BE JUST. Baltimore Herald, Thursday.

The result of Wednesday's Democratic State Convention was a complete triumph of the "Gorman Democracy" "Cleveland Democracy. While it is true that the convention adopted a resolution endorsing the Cleveland administration, it should be remembered that the resolution was passed by a Gorman convention, with the consent of Mr. Gorman himself, and must, therefore, be regarded rather as a concession by the Maryland Chieftain than as a voluntary tribute to Cleveland.

The truth is there is no real atagonism existing between Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Gorman. The latter is 1892 heartily entered the campaign and largely assisted in Mr. Cleveland's re-election. Because Mr. Gorman differed with Mr. Cleveland on some features of the Wilson tariff bill and had a "tift" with Mr. Cieveland make them "eternally and forever" antagonistic? While the general principles of Mr. Cleveland on the tariff question are fully accepted by all good Democrats yet it cannot be denied that Mr. florman is being vindicated every day and will grow in popularity just as surely as the business of the country grows. Baltimore's great dailies should see this and not be caught napping. THE TIMES has frequently counseled moderation in dealing with Mr. Gorman's position before the country. Everyone knows that Mr. Cleveland is the idol of the Democracy and that he is a great man, but that is no reason why the work of Mr. Gorman should be underrated or his character be so viciously assailed.

The logic of events is indisputable and all the howling a reckless press can indulge in will not affect the current of human thought in a free country like ours and when the rostrum orators come to reviewing history the whole question may assume a different phase.

The truth about Mr. Cleveland is, he holds extreme views on the civil service question and there are thousands of Republicans holding positions which properly belong to Democrats. He has lost thousands of capable and honest workers and the sweep of the county by the Republicans last fall can be largely at tributed to the indifference of those who otherwise would have been his active supporters. Admitting Mr. Cleveland's honesty in all things the least we can say of him is, he has shown some lack of

THE SITUATION ALL RIGHT.

Since the nominations at the Academy of Music the air is hot with discussion. Though strong Cleveland resolutions were passed reassessment promised and men of unimpeacable character nominated, men can be heard talking wildly and incoherently about the "failure" of the convention. Well, talk is cheep. Men Savior of the world came to earth to Savior of the world came to earth to vention assembled proclaim their firm teach people the truth. The Democratic adherence to the principles declared in party is in better shape than it has been for years. Mr. Cleveland has stood as a fidelity of President Cleveland. rock aginst the heresies of his party and triumphed in every contest. Mr. Gorman assisted largely in the formation of a tariff bill which is putting the country on a solid business basis. The tariff question is practically settled for many years to come and the sneering charge that the Democrats were not able to run the country falls dead upon the ears of a contemplative public. Confidence has been restored and the Democracy will go into the next presidential campaign bet-the times have been trying and the party as a party has not been found wanting. You can no more drive the so-called Gorman people from Mr. Cleveland than vou can drive fish out of water. The Democrat who refuses to support the ticket is simply revolutionary in his ideas. Bad as any Democratic administration has ever been in this state by what mode of reasoning can it be proved that a Republican adminstration would be any better-?

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic State Convention which met at the Academy of Music in Baltimore Thursday like all conventions of a similar character had its diverse ideas as to men and measures. Factions were there in the interest of this and that man, but the common purpose wasthe best possible ticket. Men left that convention disgruntled at its proceedings yet after all all things were not expedient. Mr. Hayes without a doubt was the logical candidate, and most likely, the candidate that a majority of the party wanted, but when it came to deciding as to who was the winning man, Mr. Hayes was not in it. It is stated that Mr. Hayes violently attacked Mr. Gorman for not giving him his ardent support. The truth should be apparent to every one that the nomination of Mr. Hayes would have pitted every corporate interest and bond-holder in the state against him. Principle would say nominate him at all hazards, even if he is to be beaten; but policy said no. Reassessment is bound to come no matter who is elected Governor, but necessarily there must be a compromise bill presented-a bill somewhere between the large taxpayers and the tax beneficiaries. Doubtless the nomination of Mr. Hurst was intended to conciliate the wealthy element of the party who have looked upon Mr. Hayes, whether right or wrong, as leading an unwarranted crusade against their possessions in the shape of undue

It is idle talk to say that Mr. Gorman went to the convention with any other intention than to work for the best interests of the party. Mr. Hurst is a gentleman above reproach and if he is the result of Mr. Gorman's manipulation, as has been sneeringly charged, it wouldn't hurt the party to have a few more Gormans in Maryland. Under the circumstances it is a wise choice. Mr. Hurst is upon the result of the present campaign the political position of Maryland in the free from party entanglements of any momentous presidential contest of 1896 ers against him, he was nominated for kind and in his canvass no aspersion of any kind can be successfully cast upon in their support of our whole state and He was looked upon as the probable successfully him.

Mr. Bernard Carter when placing the name of Mr. Hurst before the convention

"I present to you the name of one who. by his unimpeachable integrity, excellent business capacity, untiring patience, firmness and decision of character, and by his honorable and kindly bearing to wards all men, has won the highest respect and the warmest esteem of all who now him, and not only so, those qualities have placed him at the head of a commercial house which, for its success, and for the extent of its business relations with all those parts of this great country with which Baltimore has busiiess relations, stands second to none in this city. "The same qualities which have made Mr. Hurst what he is, and what those who know him know him to be, eminenty qualify him for the high position of chief executive of this state, and while bearing friendly and honorable relations to all the eminent public men of this state, with hostility in his heart to ione, under no obligations of any kind to any one, he will be in the fullest import of the word the Governor of the State himself.

"Mr. Hurst has not sought this nominaion; he accepts it with reluctance, and only with a high sense of duty, believing hat his name might have presented and secured to the party in this state harmony and success. For President Cleveland ie has, as I have, the greatest admiration n every respect, and here, I only say for myself, that if I can voice the Democratic sentiments of this great country, third term or no third term, I would like to see Mr. Cleveland president of the United States the third time. [Applause.] One word more. Not only is he a great admirer of Mr. Cleveland, but he thoroughly endorses his financial and tariff riews, as he has said himself. Now, gentlemen, I present that gentleman to your suffrages, and knowing what I speak to be the truth, and knowing that everybody, else that knows Mr. Hurst knows he is incapable of speaking any thing but the truth, when he has assert ed that these are his sentiments, I commend him to your favorable considera-

AS TO REASSESSMENT.

"Just one word more, Mr. Chairman,' continued Mr. Carter. "I had intended o say, and except for interruptions should have said what I had in my mind to say, and that is, that upon the question of the reassessment of the property of this state, Mr. Hurst, while making no secret that he was opposed, in the condition of the country as it was during the last session of the legislature, to the provisions of the bill which was then efore the legislature, he has now said himself that he is cheerfully, heartily and thoroughly-and every word that he says he means-in favor of a thorough resssessment of the property of this state, in order that all property that ought to pay taxation, and that now escapes taxation, should be brought under taxation, in order that throughout this whole state all people, according to he Constitution of the state should contribute to the taxation of the state according to their fair worth in real and personal property.'

Upon the declaration of principles set forth in the National Democratic plat-1892, and under the inspiring leadership of our great candidate, Grover Cleveland, the Democracy of the Union obtained control of the executive and legislative departments in the memorable contest of that year, and in full view of the important events which have since occurred, the representatives of the Democracy of Maryland in State Conthat platform and their unabated confidence in the wisdom, patriotism and

We heartily commend his administration for the vigor and success with which it has met and overcome the many and great difficulties which the administration of President Harrison and the Republican party left it to deal with, and especially for the courage, sagacity and ability which it has displayed in its determined and resolute efforts to rescue the country from the deplorable cyils of a fluctuating, unstable and debased currency, and to crush the pernicious financial heresy of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Who They Are and Where They Came From. JOHN E. HURST.

Mr. John E. Hurst was born October 21, 1832, at the family homestead, "Wear Neck Farm," on the Great Choptank River, three miles from Cambridge, Dorchester county, Md His father was Stephen Hurst, a successful farmer and local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Shortly after the death of his father, in 1817, his mother removed to Cambridge, in order to better educate the children, and John E. being then fifteen years of age, entered the Cambridge Academy. In 1840 he became ambitious of engaging in business pursuits, and coming to Baltimore, procured his first position with the firm of Hamilton Easter & Co., where he remained one year. Then, thinking the wholesale dry goods business more in accordance with his tastes, he entered the house of Hamilton & Sons, with whom he remained seven years, and then engaged with the house of Hurst & Berry, of which John Hurst, the senior member, was his uncle. In 1857 both members of the firm retired.
