had to "git," and in the language of Mark Twain they "got." The property on fire proved to be the tenement house, a large stable and several outbuildings. A large number of persons were present who sought vigorously to stem the sheets of flame which were devouring the buildings but without avail. When the fire apparatus arrived, an additional large stable was about to burst into flames but by a prempt application of water from a well distance about five and a half miles, in the building was saved. The fire department from Catonsville arrived soon after and as additional protection soaked of caloric in transitu. Has the record the threatened building with chemicals, but it was through the prompt response of our department that that much of the property was saved. Mrs. Pak, Korean.

Under the auspices of the Rose of Sharon Mission Band of the Presbyterian Church here, Mrs. Pak, a native Korean, addressed a large audience in the lecture room of the church Wednesday evening last. Mrs. Pak was converted to Christianity at one of the mission stations of House of Correction, has just harvested her native country and at once resolved to attempt something in behalf of her people, and to that end decided to take up the medical profession. She is now the field will yield 1,500 bushels of barley, the graduation exercises Miss Owings entering on the third year of her course | being an average of 50 bushels to the and has made satisfactory progress. She is a bright, intelligent lady and one could hardly conceive a more interesting address than what she gave on Wednesday night last. Though her English was somewhat imperfect there sparkled all through her full hour's lecture brilliant sallies of unaffected humor, mingled with every evidence of a consecrated purpose. It was refreshing indeed to here this little Korean woman uttering, with all the fervency peculiar to those of the Orient, the Macedonian cry-"come over an help us"-that her people might enjoy the light of Christian truth and civilization. Shespoke particularly of the rigid custom which confined her sex to the narrowest circle of privilege, from which there was no rescue except through the spread of the gospel. She was treated to a most cordial ovation after the address by all present and will go away carrying with her the full sympathy and well-wishes of

A Blaze in the B. and O. Office. after the fire bell on the engine house rang out the warning that a blaze was in progress somewhere. This time it proved to be the office of Mr. Frank Heine, ticket agent of the B. and O. When discovered the flames were licking the ceiling and at first a total demolition of the building seemed certain. Fortunately the principal part of the blaze came from the burning of files and other papers and a few buckets of water served to put it under control. Everything in the shape of paper, including the ticket case, was consumed. The fire scemed to have originated under the counter near the floor as the counter was nearly burned through. The origin of the five remains a mystery as there were no matches about the office and nothing that any one knew of that could start a fire. The theory that electricity from the wires started it is not accepted as the switch-board is on the other side if the room where the fire evidently started. The loss amounts to several hundred dollars with considerable inconvenience on account of the destruction of letter and other files.

ALLEN-LINTHICUM. One of the prettiest weddings that has ever taken place in old Howard, occurred Wednesday evening at "Rose Hill," near Glenwood, the country seat of Mr. Geo. W. Linthicum, when his charming daughter, Miss Frances Belle, became the bride of Mr. Wm. Watkins Allen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr.
Truit of the M. P. Church, on the lawn, on which had been erected an altar of daises and laurel. The bride and groom stood under a bell of daisies.

Promptly at 7 o'clock, the ushers with the two little flower girls, walked down the lawn to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, followed by the best girl, Miss Rose Linthicum, sister of the bride, and the bride walking alone. The bride was met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Mr. Louis T. Clark, of Ellicott City. Miss Gertrude

Matthews, played, "Oh, promise me," during the ceremony, and at its close the order of the procession was reversed. the flower girls walking before the bride and groom, strewing their path with flowers, from baskets they carried. It the parlor which was decorated with ferns, daises and numberless wax candles, the young couple received the congratulations of their many friends. A tempting collation was served a small tables, the rooms were decorated with daises and laurels, thus carrying out the idea of a pink and white wedding. The bride's costume was a lovely crea tion of white satin and chiffon, with pearl ornaments, en train, with veil pinned with an exquisite "cioud burst" of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride carried bride roses. The best girl's costume, was of white organdie, over pink moire, with pink trimmings. She carried pink carnations. The flower girls were Miss Ethel Banks and Miss Lenore Dorsey. Miss Sallie

Dorsey bore the wedding ring on a silver salver. The ushers were in full dress and wore buttonaires of pink carnations. They were, Messrs. Clark Linthicum, brother of the bride; Wade Clark, of Clarksville; Henry Matthews, of Washington, D. C., and Wm. Forsythe, of Baltimore. The presents were many and very handsome. Mrs. Susan McCall, a well-known lad of this village, wife of Mr. Horace Mc Call, died on Monday afternoon, 13th inst., at 1 o'clock, after a lingering illness of two years, of a complication of diseases, in the 58th year of her age. Mrs. McCall had been a resident of the village for a number of years and was highly esteemed. She leaves, besides her husband fire grown oblides to mount iusband, five grown children to mourn her loss. Her funeral took place from her late residence at 10 o'clock Wednes day morning, Rev. Henry Branch, of the Ellicott City Presbyterian Church, conducting the services, and the interment was in Oclla Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Joshua Clements, Walter Clements, A. Leister, John Hobson, Ewd. L. Webb and Joseph Conrad. Underta ker Hillsinger had charge of the funeral. Mr. C. Rhodes here has no children but he has a pet dog which from time to time has shown great intelligence and seems like one of the family. The most startling instance of intelligence occurred sometime ago when Mr. Rhodes was planting potatoes. The dog seeing what was going on thought he would take a hand in it. Picking up a potato he ran to a certain place, dug a hole, deposited the seed and covered it up. He repeated this performance a number of times until he had put in a respectable little patch, and are now growing finely. Mr. R. cultivates these vines along with the rest and says they are in advance of what he noon by Bishop Paret who delivered a very impressive discourse. Seven candidates were confirmed and admitted to membership. General regret is expressed on every hand that the rector, Rev. Wm. Henderson, has given in his resignation, having accepted a call within the Pennsylvania diocese. The best wishes of his friends will attend him to his new field of labor in the Master's vineyard. Confirmation and Communion service will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church next Sunday at 11 A. M. prompt preparatory service at 10.30, Sunday school 9.30 A. M.

Seven new members were added to Zion's Epworth League on Monday night. The meeting although a business one, was very interesting. The league meets again next Sunday at 3.30 P. M. The strawberry and ice cream festival held at Emanuel M. E. Church last Friday and Saturday evenings, was a fair success. The refreshments were first class. Laurel, the Fifth and Sixth districts of Howard were creditably represented by the visions of loveliness for which these localities are noted. CATONSVILLE,

A cyclist named Smith, from Baltimore while riding on the Valley road, near Catonsville, met with an accident Monday. He lost control of his wheel on a steep grade, and at a sharp bend of the road he careened into a bank and a post and rai fence. He was injured about the chest head and arms, and the bone at one of the joints in his hand was driven out through the flesh. He was taken to Catonsville and Dr. J. Charles Macgill attended to his injuries. Invitations have been sent out by Captain and Mrs. F. M. Colston, of Catons-ville, for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eliza Pendleton Colston, to Mr. Wyatt W. Randall, of Baltimore. The ceremony will be performed on June 23 at 5 P. M. in St. Timothy's Protestant Episcopal Church, Catonsville, by the rector Rev. Percy F. Hall.

BURGESS. Fell asleep in Jesus on June 15th, 1898 Sarah E., widow of the late John Burgess, in the 66th year of her age. Her funeral will take place on Sunday, the 19th, at 3 o'clock, from her late residence near Ellicott City. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.

I held the white hands folded So quietly on her breast, They looked almost as if the Lord Had given the promised rest. We miss thee, loving mother, From thy familiar place: We do not hear thy footsteps, Nor see thy cheerful face.

We miss thee at the table.

Nor hear thy voice in prayer; And, oh! what sorrows pierce our hearts To see thy vacant chair. Thy room is drear without thee. And sad is every heart.

Oh! could we hear thy voice again What joy it would impart. We miss thee, oh! we miss thee,

Where'er we stay or go: The memory of thy kindness Still sets all our hearts aglow. Our mother is sleeping, so free from all pain Awake her not, sweet spirit, to suffer again She slumbers so soundly. O let her sleep on, Her sickness is ended and troubles all gone O think what she suffered and moaned with
