WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS.

To-morrow the bells throughout Christendom will ring in joyous chorus over an event which has as substantially taken hold of the minds and hearts of the people as any event ever celebrated by the most devout of Jews. The story of Christ's birth and subsequent life, even if it were fiction, would be a conception divine in itself. It was the completion of God's revelation to man. Hitherto the most enlightened of the Jews, save, probably, the prophets, could but dimly cutline the attributes of Him whom they devoutly worshiped. They knew the necessity of sacrifice; they knew there was no remission of sin without the shed ding of blood, but how little did they appreciate the significence of the blood as it flowed from the veins of the dying lamb! Christ's birth, life, death and resurrection is the revelation to all them that will believe. The then civilized world was shrouded in mistaken notions as to what constituted the mind and heart of Him whom they acknowledged as the author of all things, and even the apostles themselves, while acknowledging Christ as the son of God were unable to joy over His birth until the transactions of his life were summed up and the meaning understood to be a divine sacrifice to save fallen man. Then was opened up unto them a new light and aspirations higher than were ever given to man to be the guide of their lives. Then it was that they could joy with the angels whose and chorus, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will to men," rang out from the starry heavens

Is it any wonder the world, bursting from a condition of dense spiritual ignorance, should hail this new and perfect revelation with delight. By it we have to believe concerning God and what duty God requires of man." By it we can catch some glimpses of the depth and breadth of a love which dictated the giving of an only begotten son by a Divine Father "that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life." Such is the light and liberty enjoyed by man that in the hour of despair and in the full consciousness of his own degradation it is his privilege to "come boldly unto a throne of grace that he may obtain mercy and find grace to help him in time of need." By the birth of Christ we are led to inquire into the significance of his death and resurrection and to contemplate man's possibilities as regards his future state. What a grand unfolding! What an incomparable story! Is it any wonder then that the world is willing to pay homage to the Babe of Bethlehem. As the light gradually dawned upon what was destined to be the Christian world what an awakening there has been! Man standing out in the full blaze of divine revelation has been able to wrest himself from the thongs of a circumscribed thought to dwell in brighter realms of material advantages as well as a glorious spiritual enlightenment. Christ came as "a light to lighten the nations" and is it any wonder the untutored heathen will with eagerness listen to so marvelous story? Is it any wonder that a benighted world for ages falling down before the "unknown God" awakens to light and life under the transforming power of a truth that was declared to be "'good tidings" to all men.

Then let the day be remembered in the exercise of good feeling toward all and in joyful acknowledgment of the great and enduring truth that the world without Christ would present a dismal tions and besotted aspirations.

and so historically well established.

It has become definitely known that Hon. James G. Blaine is a very sick man. His symptoms were of the most alarming character this week and it is admitted by those closest to him that his life is liable to ebb away at any time. Mr. Blaine was the brainest man of his party and possessed points of excellence which out-ranked his political compeers. It is

Newspaper sEndorse. "Educators are certainly the greatest benefactors of the race, and after reading Dr. Franklin Miles' popular works cannot help declaring him to be among the most entertaining and educating authors."-New York Daily. He is not a stranger to our readers, as his advertisements appear in our columns in every issue, calling attention to the fact that his elegant work on Heart and Nervous Diseases is distributed free by our enterprising druggist at Daley's drug store. Trial bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine are given away, also book of of testimonials showing that it it is unequalled for nervous prostration, headache, poor memory, dizziness. sleeplessness, neuralgia, hysteria, fits, ep.ilepsy

The Baltimore News having published to the world that we had added to our editorial staff a gentleman whose business it is to report the marvels of porcine obeisity to be found in Howard county, it pains us to see that our rural contemporaries have caught on to this bit of journalistic enterprise and the consequence is a very large crop of "hog editors," scattered widely over the state, each vieing with the other in (most likely) misstatements.

As stated last week we are willing to publish commuications for or against the Orange Grove Bridge project, provided said communications are not too long. It should be understood that THE TIMES is not endorsing any set of ideas on the subject. It is a matter which concerns the farmers mainly and it is they who should have the say whether the bridge should be built or not. If the enterprise is good for the county it will not suffer by a discussion.

The cool weather we have been enjoying of late, while it may be expensive, counting the cost of anthracite coal, is a God-send when we compare it with the two abnormally warm winters which preceded last year, and which were evidently the cause of the wide spread scourge which was known as "the grip."

The sheep industry in Maryland will never be an attractive one as long as our legislators persist in not passing a sheep law. Ohio has a good one which might be patterned after.

Zero weather in Maryland paralyzes business and at night we are apt to dream of "sweet fields of living green" and the like. The Iowans on Tuesday had great cause to shudder. Their mercury touched 15 below, and Iowa weather is not good at best.

A merry Christmas to all.

Adopting Governor Brown's Plan. It seems that the formulation of a new assessment law which will give satisfaction to the public is found to be as difficult in New York as in Maryland. A committee of the Legislature has been at work on such a bill and has now decided to adopt Governor Brown's plan for reaching a satisfactory solution. A public meeting has been called for the liscussion of a bill.

The proper and equitable adjustment of taxation, so far as to equalize the burdens as much as possible, and at the same time so adjust them as not to deprive labor of the capital which gives it employment, is one of the most dimcult problems in political economy That a legislature, in the hurry and commotion of politics and of hawk and owl legislation, should be able to construct such a bill during a session no one who has ever attended a sesssion would expect. In such a popular gathering as Governor Brown proposes it is most likely there will be some who have of Palestine on the night that the special knowledge of the subject, and, Redeemer of the world lay a babe in having no other subject to distract them, it is more likely that satisfactory results will be reached than in any other manner which has yet been suggested.

As a result, from that time until last June he had a continual distracting pain in his head and weak spells, which compelled him for many years to give up everything of an active character. A precious one from as is gone, voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled. Dearest, loved one, we have laid thee In the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy memory will be cherished Till we see thy heavenly face.

God in his wisdom has recalled The boon His love had given, And though the body moulders here, His soul is safe in heaven. We miss thy kind and willing hand, Thy fond and earnest care, Our home is lonely without thee, We miss thee everywhere.
