A Wholesale Clothing House being greatly in need of Money came to us and offered us the goods at 40cts. on the cost of Manufacture. We could not withstand the temptation and so bought nearly $75,000 worth of these goods Now Everybody in Baltimore knows the Empire Clothing Co. for its Reliability and Square-dealing and when we say a thing it must be so. You also know that we Manufacture every dollar's worth of our own goods, but these goods being bought at less than 1/2 of what we can manufacture them for we of course pitched in and bought. As we intend to save our customers the difference in price We are now selling these Goods at 40 cts. on the Dollar. Come early and Get the Pick.

On August 4th the North German Lloyd steamship Saale crashed into the Norwegian bark Tortoise-shell off the bank of Newfoundland. The crew of the sailing vessel were saved, but the bark sank. A young woman on board thus describes the wreck: "We were all at dinner, when there came a thud, and the ship stopped. We had been moving very slowly, and the shock stopped us, but not with enough of a jerk to spill the water in the glasses or tip anything over. A number of people screamed, and began running around. Somebody looked out of a port-hole, and then told me to come on deck to see the other vessel sink. "It was a magnificent sight. The vessel had all sails set. When we reached the upper deck all of the men had been rescued, so we could appreciate the sight. The beautiful thing acted as if living. It leaned first to one side and then to the other, rocking like a creature in pain, and then slowly righted itself, and, trembling like an aspen, began to slip out of sight.

"There was not a sound on the Saale except the "hush-hush-hush" of a little escaping steam. Slowly, and yet, oh, so swiftly, the vessel sank into the water. which was blue as sapphires, and dimpled as if smiling. The shipwrecked sailors removed their caps and saluted, then remained uncovered until the last bit of masts and rigging had disappeared, and not a ripple on the surface of the water betrayed their loss. "It was only four and a half minutes from the time of the collision until the last thread of sail had disappeared, yet it seemed very long. It brought tears to the eyes of men, as well as women, to see that beautiful ship slip out of Reducing Obesity.

A young English girl afflicted with inbecoming "fleshiness" has succeeded in ridding herself of a large amount of it without injuring her health by following the regime given below. Sho began by getting up at 6 o'clock every morning and taking a three mile walk before breakfast without considering the weather. At 9 o'clock she had a large cup of event of no later will being made, would inherit the combined estate, to the exclusion of the relatives of the one who died first. The question to be decided is whether it is probable that one died before the other, and, if so, which of the two. Or if they died simultaneously, which set of relatives is entitled to inherit. Apparently the decision of the court will be based on probabilities.

At 9 o'clock she had a large cup of coffee, with very little augar, and a slice of dry brend. Then she occupied hermal as the liked until two o'clock, when more bread and some vegetables composed her more bread and some vegetables composed her more bread and some vegetables composed her long walk, followed by a cup of the and a few dry biscuits. Ninety days of this regimen reduced her weight from 135 to 145 pounds.
