

SUPPLEMENT.

Served God and Man.

The late Bishop Selwyn of New Zealand and Melanesia was well known during his university days as a devotee of the noble art of self defense. He incurred a great deal of animosity from a certain section in New Zealand, owing to his sympathy with the Maoris during the war. One day he was asked by a rough in one of the back streets of Auckland if he was "the bishop who backed up the Maoris." Receiving a reply in the affirmative, the rough, with a "Take that, then," struck his lordship in the face.

"My friend," said the bishop, "my Bible tells me that if a man smite thee on one cheek turn to him the other," and he turned his head slightly the other way. His assailant, slightly bewildered and wondering what was coming next, struck him again. "Now," said his lordship, "having done my duty to God, I will do my duty to man," and taking off his coat and hat he gave the anti-Maori champion a most scientific thrashing.—Home Journal.

In a Back Seat.

Mr. de Style—What's wrong, my love?

Mrs. de Style—All my work and worry go for nothing. I am no longer the first lady in our set. I have become a mere nobody since that Mrs. Oldham came back.

Mr. de Style—Why should that be? She had noble ancestors, but so had you. She has valuable hairrooms, but so have you. She has wealth, but so have you.

Mrs. de Style—All of no use now. Her husband was killed on the Matterhorn, and you never even climbed it.—New York Weekly.

The kings of Sardinia formerly described themselves as "By the grace of God, king of Sardinia, of France, Spain and England, of Italy and Jerusalem, of Greece and Alexandria, of Hamburg and Sicily, ruler of the Midway sea, master of the deep, king of the earth, protector of the Holy Land."
