A STIRRING APPEAL FROM DR. HEBB Which Should Be Heeded by All Men Having Love of Country at Heart. TO THE DEMOCRATIC CLUBS OF HOWARD

To effect a more thorough organization, I would suggest that each club send five delegates to Ellicott City, October 10th, for the purpose of organizing a county Democratic campaign club. Howard county should be relied upon to roll up more than her usual majority. This can only be done by unclose column, from now until after November 8th. No Democrat should hesitate in this great struggle for the preservation of our free institutions That we are approaching a crisis in our history no man can for a moment doubt. The vast accumulation of wealth among the few, the greed of protected monopolists, the attempted wholesale debauchery of the old soldiers and the iniquity of the damnable Force Bill, of which the Republican party is irrevocably committed to pass if again entrusted with power, should appeal to every lover of liberty in this land to stamp out now and forever. Men of Howard, your duty is plain; buckle on your exchange their emerald hues for armor, close up your ranks, let the those of red and gold and russet county of Gorman, the hero of the Force | brown, as they flutter and fall like county of Gorman, the hero of the Force bill, roll up double her usual majority dying birds before the sportsman's gun. for our honored standard bearers, Cleveland, Stevenson and Compton canvass will prove of little value because of the general confidence in the spending the past season at Glenwood, candidates. The average voter knows Howard county, returned to their home | that free trade is impossible in this country, for the conclusive reason that the vast revenues now required to meet the expenses of the government will necessarily afford a higher degree of protection to our established and prosperous manufactures than either Alexander Hamilton or Henry Clay thought desirable in the infancy of our weak and struggling in- bringing to our shores of those vast dustries. The average voter also knows that the irredeemable paper currency in use before the war can never reappear. On the other hand he knows as well that no system of duties on imports, however inequitable, can prevent our continued growth in wealth, in manufactures and in population—a growth due to the incomparable gifts of providence, the intelligence and energy of the people and the blessings of free institutions.

While I am more than ever resolved to hold duty to country far above any ties of party, I find myself at present in general accord with the democratic party future. The insight, the courage and hibited in compelling the nomination of Supervisor of Election of Howard Mr. Cleveland when he was without a single office-holder to support his canshould meet them in the same spirit and promising to preserve matters as they regard as a reckless and revolutionary policy, even overturning all the safe-guards of legislation in the House of Representatives in their haste to pass not be secure; until then there is no the secure; until then there is no list the sad story of many lives made misthe force bill and the McKinley bill. Mr. Edward Kinsey, an attache of the both, to my mind, unnecessary and unwise measures. The opposition to the force bill, as not only sure to create far greater evils than it could cure, but as also subversive of the rights of the States, has become so earnest and widespread that it is said to have been abandoned, but it must not be forgotten that only two years ago spent several days the past week with such a measure was warmly advocated her friends, the Misses Kavanaugh, on by President Harrison, earnestly supported by the republican party and very narrowly escaped becoming a law.

There is no pretense, however that the McKinley bill is abandoned. On the contrary our express approval of i is demanded. No doubt that bill, which I cannot but think was an uncalled-for disturbance of the then existing tariff, greatly benefitted a few interests, but certainly it greatly oppressed many others. Of the protected industrie themselves many were then, as now. in far more urgent need of free raw mate rials than of higher protection, but with with raw materials on the free list the bill could not have passed, for those Dr. S. Claude Sykes, at Elkton, the past having such materials for sale controlled enough votes to defeat it, and they were very likely to do so if their bounties were discontinued. The manufacturers needing free raw materials were, therefore, obliged to join in the objections ble process of increasing prices, by restricting production, thus adding to the number of trusts, by which the price of the necessaries of life is placed at the tal. It is not surprising that labor, believing itself to be oppressed, soon rose in revolt, and civil war has actually raged this summer in four different seetions of the country. And of course. the farmers, paying more for what they buy and getting less for what they sell, grow poorer day by day, and excellent farms in some of the most fertile sections of this most highly protected State will hardly bring the cost of the buildings upon them. But the economic evils, however great. of the McKinley bill and the unreasonable system of protection it represents are of far less importance to my mind than the E could not afford you a more am moral evils which follow in their wake. In deciding for what purposes the masses of the people may properly be taxed it must not be forgotten that taxes have a wonderful capacity for filtering through all intervening obstacles till they reach the bowed back of toil and resting there, and therefore the giving of bounties under any form of taxation, is mainly the giving away of the wages of labor. The sad truth that the curse of the poor is their poverty is illustrated in nothing more clearly than the undue share they suffer of the burdens of taxation. But apart from this consideration ought not taxes only be imposed as required for public purposes, or may they also be imposed for the pecuniary advantages of such persons or classes as are able to control congressional action in their favor? It seems to me like a traves- E building 6 & 8 S. He had sowed 200 acres with protected industries.

But even such inequality and injustice commenced with the promise of a fair are not the least of its evils, for while such system endures political corruption is absolutely sure to increase, as such a system not only invites, but it re-Governor John Lee Carroll, is having at the polls and in Congress. Just as the duties upon imported merchandise have been increased so has the grade of imported labor been lowered, until now, under the McKinley bill, there are coming here every month many thousands of more ignorant and therefore less desirable laborers than ever before. long run only interrupted by the annual summer engagement of E. H. Sothern at that theatre. It will be seen for the first time in Baltimore, at Ford's during the week of October 10th. The comedy is founded on a German original, but the English authors deserve credit for clear, natural and humorous characterization, an easy and effective development a ways within the modesty of nature. "The Grey" Mare is indeed as good comedy as we are likely toget nowadays, with a plot that holds the interest and keeps the spectacular smiling when he is not actually laughing out loud. The acting so nearly perfect in the ensemble is remarkable for the individual hits. Mr. Allison, as John Maxwell could not be surpassed, and passes through all the states from self-consciousness and amiable pigheadedness, to abject comic despair, with extraordinary facility. Miss Giroux, as his sweetheart, who is so much like women you know, and so little like stage heroines, even of modern comic dramas, contributes a character study as lucid as it is entertaining. Miss Kennark makes the hard natured, suspicious wife, remarkably life-like. Mr. Sternroyd is excellent as the husband and brother, mingling the patter of light comedy with a touch of real old fashioned comedy.

The excellence of the acting extends also to Mr. Lothian's portrayal of the reckless young man who really rode the "Grey Mare" to Col. Gavachan's stable keeper, another of those high colored, high finished bits of character to which the actor has accustomed us.
