 Children and the State.
 Children require special legal protection. In multitudes of cases they need to be protected from their parents, to whom they do not wholly belong. They have rights of their own—a right to proper care and good treatment, to education and adequate training.
 These rights of children impose on their parents corresponding obligations. Such obligations are violated when children are made slaves to their parents, when they are shut up in factories, to the stunting of both physical and mental growth; when they are surrounded by ruinous home influences; when they are neglected, when they are deprived of instruction, or when their parents use them in any way for their own sole benefit.
 The state also has rights in the children. They are its only hope, its future support, defense and glory. In them are possibilities of future scholarship, statesmanship, generalship, and domestic and every other kind. What a loss to our land had the parents of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, General Grant or Clara Barton had the possibilities of their offspring. What a loss to England and the world had the possibilities in Florence Nightingale been thus blighted!

THE OLD MAN.
 Will—You try to get your sweetheart on account of dyspepsia?
 Bill—Yes.
 Will—Which of you had it?
 Bill—Neither. It was the old man. And he was suffering terribly the day I asked him for his daughter.—New York Epoch.
Fishes Drowned in the Flood.
 It is said that there is scarcely a living fish in any of the creeks and rivers in this neighborhood, owing to the consequence of the late rain, which worked down so much sediment from the black land that the water became so thick the fish could not breathe. Thousands are found floating dead and seen floating down the streams.—Cur. Galveston News.

A HANDSOME OFFER
 A Popular Illustrated Home and Woman's Publication Offered Free to Our Subscribers.
 THE TIMES has perfected arrangements by which we offer FREE to our readers a year's subscription to WOMAN'S WORLD, the popular illustrated monthly journal published at Springfield, Ohio. We will give a year's subscription to "Woman's World" to each of our readers paying a year's subscription to THE TIMES in advance, and to all new subscribers paying in advance. "Woman's World" should find a welcome in every home. It is bright, sparkling and interesting. Its household hints and suggestions are good, and it also contains a large amount of news about women in general. Its children's department is quite attractive, and in fact it contains much which will interest every member of every household. It will give you nothing to get a full year's subscription to "Woman's World" by complying with the terms stated above. Sample copies can be seen at this office. Persons desiring the advantage of the above offer should call our attention to the fact when remitting us money or paying us in the office.

The Pallium.
 The pallium, which has been frequently mentioned in connection with Dr. Wood's Sarsaparilla, is a medicinal article, and which, it is announced, will be dispatched from Rome, consists of a narrow band, like a ring, passing round the shoulders, with two short vertical pieces, falling respectively down the breast and the back. It is ornamented with crosses, and has three golden pins, by which it is attached with loops to the chainable.
 A Roman Catholic bishop elected or translated to a see of metropolitan or higher rank must beg the pope for the pallium, and receives it after taking his oath of allegiance. The pope wears the pallium whenever he officiates; the bishop only on certain special occasions. Although Anglican archbishops have not worn the pallium since the reformation, it still forms part of the heraldic insignia of the archbishops of Canterbury, Armagh and Dublin.—Fall Mail Gazette.
 Du Maurier, the famous artist of Punch, has lost the use of one eye, and it is feared that he may become blind.
 Nervous work is seldom good work. In such efforts the proverb "more haste, less speed" readily verifies itself.
 It is said that the dogs of the United States number 20,000,000, and it costs $200,000 per annum to keep them.
 Warm weather makes a demand upon the vitality which you should be prepared to meet. In order to overcome its debilitating effects take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It purifies and invigorates the blood, sharpens the appetite, and makes the weak strong.
