FROM A "CLEVELAND DEMOCRAT," In the first place are there any other Democrats than "Cleveland Democrats?" The following signed by a "Cleveland Democrat" was sent to the Baltimore News last week which the News published with a comment suitable—to itself. form which it adopted. The letter is worthy the consideration of Having been a supporter of Judge Fisher, now that Mr. Hurst has received the nomination I am at a loss to understand why all loyal Democrats cannot consistently support him.

Mr. Hurst has always to my knowledge been a man of independent views. A few years ago he took a leading part in the Business Men's movement which resulted in the nomination of Mayor Davidson, and at the head of which was Judge Fisher. In the Twelfth ward, where Mr. Hurst resided, he always at the Democratic primaries supported independent candidates. Nor did he hesitate at the time to condemn Senator Gorman's course on the tariff bill, although I am sure at this time he has too much sense to indulge in that cheap method of courting popularity with a certain class of people to whom that seems to be the only road to favor.

Long before Mr. Hurst was spoken of as a Gubernatorial possibility he publicly announced himself as in favor of reassessment. It is passing strange that papers that were bitterly opposed to the Hayes bill should now use against Mr. Hurst the argument that he also did not favor that drastic measure.

Would The News and the Sun have supported Mr. Hayes had he received the nomination? Are they not now patting him on the back solely because he is opposed to Senstor Gorman? Had he received the nomination these papers would have jumped on him even more vigorously than they are now doing on Mr. Hurst.

Had Judge Fisher been nominated we who are his friends would have expected the followers of Senator Gorman to have given him hearty support. Nor would we have objected if Mr. Raisin had used influence with the city delegation to induce them to vote for Judge Fisher. Some people who now look on such an exercise of power as an act of tyranny would then have thought it a dispensation of Providence. Mr. Cowen and his friends, for example, should not forget that last fall when he received the nomination for Congress the delegates were selected in the same manner as were this year those to the late Convention. For my part, I consider it a mistake that Fisher delegates were not run at the primaries in each ward in the city. But they were not-it was probably thought easier to influence the leaders than the primaries. So now the result should be accepted. I for one am not ready to be a traitor to my party and to aid in placing in power a party almost a majority of whose voters are negroes.

The News faintly answers the above by the reiteration that "Mr. Hurst owes his nomination to Gorman and Raisin,' and that is enough to condemn him in the eyes of the people. In other words Mr. Gorman is incapable of any good whatever. Doubtless Mr. Gorman had control of the State Convention. A majority of the Democracy willed it so, and what is the News or the Sun going to do about it? Do they want the tail to

Mr. Gorman had full influence in that convention and yet yielded to the nomination of Mr. Hurst and this is what has struck terror in the camps of the News and Sun. Mr. Hayes would have been fought to the death by the entire moneyed interests of Baltimore and a more demoralizing scene could hardly be anticipated. Money would have flowed like water and every election precinct would have swarmed with bribed voters, shows that a longer interval has elapsed since our last general assessment, under

The compromise bill was passed and it looks now as if the Gorman bill" was the wiser of the two. The position of the News and Sun has become pitifully humdrum. Every effort now to raise the issue of "Cleveland" vs. 'Gorman' Democracy is proving fruitless because such a position is built upon a sandy foundation. It is an insult to ordinary intelligence to be harping on the idea that "Gormanism" is synonymous with political or any other kind of deviltry. The people know better and the masses more and more are becoming unmindful of these bitter attacks. . Clear and Frank Statement of what H is and Hopes to Be.

Mr. Hurst's letter accepting the nomination for Governor at the hands of the Democratic State Convention was given to the press Tuesday evening. It contains sentiments that should be acceptable to the most recalcitrant, in that is has not a smell of bossism in it and indirectly flings back the charge that he is any man's man or that he in any way is likely to be swerved from a conscienti. ous discharge of his duty in the event of his election. Just as certain as "truth crushed to earth will rise again," so certain will the popularity of Mr. Hurst's nomination increase. All the yelping an incendiary press can indulge in will not alter the fact the Mr. Hurst is the right man at the right time, no matter who nominated him or how he was nominated. Certainly the most exacting of our so-called independent brethren will not attempt to find fault with utterances so

LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

"I have received your letter of the 8th inst, formally notifying me of my nomination for Governor of the State by the recent Democratic convention, and transmitting to me a copy of the plat-

"I thank you very sincerely for the every true Democrat in the State and is terms of kindly compliment in which the action of the convention, but you do me no more than justice when you say that the nomination has come to me without solicitation or effort on my part

o secure it.' "Indeed, for many and cogent reasons I should prefer to continue to labor as a private citizen for the success of the party, as I have steadily done in the past, but having been selected without agency of mine as its candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people of my native State, I feel that I should not now be entirely controlled by my personal convenience and inclinations, and, therefore, I accept with grateful sensibility the gratifying distinction with which the cenvention has seen fit

o honor me. "I realize that the acceptance of this iomination carries with it a large measure of responsibility, but my knowledge of the people of Maryland teaches me that they are always just and tolerant in their judgment of the conduct of men in public station when that conduct is regulated by candor, independence and an earnest and conscientious sense of duty, and I shall endeavor so to meet that responsibility and so to act during the coming campaign and in the office of Governor, should I be elected, as to give me a just claim to their conidences, respect and approval.

"In coming before them for their votes hey are entitled to have a definite and explicit expression from me of my views and purposes in relation to the issues involved in the canvass, and I accordingly avail myself of the opportunity which this letter offers to make known clearly and without reserve my sentiments upon these issues, and, also, what may be expected of me in the event of my election.

"I have carefully read the piatform adopted by the convention and unhesitatingly approve it, and in expressing this approval it is proper to add that am not one of those who look upon party platforms as mere devices to catch votes and after the election to be disregarded and ignored, but I consider them is declarations of principle to be adhered to and carried into effect, and, if I may be pardoned for the comparison, to be treated as a bill of exchange when once accepted-to be faithfully honored. "The platform speaks my sentiments

upou the national questions of the tariff and the currency. As to the tariff law now in force, I am free to express my regret that it does not go as far in the direction of free raw materials as the people hoped for and expected-but am not unmindful of the great difficulties that stood in the way of the enactment of any law whatever upon the sub

"Certainly, the lawis a great relief from the burdens and injustice of the McKinley act, and in view of the universal revival of activity and prosperity in every department of business to which it has so largely contributed, we may well congratulate ourselves upon this important achievement of our party.

We have reason to be proud of th bold and wise stan: taken by President Cleveland and his administration upon the silver question, and I subscribe very cordially to what our State platform declares upon this subject. "The question, however, which in this State canvass comes more closely home to our people and which engages their attention more than any other is that of reassessment. "Upon this subject I am in hearty sympathy with the declaration of our platform and the reproduction of that leclaration in your letter. "A complete and thorough reassessment is now imperatively demanded.

As will be inv fellow-citizens of both political parties to induce Covernor Brown to withhold his signature from the bill respondent in this issue Mr. Gorman passed by the Senate and House of Delegates at the session of 1892. "The controlling reason that then existed for a postponement of such legislation have largely, if not entirely, passed away, and there is no longer any good ground for denying to the people

"The primary responsibility for such an act rests upon the Legislature, and the intervention of the Governor cannot properly go further, in the first instance, and the public expression of his opinion. Indeed, he should be careful, in the due exercise of the functions of the Executive, to avoid everything like interfer ence with the independent action of the legislative department of the govern-ment, but publicly declaring now my deliberate belief that the passage of law for a general and thorough assessment of the entire taxable property of all the people of the State shouldnot any longer be postponed, I wish to be understood as distinctly announcing that, should I be elected Governor, I shall promptly sign such a bill and also actively interest myself as far as may be proper in securing its passage by the Legisla-

"In order that the party pledges upon this important matter may be fully kept, it is most desirable that great care shall be exercised in selecting capable and efficient members of the Legislature gentlemen who will not only consider themselves bound by the platform, but thoroughly competent to deal with a subject so vital to the people.

"The agricultural interests of the State appear to me to be especially worthy of attention and encouragement, and I shall feel it to be both a privilege and a duty to aid in all proper ways to attract within our boarders thrifty and intelligent immigrants.

"There is one other topic to which

wish to refer, and here also, in view of certain comments that have appeared in the press since my nomination, I desire to speak with a distinctness and em phasis that cannot be misunderstood. "I consented reluctantly that my name might be used for the nomination for Governor, upon the assurance from a number of independent and most respectable sources, including many of my closest commercial friends, that my selection would tend to restore a much desired harmony in the ranks of the Democratic

"Beyond giving this consent I did not go one step, and when the nomination was made it came as absolutely free from any pledge, promise or understanding, express or implied, on my part as ever nomination came to any man. "I did not seek it in any manner whatsoever, nor can I consent to have myself bold and so free. Following is the spoken of or considered as the candidate of any man or set of men, or as the representative of any clique, wing, faction > or division of the party. "Those who know me need no assurance that nothing on earth could induce me to barter away, surrender or abridge to any extent whatsoever my absolute independence, and I trust that the character which I enjoy in this community will be sufficient to satisfy those who do not know me that should the nomination of my party be ratified at the polls in November, I shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of Governor under no committals or obligations to any individuals whatever and wholly free to do what my conscience and my judgment shall dictate as best for the public inter-

"If I had imagined that any of the gentlemen who urged me to allow my name to be presented as a candidate, or any of the friends who actively interested themselves to bring about my nomina tion, supposed that I was thereby laying myself under political obligations by which the exercise of my independent judgment, in the event of my election, would, in the slightest degree, be affected, or that I was thereby subjecting myself to unworthy dictation, I should unhesitatingly have declined the use of my name and rejected the proposal as both disparaging and offensive. "With this ur reserved statement of my position, I submit with cheerful confidence my case and that of the party whose representatives have chosen me as its candidate for Governor to the just and Intelligent decision of the people, respectfully claiming the full and cordial support of the party and faithfully pledging to my fellow-citizens, in the event of my election, the constant exercise of my best energies and abilities to a vigilant, laborious, independent and upright discharge of every public duty."

Mr. Gorman Asked to Take Charge. Since leaving Maryland, says the New York correspondent of the Baltimore American, Senator Gorman has been in a number of national Democratic leadcharge of the presidential campaign of next year, and conduct the fight for his party as he did in 1884. Several of them rave called upon the Senator and stated their views, and have tried to get the Marylander to consent to undertake the management of the campaign. As usual, Senator Gorman has asked for time for consideration before giving his answer, out those who have been in consultation with him at Saratoga and at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, in this city, believe that he will consent to conduct the campaign again, provided he is not himself the
