Mr. Gorman speaks this wise: Political positions always carry reciprocal obligations. The people elect a man to office and if he is honest and has ability he serves the people.

Maryland has honored A. P. Gorman with the highest office in its gift. In return he has done great service, not only to Maryland, but to the party of which he was an honored leader. A political tidal wave, the treachery of the United States have a right to unrivalled ability of A. P. Gorman. He will not dispute their claim. Let the Domocrats of the Fifth Congressional District call upon him to become a candidate for the House of Repreentatives. He will be elected. The next House of Representatives will be Democratic. That is settled. No other name would be mentioned in the Democratic caucus for Speaker if A. P. Gorman is a member. Thus he would become the second mos powerful official of the Republic. He could legitimately use the power to redeem Maryland—to snatch it from the grasp of the Wellingtons, McComases and others of that ilk.

Let the work commence. We don't see why anybody should be surprised that the Democratic Congressional campaign committee should be made up of silver men. Bimetallism will be the issue of the Congressional campaign and, we believe, also of the next Presidential campaign, and the Democratic party is for bimetallism.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Dingley's published hopes of the increase of revenue during the coming six months will pan out better than the hopes he expressed previous to the beginning of the fiscal year, the first six months of which show a deficit amounting to $44,000,009.

Secretary Gage admitted that it was the wheat crop that gave the country its erned by the people who represent the little spurt of better times, but he killed yast proportion of the intelligence, inhis candor by following with the assertion that Congress must adopt gold standard legislation before we can have permanent good times.

Every time Boss Hanna goes over his check book these days he says a lct of unprintable words.

Miss Lilian Bell writes from Berlin her impressions of the Germans and the Fatherland.

McClure's Magazine for April. In the way of personal memoirs of the Civil War, there has been nothing more interesting published than Charles A. Dana's "Reminiscences," and much the most interesting of these thus far is the paper in McClure's Magazine for April, giving Mr. Dana's recollections of Lincoln and his Cabinet. Living in the closest official and social relations with Lincoln and the members of the Cabinet for a considerable time, Mr. Dana's opportunities for knowing them were perfect; and he has set forth his impressions of them with that perfect frankness and that sure sense of the central characteristic which make his portraitures so real and definite. Annapolis, March 31, 1898. Police re-organization was not dead, as was written two weeks ago, although its friends had apparently given it rites of sepulture. The truth is that police re-organization is now, has been, and always will be, until the Legislature is over, the darling scheme of the Sixth district combine. Yet, one has to pause and ask himself, is it the combine? for the Republicans of the present Legislature have made history so fast before the very eyes of people that one can hardly keep and one bolted the caucus, and the Democrats had to step in and help one faction to elect a Speaker and start the business

The Sixth district combine saw its reakness and immediately set to work to make a new deal. They placated Speaker Schaeffer. He received the office of State Fire Marshal, and his friend Porter was taken care of in the Liquor Board of Baltimore. Gov. Lowndes was induced very probably, by false friends and bad advisors, and then by a mighty effort, votes was gotten together to elect Judge McComas Senator—the only victory the

The destruction of the Maine is many honest men individually in the regarded as the grand heathenish cul- combine. Foiled in its stratsgem of a mination of Spain's perfidious dealing two to one board, the Democrats with the with this country and the people she has the combine set itself to work on a bipartizan board, for it had this advantage, Kinley has asked until Monday in the hope that there will be peaceful settlement of the pending difficulty. Congress has reluctantly granted it. After that it will be the boon of peace or the boom of friends in office and the Malsterites would cannon. Spain by chance may be able to be wiped off the face of Baltimore-for destroy a number of our battleships, but | with no State patronage and no police it will make her fate all the harder. appointments, political enthusiasm would soon ooze out from their veterans, and the combine would have it all its own

Then the Malsterites were once more cozened into a caucus, and one of their friends nominated for Police Commissioner. The House agreed to go into an election for Police Commissioner, and the Senate, controlled by the combine, refused to accede. Then the indignant Malsterites grew madder than ever and now they are seeking to scalp the combine worse than ever, even to the cleaving of its very skull.

In the mean time the Senate has passed the bi-partizan police board bill, and this was done in a split of the Republican factions making matters worse than ever. The Maister faction is in a sad and few men, and the cowardice of others, fighting frame of mind. They seek Demhas overthrown the Democratic party in ocratic votes in the House to save them from utter annihilation from the hands Maryland and the Democratic party of their friends. They are willing to concode the death of the primary election bill—they killed the county local law, a bi-partizan, extravagant county printing scheme to give Republican papers patronage in Democratic counties at the expense of the tex-payers, and they promise to defeat other bad and partizan legislation, if only the Democrats won't legislate them out of office in the Police Board of Baltimore, by passing the bi-partizan board bill.

In the mean time Gov. Lowndes deftly calls back from the Senate his Baltimore sists of negroes and mulattoes, who conappointments, and can revise them, to stitute the great majority of farm and suit the new political situation, for friends of yesterday to the combine are enemies | vana alone there are about 76,000 blacks, today. The like, of lightning changes in unblushing practical politics, was never seen in the palmiest days of the worst mach politics of the great and gallant larylan Democracy. Then to add to the troubles of the combine, Senator McComas, the chief beneficiary of its benefits, has taken a stand clean against the Governor and Senator Wellington, and opposes the bi-partizan police bill. He sees Wellington again at the helm, and this, in spite of the patched up peace of the winter between them, is what he does not want for his ancient | the whole presenting a picture of infinite and inveterate enemy, the Duke.
