Gov. Brown's Good Luck, By the death of Mr. James Carroll of Charles, mentioned elsewhere in this issue, Gov. Frank Brown receives an addition to his estate of at least $250,000 The Governor's co-heir is his cousin, Mrs. Randolph Mordecai, of Baltimore. The deceased Mr. Carroll, who, at the time of his death, was about fifty-five years of age, married Miss Florence Patterson, who was a daughter of George Patterson, the owner of "Springfield," in Carroll county, near Sykesville, the fine estate now owned by Gov. Brown. By the terms of the will of Mrs. Carroll, who died a number of years ago, her husband was given a life interest in her property, landed and otherwise, in Carroll county and elsewhere, with reversions, as indicated, to her cousins, the Governor and Mrs. Mordecai. was Miss Emma Brown. The latest valuation placed on the estate, in which Mr. Carroll had a life in terest, is a half million of dollars. For a number of years the deceased had been in failing health, and his death was no surprise. Mr. Carroll was a collateral relation of the the family of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, and his ancestors had figured in some of the most import ant epochs of Maryland history. The deceased left no offspring, and the heirs under the provisions of his wife's devise will enter into immediate possession of the property.

The Sunday School Convention. The Howard County Sunday School Convention which met in this place Saturday and Sunday last in many respects was quite an improvement over that of last year. There was a manifest at Thistle this week, being assisted by increase of interest among Sunday school workers and the people generally The work of the convention was more direct and there was little waste of time. The deliberations were presided Miss Gertrude Slade, of Kent county over by State Organizer George II. Knock and Dr. W. B. Gambrill, president of the Association.

A considerable amount of interest was added to the meetings by the presence of | Children's Day Service, on Sunday Rev. W. J. Shipway, of England, a converted actor. Mr. Shipway was once quite popular in his native country as an actor and singer, but becoming converted is now devoting his talents to Christian work and has an interesting experience to relate. He has all the fire and vim of a thorough Englishman and never fails to interest all who hear him. The Sunday night service of the convention in Emory M. E. Church was especially interesting and a large audience was present. Rev. H. Branch, D. D. took a prominent part in the proceed ings. Among the resolutions passed was one "recognizing the zeal and efficiency of the State Organizer in reviving in terest in Sunday school work in the

The act was committed during a spell of despondency or on Wednesday. temporary insantty. His daughter-inlaw had observed him taking off his hat and coat at the well but had no idea of his intentions, thinking he would come to the house shortly. Failing to do this and being attracted by a noise in the vicinity of the well and not seeing anything of him she ran to the well and found him struggling in the water. No one was about the place at the time and by the time she was able to summon assistance Mr. Richardson was drowned. He had been in bad health for a long time, though his appearance did not show it, and there is every reason to be lieve he was laboring under a temporary aberration of mind.

The deceased was in Ellicott City bu a few days ago and showed no signs of dementia, but in conversation with Mr. Wm. (i. Sykes made the remark that he did not believe he would be here long He complained of not being well. The deceased leaves a family of several grown

GLENWOOD GLEANINGS.

GLENWOOD, June 19.—As your Lisbon correspondent has left to us the description of the Lisbon wedding alluded to last week, we shall endeavor to do so. Our correspondent was himself in "the some say he was. He loves the sport but cannot find the right kind of bait. The itth of June has been made a memorable day in the Longwood family, and this year is the 49th anniversary of Rev. T. the 11th anniversary of Dr. Augustus Riggs and wife of Cooksville. One of the fair young daughters of the family concluded to follow in their footsteps, so about 7 o'clock Lisbon was crowded, and nearly 500 guests there. Harmony Presbyterian church was handsomely decorated with laurel, ferns and pink roses; the marriage bell was covered with pink roses, 19 pink candles burned in an arch over the pulpit. There were four little ribbon boys, Augustus Riggs, Willie Pearre, Mortimer Crapster and Gray Alcock. Prof. Hyatt played the wedding march as the bridal party moved slowly up the aisle. First came the ushers, Messrs. Clarence M. Dorsey, William Knowles, of Philadelphia; Marshall lovely costumes of pink and white, with one dash of corn color of a delicate shade, and formed a half circle on on each side of the pulpit; then the best girl, Miss Mary T. Dorsey, in pink silk, carrying a bouquet of pink roses, followed by four little flower girls dressed two in pink and white, and Elizabeth W. Dorsey and Marion Sloan, of N. J., and two in blue and white, Helen Stinson and Amy Warfield.

The bride (of 19), Miss Louisa V. Dorsey, on the arm of her father, Mr. Wm T. Dorsey, came next dressed in a handsome white silk with long train, white back with orange blossoms, and held by follow. a handsome diamond pin. She carried a showy bouquet of la France cream roses. The groom, Mr. Oliver Pearre, of Frederick, and his best man, Mr. Frank B. Pearre, of Frederick, cousin of the groom, met the party at the altar. Rev J. D. Thomas performed the ceremony. The wedding ide's father, and on approaching house found the lawn brilliantly lighted

C., spent Sunday with nie Ridgely. Mary Fite, Gertrude Detheir parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lashmutt, Gertrude and Maggie Hendrickson, assisted. There were over 200 persons present.

The presents were numerous (there being nearly 200) and handsome. Standing on the porch to meet her namesake was the bride's aunt, Miss Louisa V. Warfield of Longwood. Her gift was a handsome watch and chain with the the largest bride's cake that Hammersley has ever sent out. The table was decorated with roses and ferns, and on the mantle, Mr. J. D. Alcock had arranged the word "Welcome". There were eight pyramids of different kinds of ices, and the table was beautiful, containing as it did fruits, strawberries and lovely cake. Eckert's ice cream came in for its share

DEATH OF WILLIAM H. KERR.

He is Drowned in the Bay Whilst Er deavoring to Rescue His Son. Mr. William H. Kerr, president of the Thistle Cotton Mills Company about two miles east of Ellicott City, Sunday sacrificed his life in rescuing his 6-year-old son, Philips Kerr, from drowning in Annapolis harbor. Sunday afternoon Mr. Kerr left Baltinore on his launch, "Wautauqua," for a Mount View, June 19.—The children's trip to Annapolis, accompanied by his Day exercises of the Sunday School of wife and children, and Mrs. George F. Miss Clara Atkinson and Miss Carrie Harris. J. Fletcher Benton was the en-gincer. In the confusion of getting under way shortly after noon Sunday to return to Baltimore, no one noticed that little Philips Kerr had run forward of the engine on the port side and was balancing himself along the narrow gunwale. Engineer Benton called to him to beware but the lad fell overboard. The engine was reversed and the engineer called out to Mr. Kerr and threw a life-preserver to the boy. Mr. Kerr rushed aft and sprang into the water without stopping to divest himself of his clothing. Mrs. Kerr was at the wheel. Efforts were made to lower the vessel's yawl, but before this could be done Capt. W. H. Burtis put off Miss Dora Wilson, soprano, Edgar on his back, but they became separated The boy was rescued by Daniel W following little girls, attired in yellow father, but Mr. Kerr was swept away and caps and sashes: Grace Peddicord, Grace | drowned. REPUBLICANS IN COUNCIL.

a Free Fight. The Howard County Republican Convention which met in the New Assembly Rooms here Tuesday last has come and gone but it has left impressions which will not soon be erased. The convention met in an orderly manner but beneath the calm there lurked elements which before the proceedings were fairly under way burst forth into fury and mother, Mrs Kate Ellicott, with whom the wildest discord reigned ending in a > sore heads. The combat arose between the George tions, who disagreed over the mode of organizing the meeting. The Day forces being of the more aggressive type gained control of the convention by sheer force of muscle and agility and the Higinbotham followers departed from the hall. Order being then restored, an organization was effected by the selection of Mr. John Q. Selby as the presiding officer, with Major A. C. Rhodes as secretary. The following ticket was then nominated: State Senate-Ex-Indian Agent George

Somers, of the Fourth, were selected as members of the County Central Committee. A county executive committee, composed of three members from each district, was also appointed. The delegates to the State convention were instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Hon. Lloyd Lowndes for gover-

The immediate cause of the trouble in the convention was over the question of seating the Higinbotham delegation from the Second district. Mr. Higinbotham, as chairman of the central com mittee, called the convention to order, and stated at the outset that he should recognize his delegation before the credentials committee passed upon it. The members of the other delegation from the Second, led by Mr. Frank Old field, were on their feet instantly protest ing, but they allowed a temporary chairman to be chosen, and Mr. Robert H. Hughes, a Higinbotham adherent, was elected. This was done by Chairman Higinbotham deciding the credentials of two districts adversely to the Day Upon taking his seat Chairman Hughes announced his determination to name the credential committee. The Day people in unmistakable terms protested against such action as revolutionary and contrary to party usage. At this stage of the proceedings Chairman is the "Geneva," which has performed platform, got into a dispute with the Day delegation on the floor. Three or McKendree M. E. Heated words soon brought on blows and the result was an indiscriminate sparring match during which the rules of the ring were entirely ignored, each fellowing trying to get in a lick where it would do the most good. By this time the delegates below began to share in the excitement and chairs were brought into play and amid the imprecations of the contending factions and the crashing of chairs, with black and white surging back and forward a scene of indescribable terror and confusion reigned By the interference and efforts of the order was brought out of the chaos, but it was evident that the Higinbotham faction had been knocked out and they left number of black eyes and several bloody heads, chairman Higinbotham and Mi Ed. Wilson of the Second, seeming fare the worst. REPUBLICAN METHODS. FRIEND MORROW:

Your correspondent passed West Friendship last Saturday whilst the Republican primary was in full blast. It was the largest ever known at that place. The Day and McGuire faction, headed by Streaker, Snyder, Grant and a brother, Oklahoma Day carried the polls by a large majority They had printed tickets with five white and five colored on each ticket. The negroes, it is said, were each given a dollar, and told that the printed ticket was the only genuine Republican ticket. The opposite side was headed by Robert V. Thompson, Joseph Musser, Louis Bar ow, John W. Selby, Samuel Burgess, and all the leading, we might say, al was a plan that worked like a charm. The meeting in Ellicott City, of which you and the public are now familiar, was | thing that poisoned them. a fitting sequel. This last was Oklahoma in war paint. I have called attention to this matter because the successful parties in this little western cowboy frolic mye been the loudest talkers about Democratic corruption. Are the good people of old Howard ready to turn the county over to these Oklahomaites? Even without their disgraceful proceedings this mongrel ticket could not have made a decent party vote. I feel confident in saying that in this district the respectable white Republicans will not vote this ticket. They may not vote the Democratic, (I have reasons to believe they will.) They have always been straight party men but their self respect will prevent their affiliation with these people. When the Democratic drum beats, let our people get together, put up a respectable ticket, and after November there will be a colony (that Howard county can very well afford to lose) take up their line of march for that Okalahoma township and western ranch. We have been hearing so much about party weakness recently. Being a lifeong resident of this district, with my business calling me to every district in the county, I have had ample opportunity of judging of the sentiments of the people of the county, and unless my judgment is wofully at fault, the Democratic party will poll a larger majority than they have for a number of years. Some weeks ago there was some murmur ing; this is now hushed. The solid think ing people have fully made up Itheir minds that it would be a calamity fearful to contemplate, to turn the State over to the Republican party. It won't happen Respectfully, June 18, 1895.

BUSINESS COMMENT. Among the many devices intended for the health and economy of the house hold none is deserving greater attention than "Rahr's Malt Coffee." The malt without taking away any of the prop erties of the coffee furnishes nutriment and reduces the price all the way from 40 to 50 per cent, besides does away with the liability to indigestion from drinking coffee too strong. See advertisement. Mr. H. D. Dunkel, of Ellicott City, and other grocers in the county have this coffee for sale.

Baltimore Methodist Protestants are alking of the remarkable death of Dr. S. F. Mather of Kansas City, who had just given $200,000 to found the Methodist Protestant Kansas City University. Dr. Mather had completed the transfer of the property Friday evening, and on Saturday he died. It is regarded as providential that he should have been llowed to complete the final arrangements when death was so near. His death was caused by neuralgia of the heart and came unexpectedly. It is reported that a great number of eels and catfish in Bush river are dying and floating ashore. Upon examination it is found that they generally have a lump of "proud flesh" in their mouths, and that after death the cels swell up to about double size and turn green.
