THE LOCAL NEWS FIELD. THE ELECTION PEACEFUL PASTIME

IN ELLICOTT CITY. Some Tantalizing But no Quarreling-Deaths, Accidents and Weddings-The County Returns-The Democrats Come up to the Scratch in a Solid Phalaex. The election here on Tuesday passed off without a jar. There was a noticeable sobriety all over town. Voters came to the poles in a business-like way, deposited their ballots and left. There was little or no discussion of the questions at issue and everybody seemed to act as if his mind had been made up. That there was a quiet interest in the election is shown by the large vote and unprecedented Democratic majority in this (the Second) district. At night there was a rush for the telegraph office and a number of Republicans, who for some unaccountable reason had implicit faith that their party would carry, were astounded when the news of Democratic gains began to come in thick and fast. They were utterly demoralized when they found New York had gone to the Harlem river with a hundred thousand majority. All doubts were put to rest when a dispatch from ex-Governor Carroll to his wife, dated New York, was received, announcing that New York, New Jersey and Indiana had gone Democratic and the election of Mr. Cleveland was assured. The interest about the telegraph office did not abate until the owl train arrived which brought the news that Illinois had joined the procession;

then nearly all sought their beds. The county returns came in slowly. Many retired before they learned from the Fourth and Sixth districts; but enough was known to give assurance of a large Democratic gain in the county. The Orange Grove Bridge and Road Law were completely snowed under as will be seen by the returns. These were about the only questions discussed during the day. Mr. Donaldson of the lower end came to Ellicott City in the morning to look after the interests of the bridge, but returned with disgust, not having found one who was willing to vote that Taking all in all the election could not have been more orderly, nor better humored. Sallies of tantalizing wit flew backward and forward during the day, but the Democrats before midnight had their opponents at a disadvantage in crowing over the returns. Elsewhere we give the vote of the county and other returns.

Killed by the Cars.

Royal Mason, nineteen years old, a resident of Ellicott City, and son of Samuel Mason, was struck by an engine near the station in this city at 11.30 o'clock on Saturday night. His head and side were crushed in. He was carried to the home of his brother, near by, and Dr. Wm. E. Hodges summoned, but it was found that the young man was beyond the aid of medical skill. He died at 3.21 o'clock next morning. Mr. Mason was a cooper by trade. Justice B. H. Wallenhorst viewed the remains but deemed an inquest unneces-

Ellis, of that place, visited Ellicott City on Saturday night and inspected the workings of the electric lights with the view of supplying their town with similar improvements. They expressed themselves as being much pleased with the Ellicott City lights, and left saying that their town would, in a short time, he able to boast of the same desir able facilities. Their first contract will call for 100 incandescent street lights.

Letter from Anadarko. Anadarko, Oct. 30, 1892. Editor of Ellicott City Times. Dear Sir:-

It has been in imated to me that my letter in THE TIMES has been the source of considerable comment. I can only say for the benefit of those who have been piqued at any remark that I may have made, that it was not my intention to cast any reflection on my dear old birth place. My intention was to disabuse the minds of those who looked upon this as being an outlandish place. My remark which seemed to cause the ripple was not personal by any means, nor directed to any special locality. My remarks in regard to rivilization might be reiterated, and verified by the very parties who seem to have been distressed at the assertion. If they will pay Anadarko a visit, they could also form some idea what a task it is to manage an Indian Agency. As I was informed by a gentleman before I left Maryland, that he was going to be the agent after Mr. Cleveland was elected, I suppose he will know his fate in a few days. There is one thing I can say, and that is, he will find everything n much better working shape than it was when the present agent came here. Another thing I have ascertained since my arrival here, is, there is no disurbance arising among the different tribes that Mr. Day cannot settle amicaoly in a few hours. So much for the confidence they have in him. I think I spoke of the Cherokee Commission in my last letter, which was in council at that time. They succeeded in effecting the treaty spoken of after considerable difficulty with the Kiowa tribe, but they finally got a sufficient number of signatures to effect a treaty with the government to buy their surplus land, which will be opened up for settlement after it has been ratified by Congress. So, if there is any young man that wants to go west he can avail himself of the opportunity of getting 160 acres of land very cheaply. I am favorably impressed with this country, especially with the climate, and I have no difficulty in getting along with the Indians, although I am thrown daily in contact with them. I have not heard one swear nor seen one drunk since 1 have been here. Whiskey, or intoxicants, are not allowed on the reservation, therefore very few disturbances We have twenty-five Indian police, but one good police like Mr. James Vansant, of Ellicott City, could do the work of the whole. We also have a jail, but there has not been any one in it for a long time, so I am told. There is a Catholic, Methodist and Presbyterian mission school here and the Kiowa and Nichatah schools are run by the government and several others are in course of erection. So it can be plainly seen that civilization is advancing at a very rapid

By the way of a change of scenery, I took a stroll on horseback this atternoon, after witnessing some very strange sights in the Indian camps. I visited the Catholic mission school, which is a very fine building and beautifully situated. I finally wound up by paying Mr. O. Snyder, of Howard County, a visit, at Wichita school. I found him enjoying good health and much picased at his engagement. He spoke strongly of locating here. With my kindest wishes for you and all my Howard County friends, I am very respectfully, Yours truly, Chas. T. Grant.

Other leading authorities agree with Dr. Lewis. Hence, the only proper method of cure for catarrh is by taking a con-stitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, reaching every part of the body through the blood, does eliminate all impurities and makes the whole man healthier. THE GENERAL RESULT ial to the Baltimore News. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.-The extent of the Democratic victory has never ceased to grow for one minute since the returns lows: First, John B. Brown (short term); began to come in and the Democratic Robert F. admit that the result in Ohio is a surprise, and no feature of the victory gives the people here more satisfaction. It proves beyond all question how thorough ly the people throughout the whole country have repudiated McKinley. The support which Weaver developed is, on the whole, not surprising. It is well known that the People's party grew out of Republican mismanagement. The fusion plans, of course, contributed to this result. Wyoming was the only State in which the Third party support ed the three Democratic electors. In Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado Oregon and the Dakotas, where the Democrats are in a minority, the People's party electors got majorities as a result of the fusion. Recriminations among the Republican managers are beginning to be heard and Thomas Carter's general incompetence is spoken of as a reason for the great Democratic uprising, but the politicians on both sides and men of affairs generally are unanimous in saying that the high tariff is solidly responsible. The force bill undoubtedly increased Cleveland's majorities in some places. Davenport's stupid work at the polls certainly took away some of the President's support in this State, but the great revulsion of sentiment shown was beyond doubt the work of McKinley prices and McKinley qualities. The question now raised is, what will the Republicans fight for? and to this there seems to be but one answer.

They must wait for the Democrats to do something that will create an issue. There will be no more fighting of Mc-On this point it will be interesting to Cleveland, were the inexcusable defects of the McKinley act. The election might have had a different result if the Democratic candidate, as Mr. Blaine declared, had not stood upon a tariff and financial plank of his own making instead of that made for him by his party. The American people had accurate knowledge of the wise, just, strong man who as their Chief Magistrate had served them in conspicuous honor and usefulness for four years. They had confidence in his unselfish public spirit, his integrity, his devotion to high principle, his conviction of what was right, his courage to unflinchingly do what was right, and his shrewd, masterful judgment of what was wrong, and hence the antagonistic cry of Free Trade and Worthless Money raised against him was disbelieved and tejected. No stronger advocate of safe, honest money has ever raised his voice in contention for it. His countrymen, who knew how sincere was his interest in the general welfare, knew that this earnest, sagacious statesman had no plank of his own making instead of that earnest, sagacious statesman had no thought or purpose to destroy our industries or to impair their value.

Mr. Foster Says the Tariff Did It. Washington, Nov. 9.—Secretary of State Foster attributes the Republican defeat to the tariff issue. The party, he says, challenged the judgment of the country on the McKinley bill, and the verdict must be accepted as the will of the people that a different policy shall be adouted. Other augstions entered some. adopted. Other questions entered some what into the contest, but not to such an extent as to materially affect the result. Nor would it have been different if other candidates had been selected or other leaders managed the campaign. No administration ever went before the country with a cleaner record. It is the policy, not the personnel, of the administration that has been condemned. In this adopted. Other questions entered sometration that has been condemned. In this view of the matter the Secretary was gratified that Mr. Cleveland was likely to be sustained by a party majority in both branches of Congress, so that the new policy may have a full and fair trial.

Chairman Dickinson's Views. New York Nov 8.-Mr. Don M. Dick nson, chairman of the democratic campaign committee, said at 1 A. M.: "We do not desire to boast of the result. The grand result speaks for itself. It shows that the producers of the country have determined that they shall be on longer burdened by excessive taxation for the benefit of great monopolies and are determined to uphold local rights against the abuse of centralized power. In my Michigan we have achieved a great success in electing a Governor and seven presidential electors. The uprising in the Northwest is the most significant sign of the times, but in view of the splendid performance of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, there is nothing sectional about the victory, which is a success for sound political and economic priciples everywhere."

MR, CLEVELAND VOTES, NEW YORK, Nov. 8.-Ex-President Cleveland left his house, 12 West Fiftyfirst street, at 10.25 A. M., and walked to the polling place accompanied by his butler, Wm. P. Sinclair, and George F. Parker. It was 10.30 when they reached the polling place, 876 Sixth avenue. There were twenty-five men in line ahead of the ex-President. They recognized him and, raising their hats, bowed. When Mr. Cleveland stepped up to the poll clerk and gave his name a republican attempted to challenge his vote, but he was quickly hustled out of the way. Mr. Cleveland received a bunch of ballots marked No. 18, and went into the fifth booth to select his tickets. It took him just slx minutes to prepare his tickets. They were in proper order, and as soon as they were deposited in their respective boxes the ex-President went home.

Individuality IN DRESS

"The Country Circus" combines both play and circus, interpreted by a fine dramatic company on the play side and the greatest performers in the ring, and the proprietors feel that the attraction is filling a long felt want. The street parade, which closes the third act, represents a greater outlay than any procession ever exhibited on the stage of any theatre, containing as it does over one hundred horses and ponies.

In Prof. Conrad Miss Kate Holloway, The Glinscrettis, Wm. De Mott, Leon Morris and savilla, a series of difficult, startling and refined features are presented, hitherto uncapialed in circus annais.
