A Narrow Escape.

An accident, which cost the life of valuable horse and nearly resulted in serious injury to two or more persons, occurred at the Catonsville pike crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at the Relay, about 8.30 o'clock Thursday evening. Mr. Arthur Davis accompanied by Mr. Matthew Gill, of Lawyers' Hill, in driving over the tracks, met a two-horse team crossing in the opposite direction, and in some way the wheels collided, causing Mr. Davis' horse to take fright and back down the track. Before they could drive off the tracks a special train bound west dashed around the sharp curve between St. Dennis and the Relay. They had just time to jump and save themselves, when the horse was struck and instantly killed and the road-cart demolished.

Wouldn't Even Hesitate. A few days ago a stranger was at the Relay anxious to get to Washington by the fastest train he would be able to board. The whistle of a royal blue flyer was heard in the distance. Hastily accosting an old colored man standing near by the stranger asked: "Will that train stop here? "No indeed, sah!" replied the negro, "she won't even hesitate!"

MR. RAYNER'S SPEECH.

FRIEND MORROW: I have failed to find one single Democrat who endorses Mr. Rayner's Music Hall speech. One of the most prominent Democrats of this section, indeed a gentleman of more than local reputation, said: "I have always been friendly to Mr. Rayner. In fact if he had asked me to make a speech or to aid him in his canvass I would have been glad to do so. He was my choice; but after that foolish talk at Music Hall, I would not support him for anything. To antagonize onehalf of his party means defeat. There was no necessity for it. He owes his political success almost entirely to the men he is so keen to thrust aside and

The fact is, Mr. Rayner in his heavenward flight forgot that he had once been mortal. His imagination carried him far, far above the earth. Fatal dreamer! Unfortunate aeronaut! Little white wings will do for dreamers and angels. Parachutes are safer for ordinary

The silent, plain people are not to be deceived by your ery of "boss." It has been the stock in trade of every selfconstituted reformer and disappointed politician for years. Drop that, Mr. Rayner, now. It is common rot. If the people want you all the "bosses" on earth would be as naught. Our Australian ballot system guarantees to any man, no matter how dependant or poor, s secret vote. What "boss" would dare to go behind the rail or hinder a freeman in his sacred right of franchise? Again, I say, all this talk about "boss" rule and the "people's man" is common rot. This is a year in which the office will seek the man. These silent people you are so solicitous about, when the proper time arrives will stamp opposite to the name of the man who measures up to THEIR standard. They look with suspicion upon over zealous office seekers. Yours,

SENATOR HAYES IN HARFORD, He Is Cordially Received by

Creek Farmers. The Deer Creek Farmers' Club, Harford county, met Saturday at the residence of Thomas Lochary, on Thomas' Run, six miles from Belair. Hon. Thomas G. Hayes addressed the club on "The Need of Reassessment." Senator Hayes was most cordially re ceived. He said: "The people of Maryland are demanding relief from the unfair and unequal burdens of taxation. It is not taxes of which they complain, but the robbery imposed by a defective system, by which their hard carned money is taken from their pockets to pay another man's taxes. They demand equality in taxation. Let there be no favored classes. Woe betide the man who, with glittering generalities, evasive terms, or descitful promises, attempts to fool the people on this vital issue. Today more than half the wealth of this State pays no taxes; less than half the wealth pays its own taxes and the taxes of the part which escapes. Well may the people of the State be restive under such condi-

At the conclusion of the address the speaker was given a hearty vote of thanks, and he was cordially invited to visit the club again. WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE.

IR. EDITOR: Western Maryland College will graduate her twenty-fifth class at the commencement exercises to be held in June. It is hoped that many alumni and former students will take this opportunity of visiting their Alma Mater as the occasion is to be made an epoch in the history of the institution. A special committee of the faculty has been appointed to have the commencement program in charge. They will spare no pains to make this commencement week the best of all the twenty-five. To this end many changes have been made in the usual order of exercises, changes which are expected to add increased life and spirit to a program which is already so popular as to attract every year many more patrons and friends than can be Henry W. Warfield, and daughter of the comfortably admitted. Still the College has never spared trouble to make those

Possible Suit to Recover. The Ellicott City correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says that it was stated here Thursday "that suit has been instituted in the Superior Court of Baltimore by State's Attorney Joseph D. McGuire and John J. Donaldson, attorneys for the board of school commissioners of Howard county, against J. E. Hill, late reasurer of the school board, and the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, the latter being the surety for Mr. Hill's bond in the sum of $20,000."

Poisoned by Mucilage. S. Fechheimer died on the 3rd inst., in Chicago from blood-poisoning, as a result of cutting his tongue while licking an envelope. Mr Fechheimer's death was a singular instance of the dangers of blood-poisoning, and his case is almost unparalleled in medical science. He had been writing to his family, telling of his successful conclusion of some business negotiations. He made ready to seal the envelope, and passed the mucilage portion of it across his tongue. The edge of the envelope was sharp, and cut Mr. Fechheimer's tongue so that i bled a little. He thought nothing of it, however, until the next day, when his tongue began to swell and pain him. The symptoms of a serious case of bloodpoisoning were manifest to the doctor from which he grew worse rapidly until
