THE ONLY ANSWER. After its usual cowardly and sneaking fashion The Baltimore Sun makes further answer to The Times' arraignment of its course by a publication of the statement that one of the editors of THE TIMES the statements of The Sun concerning two others of four papers mentioned. But apart from all this, what have such utterances to do with the subject in hand? They do not answer the statements of fact made affecting The Sun. The good that comes out of Nazareth must be recognized, and a truth, from whatever source, is none the less a truth. Why doesn't The Sun answer the charges against it instead of abusing those who make the charges? The only answer is that The Sun is guilty.

ANOTHER CRUSHER FOR THE SUN. If anything had been needed to complete the discomfiture and shame of the shameless Baltimore Sun, it was afforded in Senator Gorman's testimony Monday before the Senate investigating commit-

The Sun had made a great fuss in advance regarding the testimony of Senaators, but now, that it is all in, the archmisrepresenter of Maryland journalism is shown to have had absolutely no ground upon which to stand.

Senator Gorman's clear and concise testimony showed that all along his accall as chairman of the caucus, that he rectly or indirectly in sugar, that he was not aware of any contributions to the Democratic party by the sugar people, and that the consideration of the sugar schedule had been upon the highest plane and solely with regard to the best general public interest.

The testimony is only another of the various crushers The Sun has received and that paper remains as heretofore with no arguments save those of abuse and falsehood.

CONTEMPTIBLE AND RIDICULOUS. The assertions of the Baltimore Sun and the venomous Evening News that Scuator Gorman writes or authorizes editorials in certain Maryland weekly papers, are in some respects too pueriles contemptible and even ridiculous to demand any notice.

So far as THE TIMES is concerned, we nailed the lie contained in such assertions two weeks ago.

When Senator Gorman sees fit to turn editor there are newspapers of worldwide, rather than merely local circulation, which will jump at the opportunity to publish his productions. Ignorant as many of Senator Gorman's critics may be, there can be but very few who do not know that the scope of his efforts is somewhat wider than the honorable yet limited field in which the country editor labors. It is characteristic of the conceited ignorance of some city folk that they should not realize that there is in-torial reproduced elsewhere, calls attention to the Baltimore Sun's hypocritical professions of steadfastness in the support of Democratic party platforms. In line with this alleged steadfastness The Sun has denounced Democrats who, in the effort to frame an equitable revenue tariff bill, have, according to The Sun's claims, not attained the ideal standards of the Chicago platform.

The Advocate pertinently shows that for bolting platforms The Sun is a re-The Advocate cites The Sun's treachery in the matter of re-assessment in Maryland, repeatedly made a matter of pledge in State Democratic platforms. Our Montgomery contemporary further comments upon the fact that Congressman Rayner opposes the recommendation in the Chicago platform that the State bank tax be repealed, and has carried his opposition to the floor of Congress in a recent powerful speech, but without eliciting a word of disapproval from The Sun.

In Mr. Rayner's case we can go further in bringing up evidences of The Sun's dishonesty. A year or two ago Mr. Rayner, although an ardent tariffquence in advocating the retention of protective duties upon wares manufactured in his district, yet provoking no censure from The Sun, but rather securing for himself the commendation of that erratic

We are not censuring Mr. Rayner, for anything he has said or done. On the contrary we have every confidence in his honest Democracy. We recognize too well that platforms lay down the perfect theory up to the enforcement of which parties are pledged to labor. We know with conditions which rarely admit that I theory and practice shall be co-incident. The Chicago platform, for instance, while lenouncing protection as a fraud, yet recognizes as a necessary evil such incidental protection to various industries as a revenue tariff gives. We do not suggest that The Sun could rightfully have attacked Mr. Rayner for the stands he has taken, however at variance they may have seemed with the pledges of the party platform on which he has stood. But we do say that to be consistent, honest or decent, The Sun should not confine its attacks for alleged inconsistencies to Democrats for whom its proprietors cherish personal hatred. By so doing The Sun's ulterior metives become apparent and popular disgust at its conduct is fully warranted.

The June number of the Review of Reviews, published simultaneously in England and America, is quite uncom plimentary to the Democratic party. The tariff bill as originally prepared by Congressman Wilson and his colleagues is criticised as "a protectionist and dissevere criticism is passed upon the bill as amended by the Senate. The Democrats in Congressare represented as having embraced Populism in making "the inholds a public office and that the other is come tax their one distinctive tenet," a former candidate for office. The latter with the opening of the door to which part of the assertion is false, as are also President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are charged. Senators Voorhees and Mills are made out to occupy absurd positions, and uncomplimentary things are said about Senators Gorman and Brice. Senator Gorman is given European as well as American note arbiter of Democratic measures and destinies in the Senate," and that his "skill as a politician resources as a legislative tactician are probably without an equal in this generation of American public men." The magazine contains a likeness showing with striking fidelity the character-evincing and handsome face of Maryland's senior Senator.

A Mugwump exchange, commenting on the fact that the Baltimore Sun's editorials have been read in the Senate to harass Democratic Senators, with "ghoulish glee" adds that The Sun "has been firing broadsides all along the line and with a masterly gunner at the sights." What exaltation will be experienced if the continued murderous fire mows down rank after rank of Democrats in tions had been in response to his party's the fall elections! Then The Sun's triumph will be complete.

The Governor is right. Formal visitations with banquets, programs, fuss and feathers are humbugs.

Thomas M. Lanahan, beside being leader at the Baltimore bar, is one of the most far-seeing political observers in the country. It is in view of this that the Baltimore Herald suggests that friends in their respective hats Mr. Lanahan's prediction that Senator Gorman, if he lives, will occupy the place now filled by Grover Cleveland.

Senator Brice, after testifying before he had not sought concessions for any telligence in the country and that country | interest during the consideration in comeditors are able to write their own mittee of the tariff bill, was asked by Senator Davis: "What were you doing personalism its value as a party paper then?"
