As the summer heat wanes the ardor of good Democrats waxes warmer.

The mammoth outpouring of Demo crats at Annapolis Tuesday night, can tail is wagging the dog.

Mr. Hurst according to his speech at Annapolis evidently believes he is as much of a nominee of his party, as Judge Fisher would have been had he been alluded to The Times as being a "harp with one string." If the Sun keeps on much longer as it has been, it will enjoy the cuphonius title of "old Lyre."

The several articles which we repro duce in this issue should be read by all Democrats who are in doubt as to what course they should pursue in the coming election. They are simply incontrovertible and unless a man calling himself a Democrat after reading has determined to commit "hari kari" he will vote for his principles without fear or favor.

The attempt on the part of some to unduly exaggerate Democratic unfaithfulness in this State has about run the ready set in. The theory that the Democratic party ought to do better is all very good, but to jump from the frying pan into the fire and hand the State over to the Republicans is a horse of another color. Any man of ordinary intelligence knows what that means.

Large lithographic likenesses of John E. Hurst, the Democratic Gubernatorial candidate, were distributed Tuesday from headquarters at the Carrolton, and quickly made their public appearance in many places around Baltimore. The demand for them speedily became as great as that for campaign buttons and the supply received from the printers soon showed the effects of the inroads made upon it. The lithographs are excellent portraits of Mr. Hurst .

It is not to be supposed that the administration will look with unconcern on Democratic defeat in Maryland. The powers at Washington are just as anxious for support from Maryland as they were from Kentucky a short time ago. Democratic defeat in this State, means a defeat of what some are disposed to desig. nate as "Clevelandism." True Democrats recognize neither Cleveland nor Gorman in the pending contest. It is a stand up fight for the maintenance of Democratic doctrine on tariff reform and other lines and nothing lelse.

The Baltimore Sun and News in their efforts to inaugurate a political millenium, whether sincere or insincere, have overstepped the bounds of reason. To defend themselves they are now compelled to use sophistry in its most deceptive form, and in many cases misrepresentation. Many Democrats who at first saw darkly, now see clearly. To them, it is futile to say that Republican of the old Jeffersonian stripe. Can it be ascendancy would improve matters in possible that these old war horses of so this State. They are beginning to see that the "down with Gorman" cry is only a ghost. It means too much. It simply means a Republican victory and Democratic defeat now, in 1896, and probably for many years to come.

AS SURE AS FATE. In his speech before the Washington Club, Mr. Lloyd Lowndes said that the success this fall of the Republican ticket in Maryland would put our state securely in the Republican line for 1896. He did not make a truer utterance upon any other subject than that. As Maryland goes this fall, so she will go next fall beyond the shadow of a doubt. With the election machinery in their hands; with the police force completely Republicanized; with the patronage of the city and state divided among them and the prospect of a distribution of the national spoils to draw upon, no intelligent man can honestly doubt the result, even if ordinary adroitness.

But when we appeal to local or national experience of Republican supremacy, how much more certain of such results must we be? Has that party ever scrupled to abuse power, if such abuse was necessary to its purposes? Did it ever concede minority representation in the election machinery when it had this city and state by the throat? Do we not all remember the scandalous and brutal insolence with which it trampled upon popular rights and devauched the ballotbox and outraged public sentiment when it had the shance? Oh, but some will say, that was many years ago. They would not dare to do the same thing now. How about the national seandal of the Electoral Commission when the Presidency was stolen in the face of the entire nation? How about the arbitrary methods of Speaker Thos. B. Reed, of Maine, under whose dictatorship hats were counted as votes, and the rights of entire constituencies were outraged? And for such infamous party service the same Reed has become a party idol and stands today the most conspicuous figure in the Republican column of Presidential aspirants. Still later, how about the force bill, which was urged in the most indecent and vehement manner by President Harrison, and the open and unblushing effort to put the ballot-boxes of the entire country under the control of such political thugs as John I. Davenport? But to bring the lesson closer home still, if that be possible, how about the factional fights in the Republican party here and within the last twelve months Have we not had specimens of the utter unscrupulousness of those political fanatics—who utterly disregard and dis-dain the sanctity of the ballot—in the shameless frauds and violence which distinguish their dealings even among themselves? When have they held a primary in this city which was not characterized by conduct which would have disgraced and annulled any Democratic primary conducted in the same

Ah, but we are told, Mr. Lowndes is a nan above all that! So was Speaker Reed until he got his hands on the gavel. Even so astute a statesman as Samuel J Randall bore testimony to Mr. Reed's fairness and competency before that gentleman showed his claws. So was Mr. Hayes a Christian statesman and conservative gentleman until he got the chance to take the stolen Presidency! So was Mr. Harrison until he saw the opportunity to grab the election machinery of the entire nation, that he and hardly be construed as a sign that the his party might have it in their power through the instrumentality of marshals or the military to subvert the popular that soured the stomachs of honest men years ago pervades the arrogant and insolent Republican mass today, in spite of the soft and insidious hypocrisy of their recent platform. Oh yes; they only want to insure fair elections, and we will be fools enough after the experience of The Baltimore Sun some time ago the past to believe it! They may produded to The Times as being a "harp test as they please, but Mr. Lloyd Lowndes was right: Elect the Republican ticket this fall and they will see to it that the state of Maryland will go Republican in 1896 .- Cor. WHAT MR. WILSON SAID.

The Washington, D. C., National Intelligence in its issue of the 7th inst. says: The Richmond Dispatch in discussing Post Master General Wilson's speech at Morgan's Grove, W. Va , quotes from Mr. Wilson as follows;

"Mr. Wilson said that the people were now so close together on the tariff that t was no longer a partizan question. He believed that a new era of prosperity was now dawning for the American farmer. When President Cleveland took his stand for sound money, prosperity began to plume itself for such a flight as had never come to our people. The tariff laws enacted by the late Congress were supplementary to this beneficial

The Dispatch then says:

"Did Mr. Wilson speak for President Cleveland when he said that the people were "so close together" on the tariff that it was no longer a partisan question? How different is this utterance from the hard things which were said of Mr. Gorman because of his action on the tariff in the last Congress."

Is it true that the members of Mr. Cleveland's administration can find words of praise for the results of the tariff bill has gone to Oxford, O., where he has been that Mr. Cleveland refused to sign, and which now according to administration organs is producing all the prosperity for which the United States should be so thankful?

The Dispatch is correct; this is very different from the abuse heaped on poor try from the force bill. Gorman the man whose skill and diplomacy succeeded in adopting the bill that passed the Senate and became the tariff law of the Harford Dispatch. If any of our Democratic friends are debating whether or not they will vote the Republican ticket this fall we would in all kindness ask them the following questions: Is your love for the Demo-cratic party inferior to your dislike of Mr. Gorman? Would not the defeat of Mr. Gorman be also the defeat of the party of our choice, which we have long professed to love? Would not a Democratic defeat be also a defeat of the principles for which we have so frequently voted? Have the Democratic and the Republican parties exchanged principles. or have you changed yours?

Some of the persons who now propos to bolt the Democratic ticket have here-many hard fought and victorious battles will now become frightened at the ghost of A. P. G. and by a rear movement pass over into the ranks of the enemy?

The Unsophisticated "Sun," Baltimore Telegram. But, say the Gorman papers, when you have got the Republicans "in," how are you going to ever turn them "out"-with the "machinery" in their hands? As we have already said, this is purely a machine politician's views, and that of a very low-minded politician, accustomed only to deal with and depend upon the lowest, the most venal and degraded elements of society. It utterly ignores all the intelligence, the honesty and high patriotic spirit of the State. We are can honestly doubt the result, even if quite sure that when Mr. Lowndes spoke these potent levers are wielded with with so much confidence of Maryland being converted from a Democratic to a Republican State he was not thinking of > school, as the instrument of conversion. -Baltimore Sun. The poor, innocent, unsophisticated old Sun, its condition is really to be pitied. In its intense zeal to send the Democratic party of Maryland to the 'dimnition bow-vows," and give over the State to the Republican rule, it would | prayermeeting at 8 P. M. have its readers believe that there is no "machine" in Republican politics, and run on a sanctified plane, free of any sort of "bossism" or vicious contamina-

the use of "machinery," as understood by politicians of the Gorman-Rasin

If the Sun is so ignorant of the evils of the Republican rule, of its outrages and assaults upon Constitutional liberty, of its despotism, of its terrors, of its machinations, intrigues and deceits to retain and perpetuate its power, we ask that paper to emerge from its intellectual darkness and become convinced of the absurdity and inconsistency of its present position by referring to its editorial utterances in its own files preceding the years of Democratic ascendency in this State.

It need be but its own witness to prove the fallacy of its assertion that Mr. Lowndes was not thinking of the use of "machinery" as understood by politicians to secure and perpetuate Republican rule. It is surely more consistent with common sense and the history of party politics to believe that if ever Maryland falls into the hands of the Republicans that they will abate no effort scruple at no trick, descend to every mean device and impose every repulsive restriction to keep possession of the State. Has not the Republican party done this in Maryland before? Has it not practised the very same methods in Pennsylvania, New York and various other States? Is it not plain to the Sun that as to "machine politics" both parties are "tarred with the same stick," and that the party, Democratic or Republican that may be dominate in the nation, State or city, scruples at no means, however vicious they may be, to strengthen and retain its ascendancy?

subject it simply stuttifies itself, absolutely condemns its utterances in past years, and destroys its credibility as a teacher of the people. It has been intimated that parties were getting together to organize a syndicate or stock company to purchase Quaker Hill here for the erection of a summer hotel. The old stone meeting house standing these many years, desolate and closed, was built by the Ellicott's. The last person in this community who took any interest in the property was Mr. Charles L. Hartley, who died less than a year ago and was laid with his fathers in the cemetery occupying the south slope of the hill. Last week the remains of the aged Somerville Clark was laid in one of the several lots on the north side of the hill, the only barials there in many years. The meeting house is said to be more than a hundred years old. It is thought there would be considerable difficulty in getting a title to the property in the event of a purchase. The site is a commanding one and is intimately associated with the settlement and growth of Ellicott City. Just how it will ever be properly utilized is a question.
