A Wholesale Clothing House being greatly in need of Money came to us and offered us the goods at 4octs. on the cost of Manufacture. We could not withstand the temptation and so bought nearly $75,000 worth of these goods. Now Everybody in Baltimore knows the Empire Clothing Co. for its Reliability and Square-dealing and when we say a thing it must be so. You also know that we Manufacture every dollar's worth of our own goods, but these goods being bought at less than 1/2 of what we can manufacture them for we of course pitched in and bought. As we intend to save our customers the difference in price, We are now selling these Goods at 40 cts. on the Dollar. Come early and Get the Pick.

before the haughty heiress, hat in hand and ready to go. "I could have borne your refusal, Verdigris McSorrell," he said, brokenly, 'although I had hoped for a more favorable answer. But you have chosen to accompany it with words of scorn. You have accused me of fortune hunting You have twitted me with my poverty, my insignificance, and my lack of worldly knowledge. I have not deserved this-I may have been presumptuous; but I am not the sordid, mercenary, soulless wretch you have pictured me to be. And, mark my words, proud beauty, the day will come when your haughty spirit shall be brought low!" "What will you do, Mr. Bramble?" scornfully asked the young woman. "Will you sue me for damages? Will you publish some dismal verses about me? Or will you crush me by silent

"I shall bide my time. Heartless be ing farewell!" Long years passed away. In a crowded court-room in a large city, the famous case of Kersmith vs. Jehones was on trial, involving the possession of millions. Enos A. "Your name, madame," he said, "if understand you rightly, is Mrs. Bimm?' "Yes, sir," replied the witness. "Your familiarity with this case grows out of the fact that you have resided all your life in the neighborhood of the property in dispute? Is that correct?"

"It will be necessary, then, to ask you been but, first, how long have you been "I-I was married several years ago. "How long have you been a widow?" "Oh-several years."

"What was your maiden name?"

"McSorrell." "Full name, please?"
"Verdigris McSorrell." "Thank you. In order to ascertain all the facts pertaining to this controversy it will be necessary to ask one more question. Now, then, Mrs. Verdigris McSorrell Bimm," thundered Lawyer Enos A. Bramble, rising to his feet, "please tell the jury your age?"-Chi-

In Algiers there is a small stream which the chemistry of nature has converted into real ink. It is formed by the union of two rivulets, one of which is strongly impregnated with iron, while the other, meandering through a peat marsh, imbibes gallic acid, another ingre-dient in the formation of ink. Letters and manuscript matter are satisfactorily written with this singular natural compound of iron and gallic acid.

There is a new use for whiskey, which may increase the demand for that fiery liquid. A Southerner attests that the English sparrow nuisance can be prompt ly abated by its judicious employment. For example, you soak wheat grains in this stimulant and bait the birds. They greedily devour the doctored food and presently become inebriated. Their drunken antics are, to some folks, amus ing, and they are incapable of flight. It this predicament they can be gathered up by the sackful and converted into pot-pie. I do not know how ideal naturalists and starch prohibitionists will regard this method of destruction, but, if the sparrows are, as universally alleged, undesirable addition to the country? feathered tribes, perhaps this is the best plan for their quick and summary, no to say useful, riddance.

Plain English. It was at the General's inspection, and the "big man" was going round the hos pital with the medical officer in charge resently they stopped at a cot on which reposed a pallid and emaciated specimer of England's warriors. "What's the matter with this man?" inquired the General. "I'hthisis, sir," exclaimed the surgeon. "What's that?"

"Consumption, sir." "Then, why couldn't you say 'consumption' at first, instead of using your confounded medical terms?" The sawbones ventured no reply, and presently a halt was made at another cot. "What is the matter with this man?" again inquired the General. 'Booze!" exclaimed the doctor
