SENATOR GORMÁN IN ELLACOTT CITY. He is Cordially Greefed by a Large Num ber of Old Friends, Senator A. P. Gorman, accompanied by his son, A. P. Gorman, Jr., appeared in Ellicott City, Wednesday morning, having driven from his residence, near Laurel. The Senator alighted on the street near the bank and was soon recognized by persons who happened to be in that vicinity. He sent his twohorse team to the livery stable and was soon in the hands of his friends. As a matter of course it was understood that the Senator's visit here had a political significence, the principal object being to arrange grand mass-meeting where leading orators would discuss the issues of the campaign. He was first escorted to the office of Hon. John G. Rogers where he remained but a few minutes, going thence to the office of Mr. Martin F Burke. The Senator's presence was soon noised about and for a couple hours Mr. Burke's rooms thronged with citizens anxious to extend a word of greeting. A number who have not been sympathy with Mr Gorman called and cordially took him by the hand To the oft-repeated question as to what he thought of the political situation in the state Mr Gorman cheerfully replied that he thought it would be all right. The six districts of the county were represented by members of the Democratic executive committee and as to the holding of meetings, a program, which we publish elsewhere, was agreed

Mr. George D. Day, whose home is in the Fourth district, while on his way from Ellicott City met with an unpleasant experience at the Middle River bridge, near Doughoregan. Mr. Day saved himself and his team by jumping out upon the bridge, over which the water was sweeping nearly waist deep.

EDITOR TIMES: We predicted some weeks ago that the Sun would shortly throw surprised in the least. But we were suramazement. It advances no argument against Mr. Hurst personally; but on party. The winter has been chosen as "Sun" terms "the dual despotism of the contrary, testifies as to his high the special time for the distribution of Gorman and Raisin," the assertion is character; admits that Mr. Hurst is a such stuff because the literary purveyors | made that they have brought the public loyal Democrat, capable and high-minded, was the almost unanimous choice of his party, &c.

It offers no protest against the manner in which the primaries were conducted; admits they were all right, but because Senator Gorman favored Mr. Hurst joins hands with the enemy and as far as it is capable stands ready to betray the party it has defended for years; in other words, would wreck the Democratic party rather than have Senator Gorman gratified by the election of a gentleman whom he admires and will support. This is a position never before taken by any paper with any claim to respect ability or fair play. Suppose a man should come to your town to buy goods. After learning that Squire Cooke, against whom he had an old grudge, patronized Johnny O'Brien, should publicly de-clare that he would not deal with him on that account. What would your people think of such a fellow? The Squire would say he was a danged fool and would be near right. And yet this is the position of this great moral and political reform paper that boasts that its ditorial staff has the intellectual cream of St. Paul street and is the onliest honest, fair play, fair dealing, people serving paper in the State.

Now, what has the Republican press o say to these so-called Democratic papers and deserters. Not one single depublican paper of any respectability n the State has extended to them the right hand of good fellowship. They amuse themselves laughing in their deeves at the prospect of Republican victory in 1896 through the treachery of hese people. There is an old adage which says: "He laughs best who laughs ast." Every day shortens the time when that last laugh shall come in. Close up your ranks, fellow Democrats. You have nothing to fear from this unnatural alliance of traitors and Republicans. Victory in 1895 means victory in 1896. OLD WHITY.

E. C. Bennett, of prophecies nor howl about the direful Sodus, Wayne county, N. Y. Mr. Bennett will take charge of St. Mark's Oct. 1.

Fattening Cattle. Senator Pinkney J. Bennett, of Westminster, has bought sixty head of dehorned cattle in Baltimore, which he will feed on his farms in Carroll and Frederick counties. The cattle weigh between 900 and 1,000 pounds each. Senator Bennett met with success in his venture last year of experimenting with feeding cattle on wheat that he concluded to try it again, but as the price of wheat is ten cents per bushel higher now, he will not confine himself to that staple for food entirely. as it would not pay at the present price.

The Republican Ticket.

Westminster Advocate. The Republican nominees all are for Protection. All of them favored the pas sage of the Force Bill. All of them endorsed the steal of the Presidency in 1876. All of them accepted the purchase of the Presidency in 1880 and its fruits. All o them are bitter opporents of Democratic principles. All of them favor the election of a high tariff, Force Bill Republican as United States Senator. All of them hope through Democratic indifference to carry the State this year and to so intreuch the Republican party in power that Maryland's eight electoral votes will be cast next year for the Republican Presidential ticket.

Diseased Cattle.

Dr. James A. Stewart, secretary of the State board of health, has returned from Woodbine, Carroll county, where he had been called to investigate alleged cases of slaughtering diseased cattle. Intimations were abroad that persons had been guilty of the act, but he has reported them to be entirely innocent. Their milk cows only were affected.

The farmer is invited to read the good news that comes pouring in from every quarter of the land concerning the wonderful revival of industries, the advance of wages, and the multiplying evidences of better times. Under the operation of the Wilson tariff laws, idle mills at once started up, furnace fires were kindled in all directions, the fruits of the farm came into demand, and prosperity smiled upon hitherto darkened places. This is no compaign buncombe talk. The proof of the pudding lies in its taste, and the proof that a wave of better times for the farmer and everybody else, is revealed in the reviving industrial conditions that mark the opening effects of Democratic attempts to show the people that the Republican doctrines benefited only a few, and that these few were the rich of what was once an incorporated city. syndicates of the country, to the disaster

The "Sun" has undertaken to defeat the Democratic ticket, but, in its ardor to smash things it will do the party a but will regard it with suspicion and disgust. Its enmity towards Senator Gorman has led it to extremes from which honest, sensible men will shrink Its course is altogether unworthy of a great metropolitan journal.

A Paper Without Influence. From the Washington Post.

The Butlalo Courier refers to its fellow euckoo, the Baltimore Sun, as the most "influental Democratic paper in the State." Pray tell us what the Sun enabled them to send out tons of false has influenced. After a tirade extending over several months, and constant appeals to the Maryland Democracy to take up its fight against Gorman, the Eun succeeded in inducing the Democrats of three counties to select anti-Gorman delegates to the State Convention, the Democrats of the other 21 counties repudiating and discrediting the atterances of this would-be journalistic boss. There is not a Democratic paper in the whole State of Maryland so devoid of influence with the voters as the Baltimore Sun.
