The capture of Manila rounds up with completeness the achievements of Admiral Dewey at the Philippine Islands. To be sure General Merritt was present with Spanish positions in front of the city, but to Dewey was due the hazardous underwaters to be beset with every species of danger, until by the suddenness and energy of his attack he had swept from the face of the earth the last vestige of Spanish marine opposition. It is not well to laud a man too much until he has finished, but in Dewey we have a brave and levelheaded man; cool, farseeing and resourceknown as a plain, unpretentious officer, a fit representative of a people, the nature of whose government is bound to develop the highest qualities, whether it be in peace or war. Doubtless we have a hungenius of our hero and many will go untried. Certainly at Santiago and Manila we have seen what the rank and file of the army will do, and the world has seen another object lesson furnished by a nation whose humblest citizen has as much right to the atmosphere of freedom as he who occupies the highest office in the gift of the people.

A SIGNIFICANT UTTERANCE.

While the Baltimore Sun has assidusuccess of the Republican party in Maryland, consequently, for Protection and the fostering of trusts, it is refreshing to see so influential a paper as the Baltimore American with all its predilections, on great questions of national place the army, or the greater part of it, polity broadening out.

For years back on the part of the American there has been a leaning toward the people and on more than one occasion it has run counter to at least the politicians of its party. It can, however, be said that the American has ceased to be a party organ. This is very much emphasized in its issue of Sunday last discussing the topic "Looking Ahead:"

"We have now gone out into the world, and it follows as a matter of course, that we will no longer shut ourselves from the world by injudicious tariffs Many months ago The American, which has always stood for rational protection, said that the Dingley bill would probably be the last high taciff law passed, and this prophecy seems near fulfillment. Our industries have passed the infantile stage and are now competing with the world in all the markets of the world. It is American superiority which has, under protection, conquered, all the pauper conditions of Europe, and it is so strong now that it needs less protection that it ever did."

"At the beginning of the century the $250,000; it is fully that many millions today. Now another hundred years is ities have endeared him to the nation .about to begin and we are on the edge | Scientific American. of progress. What about the wealth to be made? What about the knowle edge to be gained?"

Doubtless the American with many other influential papers of the country has become alarmed at the enormous power exercised by wealth in shaping the policy of the country. That the rich are becoming richer and the poor poorer is obvious to the most casual onlooker, and as the American says, our industries having "passed the infantile stage" that plea can no longer be put forward as an excuse for compelling the ity and accuracy in the several bombardfarmers and others to pay from 25 to 50 per cent, more for the necessaries of life than they otherwise would. A policy equalizing opportunites among the people will be the true policy and the popular policy if the people understand it.

Interest in the war served the Republi cane numerous good turns this year, not the least of which was preventing the attention of the public being centered upon the big deficit the government closed the fiscal year with. Although the the government received from the sale of the Pacific Railroads $64,751,223, the expenditures for the year were $38,047,247 in excess of receipts, and leaving the railroad money out of the calculation the deficit was $98,249,103. A very clever statement prepared by Assistant Secretary Howell, of the Treasury De. partment, has been made public, in which penditures were largely responsible for the big deficit. But even accepting Mr. Howell's estimate, that $56,000,000 of the expenditures were made for war purposes, would leave a deficit of $12,219,103 for

THE SANTIAGO TRACEDY.

There is only one thing that can match the splendid heroism of our soldiers at Santiago, and that is the criminal incompetence of the Subsistence and Medical Departments, to which the feeding and nursing of these brave fellows was inis a sin, and we feel that to remain quiet in the presence of a shameful and fatal maladministration that has added to the natural horrors of war others that might easily have been avoided, is to do a posilive wrong to the heroes of Guantanamo, El Caney, and San Juan.

The wretched bungling which has marked every phase of the Santiago campaign in the Medical and Subsistence, Departments is bad enough, Heaven knows, in itself, but when the Secretary of War deliberately proceeds, for reasons best known to himself, to whitewash, the department, he not only betrays a callous have been aggravated by the inexcusable incompetence of his subordinates, but he leliberately insults the American people as a whole. A more ill-timed statement | it "feel like another man." than this "apology" or one in worse bad taste (considering the time, circumstances, and Mr. Alger's responsible position) we this journal.

in the half century of the existence of The people of this country have acquired a reputation for remarkable patience and long suffering, and we think that never did they show it in such a has selected in his own mind the spot supreme degree as the present. It was where the building shall be erected or not hard for our citizens to surrender the at all, and has also chosen the breed of homes to be dispatched on a fatal campaign in one of the most pestilential climates of the world. But the surrender was made with the loyal response which marks a truly patriotic people. All that they asked, the least that they expected, Howard county, has been renovated and was that the men who had volunteered so freely should receive at the hands of the country every possible safeguard and support that is known to modern science. The American people never doubted for a moment that its army would get the best of food, the best of transportation and the best of nursing and medical care in the field. In this expectation they were fully justified. They had voted plenty of troops to brilliantly assault the lavishly funds to carry on the war, they had given the administration a free hand. in fact, in the matter of expenditure, and taking of venturing into new and strange they had every reason to expect that all that the government of a wealthy, powerful, and resourceful nation could do to soften the rigors of war would be done As a matter of fact, they have seen our army of invasion subjected to inconvenience, hardship, and positive sufferings for which there is not the slightest excuse, and which were entirely due to the amazing incompetency of the medical and subsistence departments. Everyful. Until his fight at Manila he was thing, indeed, was favorable, highly fa vorable, to the successful landing of troops and supplies and the keeping open f communication. We had the complete command of the sea and abundance of ships for transportation; the campaign was being carried on at our very doors, dred Deweys but not all may have the and the field of battle lay but a few miles from the point of debarkation. Yet, as matter of fact, our troops had to go through the fierce fighting at Santiago in a half starved condition, and what food they secured was often of the vilest des-obscure these facts, which first came in the press dispatches, and are now daily being corroborated by private letters ously if not insiduously worked for the from our unfortunate soldiers themselves. Our army triumphed; but in the hour of victory the dreaded fever made its appearance, spreading so rapidly that the victims were soon numbered by the thousand. The first duty of the Secretary of War, one would have thought, was to on transports, and remove it to its native northern home. But no. The political demands of the hour had other calls upon the transports, to satisfy which, they were hurried home in order to carry an army of 15,000 men to a so-galled invasion of Porto Rico. This pleasure trip was organized, it seems, in compliance with certain political demands, the righteonsness of which appears to have commended them to the secretary's good military judgment. Meanwhile the sick, wounded, and dying troops were to be dispatched to the interior of Cuba until the conclusion of the Porto Rico junketing trip would set free the transports to bring home what was left of the Santiago army.

Our beloved country is just now ing through a crisis which, in its profound importance, can only be likened to the throes of the revolution which gave the country birth or the terrific struggle of the civil war. The demand of the American people at such a time is that its high officials shall be distinguished by the purest and most unquestioned patriotism. It has nothing but scathing rebuke for such questionable politics as are evidenced in the recent publication of the partial contents of a private letter, largest fortune in America was only in the hope of working political injury to a soldier citizen whose splendid qual-

Smokeless Powder For The Navy.

The lesson taught by the war that smoke less powder was a powerful and almost absolutely necessary factor in modern naval engagements has been followed by a decision of the Navy Department to establish a factory for the manufacture of the powder without delay. The money required is available but the department was hastened in its action to construct the factory on account of the excellent results attained from the use of smokeless powder by the cruiser New Orleans, which was enabled to fire with greater rapidments of Bantiago's defences on account of the exclusive use of the improved explosive. The Spaniards also used smokeless powder, and while their poor marksmanship spoiled the effect of their fire, it might have been worse from a Spanish point of view if they had been exception of the New Orleans. The factory will be established at the naval proving ground at Indian Head, Md., hirty miles below Washington, on the Potomac River.

It is said that the Maryland militar authorities were so anxious that the Fift should escape all harm or injury that they provided the regiment with an abundant supply of "safety pins."

Warden Weyler, of the Baltimore jail, says that there are more women in that institution now than ever before. Can this state of affairs be charged to the "higher education" of women? Sampson may be, as Secretary Long says, an excellent ordnance officer; but a strategist of matchless ability, not a mere expert in gunnery only, was needed to destroy Cervera's fleet and Schley was the right man in the right place. Secretary Long also says that he would like to crown with laurel all those enfleet, but it looks very much as if the with the difficulties that are bound to con wreath with which he'd like to crown Schley would be made of poison oak.

> As I write it seems probable that the war is over for the present but there are many very serious questions remaining for the people of the United States to consider and settle.

The most notable of those engaged in the war, are Schley, Dewey, Joe Wheeler, Shafter, Lt. Blue, Wainwright, and Capt. Clark of the Oregon. Fitz Lee's great work was done before the war began. Sartoris. Russell A. Harrison, and Jno. A. Logan were set, early in the campaign, to assort potatoes, but there is no record of the completion of their job. They are probably looking for some smaller ones than themselves.

Great big black marks are set against he names of Alger and Sampson. Alger's son is probably entirely restored to health and to his country for no more costly cablegrams touching his stomach ache have been sent C. O. D., to the War Department and charged to the Govern-

Whilst the United States are slowly drifting into experimental settlements of the various questions, growing out of the war, which have arisen, and will continue to arise for many years, the Constitution will receive many severe wrenches from rude, careless, and incapable hands, and we shall hear much of our gereat, gerlorions country and of "our civilization."

Why Hobson should be almost delified I am at a loss to understand. Lt. Blue went twice into the enemy's country to see if Cervera's fleet were bottled up and was successful. He made the trips with the fate of a spy staring him in the face if caught. Not muchis said about him. The seven men who went with Hobson and were equally as brave as he get but scant notice. If Hobson had been killed his death would at least have restricted to the use of brown powder as been an honorable one. All that he did all the American vessels were, with the was to invent and patent a plan to pre vent absolutely the escape of Cervera's fleet. In this patent the great claimant, Sampson, took much stock. Uncle San furnished all the capital, one ship valued at $400,000. The patent was a dismal allure for it stopped nothing, the Unit ed States lost all its investment $400,000 -, Hobson got a lot of glory and much free advertisement and the claimant some prize money to which he was not entitled.

In an editorial headed When the boys come back," the American indulges in some slurs against our Maryland soldiers, they will get a good old Maryland welcome and all the fatted calves in the State will grace the festivities." The President must be supposed to have reasons which he considers sufficient to justify this treatment of Commo dore Schley, as the people will not believe him guilty of an act of deliberate injustice without clear proof to that efect. Mr. McKinley has received the indifference to the army whose sufferings | body to it than Spanish fleets. It takes a loyal support of the Maryland delegation n Congress in his measures during the progress of the war with Spain, and it is not to be supposed that he would ask them to vote for the reduction in rank of one of their fellow-Marylanders unless he had substantial grounds for such an extraordinary request. The issue as presented is very simple, and has no relation to any personal controversy or comparison. It is one of abstract right or wrong. If there are any charges against Commodore Schley, the public have a right to know what they are; and he should have an opportunity to be confronted with his accusers and to produce witnesses in his defense.
