THE NEWS OF THE WEEK.

THE CAMPAIGN'S CLOSING HOUR.

Meetings at Savage, Woodstock and Poplar Springs—Other meetings.

The Democratic mass-meeting at Savage Saturday night was the best held there in many years. The hall was packed and jammed and the speakers had the audience's undivided attention. The issues of the hour were exhaustively discussed by the following gentlemen in the order named: Dr. J. W. Hebb, Mr. Martin F. Burke, Mr. Edward T. Jones, Hon. W. B. Peter, Hon. John G. Rogers and Mr. J. E. Hill. The candidates announced themselves and Mr. Humphrey D. Wolfe did so at length.

An equally enthusiastic meeting was held at Woodstock Monday night jointly by the Democrats of the Third district and the Woodstock Democratic Club. Hon. Frank Parlett presided and the speakers were Messrs. Elmer M. Harn Martin F. Burke, J. E. Hill and Hon. John G. Rogers. Mayor Noah Cavey, of Woodstock, also made a few remarks.

A meeting was held yesterday afternoon at Poplar Springs. The closing meetings of the campaign will be held to-night at Elkridge and Monday night at Ellicott City. The eloquent Col. Wm Killgore will be one of the speakers at the latter.

THE ELKRIDGERS AT THE MANOR.

Thirty Hunters and nearly as Many Hounds Join in an Exciting Chase.

The meet of the Elkridge Fox Hunting Club Saturday at Doughoregan Manor, the home of ex-Governor John Lee Carroll, in the Third district of Howard county, was declared to be the most enjoyable of any that has taken place within the history of the club. The crisp autumn air and bright sunshine combined to render the day nearly perfect for such sport, and there was just enough dampness in the ground to quicken the keen scent of the dogs. Twenty-five of the best hounds in the kennels, in charge of the club's huntsman, Martin O'Brien, were brought out to Ellicott City Friday evening and quartered at the stables of the Howard House.

Those from Baltimore who participated in the hunt came out on an early train Saturday morning, and drove to the Manor in coaches from Ellicott City. The party included Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jackson, the latter president of the club; Mr. Girard T. Hopkins, master of hounds; Mrs. Samuel E. George, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. G. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whistler, Mr. John McHenry, Miss Mollie George, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Whistler, Mr. Harry Birckhead, Mrs. Redmond Stewart, Mr. D. B. Merryman, Mr. J. Crossman Cooper, Miss Laura Merryman, Miss Charlotte Williams, Mr. Charles Stewart, Mr. Rieman, Mr. Pleasants, Mr. Spence, Mr Ulman, Mrs. Cornelius O'Donnell Lee, Dr. Wm. Lee, and Mr. Isaac Tyson. Besides these there were several well-known gentlemen from Howard in the company, among them being Mr. R. Dorsey Rogers, who directed the course of the hunt.

The start was made at ten o'clock, the route being southward, across a stretch of open country, about half-a-mile. Turning, then, northward, the dogs had barely struck a bunch of brushwood, when two sprightly red foxes were bounced simultaneously, in plain view of the riders. The nature of the ground was favorable for a comparison of the speed of the trained steeds, and the dash of the thirty hunters after the hounds, in full cry, appeared not unlike the charge of a company of cavalry. The cunning of Reynard was soon brought into requisition, for, when they had run a short distance, they separated, each one taking about one-half of the pack with him. Both of the chases were followed up, however, and, after a most exciting dash of an hour, both of the foxes were holed, one near Carroll's Mill and the other about two miles from the place of starting.

Some of the hunters met with rather harsh experiences during the chase. Among those who went to earth in consequence of their horses falling in clearing fences and ditches were Messrs Stewart, Hopkins, Birckhead, Spence, Rieman and Pleasants. Fortunately, no bones were broken and none so badly disabled as to prevent them from continuing the hunt.

The party was afterwards entertained at dinner by Governor Carroll at the manor mansion. The Baltimoreans drove back to Ellicott City in the afternoon and returned by train for their homes.

KILLED BY A FREIGHT.

Mrs. Scott, of Baltimore, Leaves Home Deranged and is Killed at Dorsey's Run.

One of the saddest accidents that has occurred in this vicinity for some time past was that to Mrs. Herselia Scott, who was run over by a freight train and instantly killed at Dorsey's Run, five miles west of Ellicott City, on Monday evening last at about 6 o'clock. Her remains were brought to Ellicott City next morning and placed in the hands of Undertaker Hillsinger who prepared the body for burial. She proved to be the daughter of Mr. George W. Scott, a well-known liveryman of Baltimore and was thirty-four years of age.

Mr. Joseph F. Roberts, a brother-in-law of Baltimore, stated that on Monday Mrs. Scott left home in the afternoon in company with an attendant, with whom she had for some time past been entrusted, in consequence of a partially deranged mind, with the intention of making a deposit in the Eutaw Savings Bank. This was done, as was shown by the entry in her bank book, which was picked up by Mr. Artemus Zepp, a section boss of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at the place of the accident. After transacting her business at the bank, she requested her attendent to go home, saying she would follow in a short while. She went, instead, to Camden Station and took the train to Ellicott City, where she was compelled to get off, the train not proceeding further. She then undertook to walk, it is supposed, to the home of her uncle, Mr. Ephraim Scott, near Jonestown, two miles west of Ellicott City, going by way of the railroad, that being the shortest route.

She was seen a short time previous to the accident walking toward Alberton. At Hollofields she stopped with a Mrs. Lilly for a few minutes and said she was going to the house of Mr. John Eiler, who lives in Baltimore county, not far from Woodstock.

Wm. R. Moore, a Baltimore and Ohio track-walker, stationed at Hollofields, met the lady on the railroad only a short time before the train bore down upon her. She was walking leisurely along, and stopped occasionally, as if enjoying the picturesque scenry along the high hills of the Patapsco river.

The engineman of locomotive 491, which killed her states that he first saw her walking on the platform at Dorsey's Run. She attempted to cross to the other side of the tracks when the engine was only a few yards away. The train was moving at full speed. The whole train passed over her body and lower limbs, but on the side of her head was a deep cut, which doubtless caused instant death. Mr. Roberts came to Ellicott City on Tuesday and took charge of the remains. After ascertaining the facts in the case to be as stated Coroner B. H. Wallenhorst concluded an inquest was not necessary.

On account of election day the nex meetings of the Orphans' Court and County Commissioners will be on Thursday following. November 9th. 3t

TOWN AND COUNTY.

As far as we can learn the B. and. O. railroad has concluded to discontinue the Ellicott City specials. The plea is made that these trains are run at a loss during the winter months. Our people will feel the loss keenly and will be specially inconvenient to those who visit our place on business from Baltimore and elsewhere east.

We publish this week a fac-simile of the ballot to be voted Tuesday next. The manner of voting is simple when once understood. A cross mark at the right of the emblem is a vote for the whole ticket except those names opposite the names on any other ticket that may be marked.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee Carroll, have leased for the season the house on Sixteenth street, formerly occupied by the family of ex Secretary Endicott. Miss Carroll will sail for Europe on the 15th instant, and spend the winter traveling abroad with a party of friends.

The Harvest Home Festival.

We gladly insert the following clipped from the New York Churchman to show that we were in error in ascribing to Rev. Mr. Moran of Elkridge Landing the credit of being the first, at least since Colonial days, to introduce the Harvest Home Festival. Our good friends of St. Barnabas, Howard county, made it a festival indeed.

To the Editor of The Churchman:

A very pretty custom obtains in England and others countries of celebrating the ingathering of harvest. I had the pleasure of attending one at the old parish church of Dawlish, a seaside resort of Devonshire. But I saw nothing that I had not already seen in Baltimore county. About the first of September is the time of the celebration in England. We have a later crop unknown to English farmers, the Indian corn, which is not fully gathered until November. Perhaps this has led the Government to wait till the last Thursday of that month for the Thanksgiving Day service. The Harvest Home should be earlier, and to suit our farm population say in the last week of August. At this time the farmers have a waiting time, and could attend such a service easily. On Sept. 19, at St. Barnabas's, Howard county, a Harvest Home celebration took place. The church was beautifully decorated, and many people had gathered together, bringing their baskets filled with good things. After the service, rector and all, men women and children met on the church grounds. The latter were amused with balloon ascensions, and every body partook in common of what each one brought. The suggestion was made that, had the feast been called a little earlier, a great many more could have been present. This is our third years's celebration of Harvest Home in this parish. The offering is taken up for the Superannuated and Disabled Clergy Fund. It is only in the country that we can in earnest style have the Harvest Home. It does in no wise interfere with the later service of Thanksgiving Day called by the civil authority, which is purely national, not local enough to call for the special features of the Harvest Home.

Death of a Carroll.

Dr. Alfred Ludlow Carroll, a prominent physician and writer on medical subjects, died at his home in New York Sunday evening after a brief illness. He was born in New York on August 4, 1833, and was a cousin of the famous Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Md. His grandfather Anthony Carroll, was an officer in the Guard Royale, which was the body-guard of Marie Antoinette. Mr. Carroll was one of the founders of the New York State Medical Association.

Successful Oyster Supper at Sykesville.

The Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Parish held last week a very successful Oyster Supper and sale at Howard Hall, Howard county, Sykesville. The heads of the supper department were Mrs. Eugenia George and Mrs. Henry Steel, who were assisted by the Misses George, Bennett, Polk, Fisher and Berret. The novelty was the "midway" Booth, decorated with flags, Japanese wall pictures, and glittering with bright pretty articles. It was the feature of the evening and suggested by Mrs. Henry Jenkins of Bagdad, the lady President of the Guild. Miss Maggie Vorhees had charge assisted by Miss Lilly Heffenger and several young ladies. The fancy table was full of lovely embroidery and useful things which found a ready sale. Mrs. Purcell and Mrs. Margaret Grimes presided here Over one hundred representative ladies and gentlemen sat down and pronounced the oysters superb. The evening was a delightful one. The young ladies from Springfield Institute brightened the occasion.

SYKESVILLE NEWS.

SYKESVILLE, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Gerge F. Patterson and Mrs. Robert Ramsey, of Mount Washington, were the guests of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Purcell, at the rectory near here on Tuesday. They pronounced the ride up the winding Patapsco, especially the view at Ilchester and Ellicott City, as extremely pleasing, and that the scenery stretching out in rolling undulations over Carroll and Howard counties, as seen from Sykesville, grandly picturesque.

Lieutenant Henn, of the Royal Navy, the owner of the celebrated "Galatea" which ran for the America's cup in 1886, will be tendered a reception at the rectory Friday, 7 to 11 P. M. The distinguished gentleman will have the opportunity to meet some of our best and fairest country people.

One of the young ladies at Springfield Institute the other day broke the record as far as feminine courage is concerned. While exercising her vocal powers, a little gray animal, the terror of woman kind in general passed over her foot. Instead of shrieking, and fainting dead away, she finished her strain and then quietly remarked, "A mouse ran over my foot." The principals were much pleased that they had a young lady in the school of such indomitable will.

He leaves a wife, three sons and one daughter. By his death the community loses a good citizen, and his family an affectionate husband and kind father. Funeral took place from St. Mark's P. E. Church, on Monday evening. The interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. W. R. B. Turner conducted the services.

Tears avail not for thee who art sleeping,
Resting in Jesus in sweet repose;
Only watching and waiting our trust in Him keeping,
Until the moment when our mission here too shall close,
Will avail to bring us together with happy greeting;
Through Jesus who to the faithful this privilege bestows.

ALBERTON ITEMS.

ALBERTON, Nov. 2.—The fair at the Alberton Library closed on Friday. It had been the intention of the Librarian to close the fair on Thursday evening, but the directors thought it better to continue till Friday. At 10 P. M. Friday evening the closing ceremonies began. Mr. H. T. Heath, called the assemblage to order, and then introduced Mr. Elmer M. Harn, who presented the watches, rings, &c.

The gold watch was awarded to Miss Allie Perrine, she having received from her friends the amount of $80 40. Miss Alice Green, received second prize, which was a beautiful little silver watch. She obtained from her friends $78 37. The quiet, modest and unassuming way in which Miss Perrine received the prize, made every one of her friends wish that she was receiving the best watch within the gift of mortal man.

In the ring contest, Miss Eliza Neal was fortunate enough to beg $11.22, from her friends, while Miss Edith Bailey, received $11 05, a difference only of seventeen cents. Miss Neal consequently received first prize and Miss Bailey second.

Two little girls, Ida Fryfogle and Susie Lowe, entered into a contest for a doll. Miss Ida received $6.67 and Miss Susie $4 41. They were both given dolls.

Another feature of the fair was the guessing of the name of a little "black" baby doll which sat serenely on the back of a "stuffed" elephant. No one was successful so Mr. Heath announced that its name was Mrs. Cleveland—(Evidently a slight mistake.)

The people who attended the fair were in an excellent mood to help. They kept their pocket books open, and in consequence, over $250 was cleared. They showed great interest in the watch contest and when Miss Perrine received the watch, loud cheers resounded on all sides.

The fair was directly under the management of Mr. Chas. E. Ross, Jr., and the way in which he conducted it, and the impartiality with which he viewed the different contests, has only added fresh praise to his honest demeanor. He certainly deserves great commendation. The band under the leadership of Mr. H. T. Heath, comes in also for its share of panegyrics. HAM E.

Death of John Brown, Colored.

The funeral of John Brown, one of the oldest and best known colored residents of this section, whose death occurred at his home here Tuesday, took place from St. Luke's A. M. E. Church, Wednesday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. C. H. Bourne, of St. Luke's, and the church was filled with a congregation composed of both white and colored people. The deceased, better known as "Uncle" John, was in his ninety-first year, and leaves a number of children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. He was one of the first members here of the Sons and Daughters of Charity, the Ellicott City members of which attended to the services in a body, and also attended to the details of the burial, which was at Mt. Gilboa cemetery, in Baltimore county. A very striking feature of the funeral services was an impressive invocation by an old member of the congregation, who has nearly reached his century milestone, and who, like the deceased, has a record that might well be imitated by his race.

"Uncle" John was perhaps the most noted colored man in this part of the State. He was a slave in his early life, and belonged to the late Theodore Boyce, of Howard county, who died about fifty years ago, and who was in his day one of the largest land owners and most extensive stock raisers in Western Maryland. It was he who imported from England the celebrated stallion Foreigner, whose progeny was for years the pride of many of the stock fanciers of this and adjoining counties. "Uncle" John was the chief trainer of his master's horses, a liking for which he cherished until his death. He used to recall the various devices his master practiced on him to reduce his riding weight, one of which was by sweating. Since the war, he had served as hostler at the hotels here, his last employer being Mr. Christian Eckert, of the Howard House, with whom he remained for fourteen years and up to within a short time of his death. He had been for over seventy years a member of the church, and was highly respected by both white and colored.

An Interesting Tour.

Mr. James T. Clark, returned to his home on Sunday last after an absence of three weeks, during which time he visited Niagara Falls, the World's Fair and Marlin, Texas. At the latter place he has two brothers and a nephew. The eldest brother, Basil C. Clark, is engaged in banking, and the other brother, Thaddeus L. Clark, and the nephew Bradley J. Linthicum, are extensively engaged in merchandising, and the latter not only carries on business in Marlin, but has two branch stores in other towns. Basil Clark, settled in Texas in 1865, and Thaddeus L. Clark in 1880. After a separation of so many years, they failed to recognize their brother James when he appeared in Marlin. The reunion was a happy one, and long to be remembered, and too much cannot be said of the kindness and hospitality of Texas people. The cotton crop of Texas this year is not more than half a one, owing to a drought of four months. The land is naturally very productive, and the farmers would be amazed if you talked to them of fertilizer, as it is never used. Land there is never rested as it is here, but is cropped every year, and with the aid of a little rain responds with an abundant harvest. Near the Brazos river the soil is four feet deep, and it is not surprising that the farmers can grow rich in Texas. While gone, Mr. Clark traveled through Delware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Indian Territory, Kansas, Mississippi, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Texas and Ontario, Canada, and expressed himself as much pleased with what he saw.

Edward Earp, cousin of the bride. Wedding marches were played on the organ by Miss Ray Earp. The ushers were Messrs. George Earp, brother, and Motta Earp, cousin, of the bride. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and potted flowers, and was filled with the friends of the bridal couple. An elegant reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

A Guild Meeting.

GUILFORD, Nov, 1.—The Guild of Christ Church, Queen Caroline Parish, met last Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Earp. A good program was rendered. Several duets by Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Earp were very much enjoyed, as also a solo from Mr. Walter Carr, of Montgomery county. Miss May Bell Chaney, of the same county, recited a humorous piece, "The Broken Chair," which was highly applauded. Several others added to the evening's entertainment after which the company repaired to the dining room, where they were handsomely treated as the genial host and hostess know so well how to do.

There are 8,298 registered voters in Carroll county. Of these 7,813 are white and 485 colored.

In religion, as in friendship, they who profess most are the least sincere.

FORD'S NEW GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Week of Nov. 6—DeWolf Hopper and his merry Company in his latest musical success "Panjandrum."

A comic Opera in Two Acts, written by J. Cheever Goodwin, music by Woolson Morse, in which will appear DeWolf Hopper and his original N. Y. Company.

After an uninterrupted run of five months at The Broadway Theatre, N. Y., to crowded houses, DeWolf Hopper brings his latest musical comique success "Panjandrum," to Ford's Grand Opera House, during the week of Nov. 6th.

The great popularity of this genial comedian is due both to merit and personality; he works to please the multitude by a consistently artistic and amusing performance, and he has accomplished a great success. The production of "Panjandrum" in every direction is worthy attention. With its elaborately gorgeous surroundings, in costumes and scenery, and a tuneful musical setting—a very clever libretto, the bright lines of which fairly sparkle with repartee—and a company unsurpassed in talent, adaptability and attractiveness, Panjandrum contains an ensemble of popular elements which must, to use an appropriate expression of slang, "catch on."

The composer, Mr. Woolson Morse, has produced some delightful melodies, the music has an original swing and rythm that is refreshing, including some very pretty solos and spirited choruses. The hit of the opera is the trio in the last act called "A Pull Together."

The entire company, including its great principals, its large and complete chorus, are the same who appeared during the great New York engagement. DeWolf Hopper, Della Fox, Grace Golden and Sam Reed are the leading comedy lights of this delightful, new, interesting and sometimes brilliant comic Opera production, Panjandrum.

"A YARD OF PANSIES."

By special arrangement with the Publishers, we are enabled to make every one of our readers a present of one of these exquisite Oil Pictures 36 inches long, a companion to "A Yard of Roses," which all have seen and admired. This exquisite picture, "A Yard of Pansies," was painted by the same noted artist who did the "Roses." It is the same size, and is pronounced by art critics to be far superior to the "Rose." The reproduction is equal in every respect to the original, which cost $300, and accompanying it are full directions for framing at home, at a cost of a few cents, thus forming a beautiful ornament for your parlor or superb Christmas Gift, worth at least $5. Send your name and address to the publisher, W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 15 East 14th St., New York, with three two-cent stamps to pay for the packing, mailing etc., and mention that you are a reader of THE ELLICOTT CITY TIMES and you will receive by return mail one of these valuable Works of Art. tf
