Fassett called the national Republican convention to order. After the report of the committee on credentials and permanent organization had been disposed of Governor McKinley, of Ohio, was introduced as permanent chairman of the convention. He was received with salvos of applause as he came to he chair, and his speech of acceptance was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic cheers. When the ap-plause had subsided Mr. McKinley delivered his speech of acceptance, and was frequently interrupted by cheers during its delivery.

When McKinley had concluded there were lond calls by the galleries, which apprehended a short session, for Fred Douglass, but Mr. Douglass declined to interrupt the proceedings, and his ad mirers were forced to be contented with

After the names of the national committeemen had been presented Chairman McKinley announced as the next business in order the presentation of candidates for the nomination for president, but was pulled up with a short turn by Senator Ingalis, who called for the reading of rule 6, which prohibited proceeding to a nomination until after the adoption of the platform. On motion of a California delegate the convention then adjourned, and a rush was made for the open air. MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.-At 11:22 ves lerday Crair nan McKinley, with a

It was some minutes before the buzz of conversation ceased and the delegates took their seats and gave their attention to business. Rev. Mr. Brush, D. D., chancellor of the university of South Dakota, delivered the opening prayer. The committee on credentials not being ready to report the convention by until 8 o'clock p. m. It was 8:50 last night when the convention was called to order. Chairman Coggswell presented the majority port of the credentials committee. A minority report was also presented, and the convention wrangled over the two reports until 1 o'clock this morning, "federal interference" being frequently alluded to and vigorously combatted. Finally the question came to a vote, and the majority report was sust # ned-476 to 365. This was a decided victory for the Harrison men.

THE PLATFORM. Principles Upon Which Republicans

Will Fight the Battle of '92. The Epresentatives of the Republicans of the United States, assembled in general con-vention on the shores of the Mississippi river, the everlasting bond of a industructible repub-lic whose most glorious chapter of history is the record of the Republican party, congratuthe record of the Republican party, congratu-late their countrymen on the majestic march of the nation under the banners inscribed with the psinciples of our platform of 1888, vindi-cated by victory at the polls and prosperity in our fields, workshops and mines, and make the following declaration of principles: The Tariff—We reaftern the American doctrine of protection. We call attention to its growth abroad. We maintain that the pros-perous condition of our country is largely due perons condition to our country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of the Republi-can congress. We believe that all articles which cannot be produced in the United States, except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty, and that on all imports coming into com-petition with the products of American labor there should be duties levied equal to the dif-ference between wages abroad and a born ference between wages abroad and at home. We assert that the prices of manufactured articles have been reduced under the operations of the tariff act of 1830. We denounce the efforts of the Democratic majority of the house to destroy our tariff laws by piecemeal, as manifested by their attacks on wool, lead and lead ore, and we ask the people for their judgment thereon.

We point to the success of the Republican policy of reciprocity, under which export trade has vastly increased and new and enlarged markets have been opened for the products of our farms and workshops. We remind the people of the bitter opposition of the Democratic party to this practical business measure and claim that, executed by a Republican administration, our present laws will eventually give us control of the trade of Silver—The American people from tradition and interest favor bi-metalism, and the Re-publican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such re-striction, and under such provisions, to be determined by contemplation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt paying power of the dollar whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal. The interests of the producers of the country, its farmers and its workingmen demand that every dollar, paper or coin, issued by the government shall be as good as any other. We commend the wise and patriotic steps already taken by our government to secure an inter-national conference to adopt such measures as will insure a parity of value between gold and silver for use as money throughout the Elections-We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot in all public elections, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as east; that such laws shall be enacted and enforced as will secure to every citizen, be he rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, this sovereign right, guaranteed by the constitution, the free and honest popular ballot; the just and equal representation of all the people as well as the just and equal protection under the laws as the foundation of our Republican institutions, and the party will never relax its efforts until the integrity of the ballot and the purity of elections shall be fully guaranteed and protected in every state.

Southern Outrages—We denounce the continued inhuman outrages perpetrated on American citizens for political reasons in certain states of the Union. Foreign Relations-We favor the extension of our foreign commerce; the restoration of our mercantile marine by home built ships, and the construction of a navy for the protection of our national interests, the honor of our flag, its maintenance of the most friendly relations with foreign powers; entangling alli-ances with none, and the protection of the rights of the fishermen. We favor the enactment of more stringent laws and regulations for the restriction of criminals, pauper and rontract immigration. , Miscellaneous—We favor efficient legislation by congress to protect the life and limbs of employes of the railroad companies en-gaged in carrying interstate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective states that will protect employes engaged in inter-state commerce and in mining and manufac-The Republican party has always been the champion of the oppressed and recognizes the dignity of manhood irrespective of faith, color or nationality. It sympathises with the cause the persecution of the Jews in Russia. The ultimate reliance of free popular, government is the intelligence of the people and maintenance of freedom among men. We de-clare anew our devotion to the liberty of thought and conscience, of speech and press, and approve all agencies and instrumentali-ties which contribute to the education of the children of the land, but while insisting upon the fullest measure of religious liberty we are opposed to any union of church and state.

We reaffirm our opposition, declared in the Republican platform of 1888, to all combinations of capital organized to control arbi-trarily the condition of trade among our citizens. We heartily indorse the action taken on this issue, and ask for such further legislation as may be required to remedy any defects in existing laws and render their enforcemen more complete and effective.

We approve the policy of extending to towns and rural communities the advantages of the free delivery service now enjoyed by the large cities of the country. Territories-We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest possible moment, having due regard to the inte the people of the territories and of the United All the federal office holders appointed in the territories should be selected from the residents thereof, and the right of self government should be accorded as far as possible. Arid Lands-We favor the cession, subject to the homestead laws,of the arid public lands to the states and territories in which they lie, under such congressional restrictions as to disposition, reclamation and occupancy by settlers as will secure the maximum benefits to the people.

The Columbian Exposition—The World's

Columbian exposition is a great national undertaking, and congress should promptly enact such reasonable legislation in aid thereof as will insure a discharge of the expense and obligations incident thereto and the attainment of results commensurate with the dig-nity and progress of the nation.

Intemperance—We sympathise with all-wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evil of intemperance and promote morality.

Harrison's Administration—We commend

Harrison's Administration—We commend the able, patriotic American administration of President Harrison. Under it the country has enjoyed remarkable prosperity, and the dig-nity and honor of the nation at home and abroad have been faithfully maintained. And we offer the record of pledges kept as guarantee of faithful performance in the fu-fare. HARRISON AND REID.

Both of the Candidates Are Natives of the Buckye State.

Benjamin Harrison was born at North Bend Ohio, in his grandfather's house, August 20, 1833. At sixteen he entered Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, and two years later was graduated. On leaving college he began in Cincinnati, with the Hon B. Storer as his preceptor, the study of law, and in 1854 he enter ed upon the practice of the profession in In-dianapolis. A legislative investigation, in which he secured employment through the Democratic governor, Joseph A. Wright, brought him into notice. He drifted into politics, and in 180) he was a candidate for reporter of the supreme court, and in the Lincoln campaign of that year he was elected.

The outbreak of the civil war soon took the young lawyer from the life of the citizen to that of the soldier, and in 1862 he became second lieutenant of an Indiana regiment. He later received the appointment of colonel, and was sent to join the army dider command of Gen-eral D. C. Buell, at Howling Green, Kentucky, On January 25, 1855, he received the brevet of brigadier general. In 1856 he ran for govern-or, but was defeated. In 1886 General Harri-son was chosed for United States Senator, which office he held until March 3, 1887. At the national Republican convention held in Chicago in 1888 he was nominated by his party for president and subsequently elected. Whitelaw Reid, the candidate for vice president, was born at Xenia, O., Oct. 27, 1837, and graduated at the Miami university in 1856. After acting for a time as superintendent of the graded schools at South Charleston, O. he bought the Xenia News, editing it for two years. He joined the Republican party at its birth, speaking for Fremont. Subsequently be became editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, and at the outbreak of the civil war went to the front as its correspondent. He served on the staff of General Morris in West Virginia, with the rank of captain. At the close of the West Virginia campaign he returned to Cincinnati, and at the opening of the second campaigh went to the front with Rosecrans, writing of battles over the signature of "Agate." In 1862 he was appointed as librarian of the house of representatives at Washington, still house of representatives at Washington, still acting as correspondent of The Gazette. After the war he made a tour of the south, accompanied by Chief Justice Chase, and subsequently published "After the War; a Southern Tour." Returning to Checinnati in 188, he became one of the leading editors of The Gazette. Soon afterward he accepted an offer from Horace Greeley as managing editor of the New York Tribune, and on the death of Mr. Greeley became owner of the paper.

His appointment by President Harrison as minister to France, his efforts in behalf of reciprocal trade relations and his resignation of the position are matters of recent history.
