AN ERA OF PATRIOTIC EFFORT. A survey of the business and financial condition of the country should convince any one that Mr. Cleveland was not elected a moment too soon. What the outcome of another four year's of Republican administration would have been it is hard to estimate. We are at peace with all the world. We have food and raiment in super-abundance, and yet disappointment and unfulfilled hopes is characterizing our life in all parts of the land. Banks have been breaking in quick succession. Manufacturing and other what have hitherto prises have gone and are going to the dogs with monotonous regularity. Gold has been going out of the country at an alarming rate and the banks in commercial centres have almost closed their doors against the increasing necessities of business. The gold surplus of the country has been steadily decreasing, and it is feared the government will be obliged to adopt heroic measures to save its credit. The country is ple thoric with products and manufactures. The cotton and wheat growing indus tries are suffering a depression never before experienced in this country.

Her limb is perfectly sound. We attribute ther cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla.'

Europe is supplying the rest of the Jacob N. Aughenbaugh, Etters, York Co., Pa world while these United States have not been able to formulate and carry into successful operation a policy that will give us an equal chance in contending for the world's trade. Naturally enough all this is to be found at the termination of a series o administrations which grew out of the war. Every trick and clap-trap idea known to crafty so-called statesmen were resorted to to convince the people that Democratic triumph meant death to prosperity and distraction to the people. Finding that power was slipping from their hands the most alarming schemes were resorted to to perpetuate what the country was fast beginning to regard as pearing in the Musical Comedy, an iniquity-Republican rule. Every fundamental principle in the theory of our government has been violated to gain selfish ends. The laws of trade have been totally ignored, the principle of equal rights has been trodden upon. Reckless expenditure has marked the footsteps of every Republican administration since the day that Grant first set his foot upon the threshold of the White House until the night of the third of March last when the speaker's gavel sounded the death knell of the Republican party. To the ears of irreconcilable Republicans these may be bold, bad words, but they some from reflection and a serious consideration of the country's needs. We live in a land blazing at this season of the year with vernal beauty and at all times rich in resources. There should be no general unrest; there should be but little taxation, and there should be an equitable adjustment of taxation. It should be such a country in which every sober, industrious, rightminded business man would have some prospects of success in life, but it is not so now. Prosperity among the great middle class was once the rule. It is the exception now. Prior to the late war under the benign influence of Democratic policy the country was universally prosperous and presented a condition of stability which stands out in strong contrast with the feverish and unsettled condition of affairs which now so sullenly broods over us. What meaneth this? Is it not true? Is it the voice of the pessimist that we hear? Echo answers, no! The complaints of the people are too distinct. The murmur of discussion is still going on, although the campaign which elevated Mr. Cleveland to the Presidential chair is nigh unte a vear past. The people are still trying to at the right a wrong. They as sovereigns are endeavoring to fit themselves for the important duty of self-government, and if we are not in an era when a free people are struggling to untangle themselves from the meshes of prejudice and misconception we never will be. In the mighty struggle of 1892 Mr. Cleveland was made chief, almost absolutely free to act as he chose, and the eyes of the MONEY TO LOAN ON REA nation are turned toward him as embodying ideas, qualities and principles which must eventually militate for the general good. Great contingencies have ever brought forth great men. The country MUSIC. has had a baptism of blood. In the trial of Miss Lizzie Borden now n progress, the most damaging circumstance which the prosecution is endeav oring to prove is, that she burned a dress some days after the murder, giving as an excuse to a lady friend that "it was covered with paint." There is already a great deal that has been developed damaging to Miss Borden, certainly enough to justify her retention for trial. The case is attracting as much attention if not more than the famous trial of Carlyle Harris.

CONGRESS IN SEPTEMBER. The President Says He Will Call an Extra-

Washington, June 5.—The President said this evening in reply to a direct juestion by a reporter of the United Press that he intended to call an extra session of Congress not earlier than the first nor later than the fifteenth of Sepember, unless unexpected contingencies should necessitate an earlier meeting. The President further said: fore the Briday of November next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all bene-fit of said estate. matter, I think it not amiss that our people should be informed authoritatively that the time is at hand when their Representatives in Congress will be called upon to deal with a financial condition which is the only menace to the country's welfare and prosperity. "It is well for the people to take up the subject for themselves and arrive at their own conclusions as to the merits of a financial policy which obliges us to purchase idle silver bullion with gold taken from our reserve. One does not need the eve of a financier to see that this gold thus subtracted from the gov-meeting of Congress much depends upon the action of those engaged in financial operations and business enterprises. Our vast national resources and redit are abundantly sufficient to justify them in the utmost faith and confidence. If instead of being frightened they are conservative, and if instead of gloomily anticipating immediate disaster they contribute their share of hope and steadiness, they will perform a patriotic duty and at the same time pro tect their own interests. The things just now needed are coolness and calmness in financial circles and study and reflection among our people."

Done, By order of the County Commissioners of Howard county, Md., this 22nd day of May A. D. 1843. Clerk to the County Commissioners LEGAL NOTICES.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION. In the Circuit Court for Howard County-In Equity. LAURA V. COLEMAN

ALBERT E. COLEMAN.

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce 'a vinculo matrimonii" by the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill states in substance that the plaintiff The bill states in substance that the plaintiff and defendant were married on the 22d day of September, 1870; that they lived together until August, 1888, as man and wife in Middleton, in the State of Massachusetts, at which time she left him on account of his excessively vicious and abusive conduct towards her: that he never treated her properly as a has-band should his wife from the time of their marriage, and for fear of her life she was com-pelied to leave him. Since their separation she has resided in Howard county with her father, and has received no support from de-fendant, and that it would be impossible for her eyer to live with the defendant again as his wife.
And that the said defendant is a non-resident.
It is thereupon ordered this nineteenth day of May, 1893, that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some news, aper published in Howard county once in each of four successive weeks before the nineteenth day of June, 1833, giving notice to the said non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this bid, warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on pear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st Monday of July, 1833, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.
