WAS IT PINCKNEY? The Escaped Murderer Thought to Have

Been Seen Near Ellicott City. Some excitement was caused here Monday by the report that Wm. Pinckney, who has been convicted for the murder of Francis M. Bowie in Prince George's county, and who escaped from the Marlboro jail on the 25th of May last, had been seen in this vicinity. Two residents of this place were returning, about ten o'clock, from a fishing trip up the Patapsco, one mile and a half west of here, and when arriving at a secluded point, near which the B.& O. The boulevard, says the Laurel Democrat, seems to be an assured fact. Indeed, there is no reason to doubt that this great project will be consummated, as the work of construction has already commenced on the Baltimore end, and it is given out that the enterprise will be pushed ahead as speedily as possible. Only a few days ago some Baltimore capitalists bought up a large tract of land in Howard county, situated along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, about midway between Hanover and Dorsey stations, and already the property has been surveyed, graded and laid off into streets. The new suburban town has been called Harwood, and shortly an elegant depot will be crected by the B. &

And at other points along the pro jected route of the boulevard the same development of property has taken place. It is only a question of time when there will be one continuous stretch of suburban towns between Baltimore and Washington. And that day seems to be not far distant.

Ellicott City as the Ideal Resort. Ellicott City, on the Main Stem of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has for some years past been a favorite summering-place for a great many Baltimoreans, but this season its popularity seems to be greater than ever before. It is said that already nearly a hundred visitors are quartered at Patapsco Institute alone, and as many more are located at other places near the town. Ellicott City's popularity as a summer resort is not hard to understand. The surrounding country is picturesque in the extreme. timore, and Mr. Author Lee Shreve, son the air bracing and cool, the water pure of Mrs. Rosalie Sureve and grandson of the late Gen. SYKESVILLE, June 9.—The closing exercises of Springfield Institute here last evening will mark an epoch in the history of the school as suggesting what and high attainment when carnest and capable hands are at the helm. In the year that Professor and Mrs. Weems have had charge the school has filled up and its reputation has so widened that the building has become quite inadequate to admit of the ideal school which the principals have in view. Yet the exercises of last evening and the reports read out showed evidence of culture and proficiency which would have been highly reditable to a school that has enjoyed uninterrupted prosperity for years. The nothers, fathers and youth of the neighborhood made up quite a picturesque asemblage, and all seemed to enjoy the brief program of the evening with zest. The young ladies of the school were all dressed in their most gauzy and fascinating attire and their pretty faces, good health and elegant manners showed what care and discipline had done for their physical, moral and mental development. The occasion was not a com-mencement, but simply the closing exercises of the school. Following was the program: Piano duet, by Misses Gerrude Stade and Catherine Seabrook; address, by Rev. J. B. Purcell, D. D.; distribution of prizes and testimonials; Miss Gray and Walter Brooks received prizes for elocution; Miss Nannie Ridge-, for improvement in penmanship; Miss Ella Morrow and Miss Slade, for improvement in letter writing; Miss Mamie Warfield, Donald Weems, Guy Hobbs and Miss Catherine Scabook, for effort: distribution of certificates of excellence: vocal solo, by Miss Rose Morrow; instrumental selection, by Miss Gertrude Slade; address, Mr. J. So great has keeley Institute, was in Hagerstown become the demand for this style of recently, and while there purchased the vehicle and so high has been held the can be done in the direction of efficiency | Surrey mansion, with about two acres of | price that it may properly be said to have caused a sensation. The general impression seems to be that this is the beginning of the end of high prices for bicycles. Undoubtedly such is the case. It will be next to impossible for the firm in question to restore the old prices. Having had a taste of a first-class bicycle at $85, the public will not easily be forced to go back to the $150 arrangement. Other manufacturers will inevitably be compelled to meet the cut, and that will be the end of the era of exorbitant monopoly prices .-- Springfield Republican.

The executive committee of the Maryland State Temperance Alliance met Monday at headquarters, 216 North W. G. Herbert was secretary. The report of the committee appointed to draw up a declaration of principles expressive of the policy and plan of the alliance in the coming campaign was adopted. "As a non-political, nonpartisan alliance," states the report, "we are not at war nor in collusion with any party. We represent no particular shade of politics or religion, and for that reason we claim the co-operation of all shades, both in religion and politics. We claim to represent an idea that runs through every temperance organization in the world." The declaration then asked for the co-operation, aid and prayers of all friends of emperance.

The brunnette type is becoming more numerous in England and on the Continent generally. Mr. Gladstone, who ob serves most things, said some years ago that light-haired people were far less numerous than in his youth. This state ment was borne out by the results of the statistical inquiry undertaken by Dr. Beddoe, who examined 726 women and ound that 360 were brunettes and 357 blondes. Carrying this inquiry a step further, says the New Orleans Picayune, Dr. Beddoe learned that 78.5 per cent. o the brunettes had husbands, while only 68 per cent, of the blondes were married From this it appears that in England a ded to nine chances of the blonde; and PORCELAIN LINED. A cream of tartar baking powder flighest of all in leavening strength .-Latest U. S. Government Food Report ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall New Gasoline Stove.

There is scarcely a utensil of household use upon which so much inventive genius has been displayed as on the modern gasoline stove. Its utility is apparent to every housekeeper, as, for cooking purposes, it is quick, clean and inexpensive. One after the other has come out each claiming some points of merit over the preceding one. It would seem in the gasoline stove, like the modern locomotive, they were fast approaching perfection. Mr. A. W. Martin, dealer in refrigerators, stoves, &c., 26 South Charles street, Baltimore, ever on the alert to adopt utility and secure trade, is offering the latest in gasoline stoves, the "Surprise," which he de-scribes as "a poem of mechanical ingenuity." Persons desiring anything in this line should call on Mr. Martin before purchasing elsewhere and they will
