A novel entertainment in the form of Gypsy Camp will be held on the lawn of Springfield Manse on the evening of Tuesday, August 1st, beginning at 7 o'clock. Refreshments of various kinds and tropical Fruits will be served from artistically arranged booths presided over by charming young ladies. The pleasure of the evening will be enhanced by gypsy songs rendered in costume. All young people who feel inclined are invited to attend in gypsy costume. As the object of the entertairment is to raise funds to complete the library of Springfield Sunday School a good attendance is hoped for.

GLENWOOD GLEANINGS. GLENWOOD, July 26 .- As a rule at this season of the year Glenwood is alive with entertainments of some kind to make it pleasant for both home folks and visitors, and this season will not be an exception to the rule, for we have a first class base ball team, who are not afraid to cross bats with any of the county clubs, and we will be glad to hear from some of them. Next week the young men will give a dance at the Grange Hall, here, and as usual a large crowd is expected.

On Saturday night at eight o'clock the Mite and Literary Society will give its first annual entertainment in the grove at Glenwood Institute for the benefit of Union Chapel. A good programme has been arranged and with the aid of some fine talent from Baltimore and Washington, we guarantee a pleasant evening to all who attend. Prof. Kratts, the successor to Capt. -A Veritable Black Hertor. The unusual spectacle of a colored feature of last Sunday's services at the Glynden Prohibition Camp. The speaker was the Rev. John H. Hector, better known under the sobriquet of "The Black Knight." He remarked in his introductory at the morning service that he came to the camp to lend color to the occasion. This must be the case, for the Black Knight, is about as black as the blackest night, and he is proud of it.

Over 1,000 people gathered in the tabernacle to hear him, and he preached a good, sound germon on the subject: "Some of the Emblems of Life." basing his remarks on Psalm xvi., 11: "Thou wilt show me the path of life." In an interesting and entertaining discourse he pictured life as a journey on the sea, using well-chosen nautical language in his apt illustrations. GORMAN "ONLY DID HIS DUTY." The following from the Rockville Montgomery Advocate though written and published to bear on affairs as they stand in our neighboring county of Montgomery, may be read with interest and profit by the Democrats of Howard county. Mr. Gorman is not an issue and probably will not be for some time to come, but there is no time like a time of peace to review history and render honor to whom honor is due. The article was written by an intelligent correspondent of the Advocate and says: "To a plain, blunt man Politics are strange things and Politicians are uncanny fellows, but in view of the dia and strife now in the air perhaps a few words from "a plebeian in the country" may not be amiss.

Some of us remember quite vividly that a short while ago there was a tremenduous effort made by the combined strength of a then powerful Republican party to override the rights of the Southern people and enact into law a most tyrannical measure known as the

Force Bill. All of us know that this effort was being made in order to place most if not all of the white citizens of the South except the scalawag element, into sub special effort will soon be made to secure | tion and reinaugurate the robbery and rascality of carpet bag reconstruction

Such progress, by the unstinted and unblushing use of power, so arbitrary as soubriquet of "Czar," was made as to secure the passage of this infamous Bil: by the House of Representatives. Well do we, at least the most of us, remember what terror and consternation possessed us at this success on the part of those red handed Revolutionists.

The bill was then harried to the Senate, known by all to have a working and safe Republican majority, and we all held our breath in death-like suspense and could vividly see the black and omnious clouds of war gathering over and around us, for all knew that to Southern man death would be preferable to political subjection to the hordes of ignorant and immoral negroes. We all realized the enormity of the measure and the momentous conse quences involved and saw that our then resident was using all of his tremendous influence to get the Bill before him so he could speedily sign it. Where was the man who did not feel the blood of his liberty-loving Revolu-FREDERICK'S COMING PAIR .- The trials | tionary forefathers running hot through his veins on being confronted with the Frederick County Agricultural Society | fact that soon, very soon, we could no longer hold our own elections but that the Junta of Tyrants at Washington would at the instance and request of any scalawag or pegro send supervisors from other States to control us and tell us how we should do and make us excicise our birth-right of freedom according to the interest and policy of those then in power. In other words, enslave

> Rampant usurpation was spreading its black, sable wings, watting political poison, like the deadly Upas tree, all over this "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." Amidst this death-like stillness and chilly expectation of the speedy conunmation of this diabolical scheme to Star of Hope began to glimmer and the people of the South saw that in this instance, as in many instances heretofore, Providence had raised up one specially fitted and gifted to bring us deliverance in the person of the Senior Senator from Maryland, Hon. Arthur P. Gorman. From own State!

In this, as in all cases of sudden and trying emergencies, the people and the Senators who cared for the rights of the people, instinctively recognized the leader and placed themselves under his cool, skilful and matchless leadership, and unfalteringly followed him with their hopes, efforts and prayers. It would weary your readers to refer in detail to the long and ardnous struggle of that noble band of patriots in the Senate, which implicitly followed his saguelous movements; suffice it to say that in the face of odds, never before overcome by parliamentarian he converted a minority into a majority and making it possible by free elections for us to reform the tariff and correct the many wrongs inflicted on a patient and long oppressed people. His faithful and able brother Senators most cheerfully and publicly, with one acclaim, hailed him as the one pre-eminently entitled to the glory of such an unexpected victory—wan by his and their ceaseless exertions and watchfulness-guided by his cool, unerring tac-preserved the liberties of the people,

The newspapers of the land, the Sun perhaps excepted, lauded his generalship, and the people-all fair mindec. people-acknowledged their indebtedness to him for their deliverance from the impending calamity and as the gloom of the blackness of despair was dispelled by the brilliancy of the success, shouted for joy and he was at once placed to the front as one of the foremost in the land. Shortly after this there was a primary election held in this county and so deep and grateful was the feeling of the people towards Senator Gorman for his services to his country and to his State that with one sentiment it was resolved that le should be returned to the U. S. Senate, to still further guard and protect At this primary there was none so hold, when these matters were fresh in the minds of the voters, to canyase for the nomination to the Legislature on avowed opposition to his endorsement and gelection to the Senate. On the contrary every one unequivocally stated that they were in favor of his return to the Senate, and he was sent back for the third term with the unanimous vote of the Democrats of the General Assembly of Maryland, voicing the wishes of their constituents. Why? Because the people wanted him. Why Because no one dared in the face of his services to appose him. Why? Because his Democracy and his reputation were such that none would rise up and say word against him. In other words Mary landers were not only grateful but proud that they had furnished the Country's Deligorer from an oppressive and destructive partisan measure and believed that their welfare would be eafe in his keeping.

Now in the face of the above is it not SHAME that here in Montgomery county, where Senator Gorman is not an issue, that we hear some with more warmth than justice, declare that even it he did do all that is claimed, yet, "HE ONLY DID HIS DUTY." What more can any mortal man ever do? If a man is not to be appreciated for doing his daty will some one please say for what he is to be appreciated. turies because he was intelligent enough toknow that a man could do no more and that if he should do this in trying emergencies he would be entitled to the love and gratitude of his country. Therefore in that celebrated naval engagement when everything hung tremoling in the balance he made this thrilling appeal to his men: "ENGLAND EX-PECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY!" Then again we hear others say "let's clip Gorman's wings"—how? by voting for men who we think are opposed to him and who claim that he is nothing but a political trickster and who loudly orate that he had nothing whatever to do with killing the Force Bill-even going so far as to represent that the Democrats are under obligations rather to the Republican Senators who finally voted with the Democratic Senators, than to those Democrars who led the fight? Most undoubtedly if these Senators had not voted with the Democrats we would have been ruined. But any one can see the sophistry of such arguments and I will not enlarge, "as a fool convinced against his will is of the same opinion

There is no man to day who stands higher with the National Democracy than Senator Gorman and the writer feels confident that the good sound sober sense of Montgomery voters will see rule us with an iron-rod suddenly the being heaped upon him and those who admire his course, by certain interested politicans-most of whom have in former days supported him and would to-day if they were in proper position to do so -alas! their [mad chase for office has driven them upon hard lines and hence they now seek success by appealing to the passions of disappointed persons at the expense of the unity of our Party-ABUSE, WITHOUT PROOF, IS PRAISE. The Democratic voters of this county owe it to themselves to see to it that no man receives the endorsement of our party who endeavors to dwarf the outrage of the Force Bill, or to minimize the credit of the man who successfully led the opposing forces in that memorable Senatorial fight-which, whilst not so bloody, was equally as determined as that made by Leonidas and his noble 300 at the Pass of Thermopylae-and more momentous and far-reaching are the results of the victory achieved-and more inspiring to others now and hereafter to perseveringly stand for the freedom of the people against grasping oppres-
