PICTURE THIEVES.
 A DEALER WHO SAYS THERE ARE ARTISTIC KLEPTOMANIACS.
 Theft of a Murillo and of Gainsborough's "Duchess of Devonshire"—Story of a Kiss Given For a Vote—Sharpers and Counterfeit Etchings.
 "Did you ever hear of the artistic kleptomaniac?" asked a well known dealer in etchings during an after lunch harmony a few days ago. "Well, there is such a person. The artistic kleptomaniac is immensely fond of valuable art in the form of etchings and paintings. He steals through the admiration and love of art. There are many famous instances where old and almost priceless masterpieces of the painter's art have been taken by persons of this kind, and it is odd that in almost every instance the stolen pieces of art could not be traced.
 "The most famous artistic theft of modern days was the stealing of the figure of St. Anthony from the celebrated picture by Murillo. The painting, which was on exhibition in the cathedral at Seville, represented St. Anthony surrounded by angels. One morning about seven years ago it was discovered that the figure of St. Anthony had been cut from the canvas.
 "All Europe was notified of the theft, but the police never found the thief. About two years afterward a Spaniard from the West Indies called in at the establishment of Mr. Schaus, the well known picture dealer of this city. The Spaniard told Mr. Schaus that he would like to sell him an unsigned painting by Murillo. Mr. Schaus looked at a man of large intelligence regarding works of the masters, recognized immediately the figure of St. Anthony cut from the painting in the cathedral at Seville.
 "The man was seized, and Mr. Schaus had the honor of returning the painting to Spain.
 "The theft of the celebrated portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire, by Gainsborough, 15 years ago was doubtless the work of an artistic kleptomaniac, for the picture can do the thief no good but excite his admiration. The portrait was in the possession of the Messrs. Agnew, the picture dealers of London. It had been on exhibition, and the Agnew galleries had been crowded. One morning the frame stood empty. The painting had been cut out, and no one knows to this day where Gainsborough's Duchess of Devonshire is.
 "Some dishonest lover of art is gloating over the picture in private. The portrait is valued at $50,000.
 "That painting by Gainsborough, besides being an artistic relic, is also historic, as the painting was made just when the beautiful Duchess of Devonshire had been the means of turning the political tide of England. Pitt and Fox were rival candidates for parliament. It was demonstrated that the election would be narrowed down to the vote of an elector, fat butcher. The butcher intended to vote for Pitt. The Duke of Devonshire tried every means, including a bribe, to influence the fat butcher to vote for Fox, but the butcher was obstinate. Then the beautiful duchess said to him:
 "Is there anything I can do for you if you vote for Fox?"
 "Yes," answered the butcher. "If you will kiss me, I will vote for Fox."
 "The duchess kissed the fat butcher. Fox was elected, and the political complexion of England was changed. It is the tale of an elector fat butcher. The butcher intended to vote for Pitt. The Duke of Devonshire tried every means, including a bribe, to influence the fat butcher to vote for Fox, but the butcher was obstinate. Then the beautiful duchess said to him:
