SAMPSON SUDDENLY MAGNANIMOUS. When Admiral Higginson wrote a letter declining the promotion given to him because the nominations of his brother officers for similar promotions had not had been confirmed, the country expressed its admiration for the extraordinary display of magnanimity; when Sampson made an attempt to square himself by following with a letter to the Secretary of the Navy, suggesting that his name be left out of the promotions sent to the Senate, at the next session of Congress, the country gave him the ha! ha! of derision. The public is often humbugged, but in these two cases it correctly sized up the genuine and the imitation without a signed the presidency of the Senate to moment's hesitation or a single pointer, accept the appointment of Surveyor of other than the letters of the two men and | the Port of Baltimore. The Democrats in Baltimore Thursday night held a rousing meeting endorsing Thomas G. Hayes for mayor. Mr. Hayes in his speech before the large assemblage which greeted him, distinctly gave it out aire's resort." While these gentlemen and simple, and everyone knows that Republicans in Ohio are compounding a when Mr. Hayes makes such an utter-Democrat and an honest man, and it looks as If the Democrats of the city are abou to take the bull by the horns and discard the hypocritical pretensions of the wouldbe "good government" people, who hitherto have received their support largely from the negro element.

THE CLASS OF MEN WANTED Westminster Advocate: It is true that outside of his own county or city, no candidate is stronger than his party, but that some men will make stronger candidates than others is also undentablestronger because of their special fitness for the office, their high character and absence of political associations liable to weigh them down. Such men inspire confidence and enthusiasm and bring out a larger vote. In this light the Advocate regards Senator Hering, of Carroll, a particularly strong man. He made a fine secord in the Senate, and was a leader from the very beginning of his term. His sound judgment and conservative char acter were soon recognized, and his excellent record has made him widely and favorably known throughout the State He is frequently mentioned in connec tion with the next governorship, and more frequently for Comptroller. He would fill either place with honor and dignity and success. He seeks neither place. He has never sought preferment politically or otherwise, and he will not now turn a hand for any position. If offered him by the state convention he would probably accept the nomination for Governor or Comptroller. If the Democratic party desires his services, and leave the position to his choice, he would no doubt prefer to have the nomination for Comptroller, and he would make as able an officer in that position as the state has ever had. Senator Her ing is just the type and character of men the Democratic party must place on their state ticket this fall to inspire confidence and bring a full party vote to the polls. Another gentleman of high character and standing, of wide acquaintenance of proven ability, and one whose name would inspire confidence, is Edwin War field of Baltimore, president of the Fiand would poll a vote in Baltimore City thing. and his native county of Howard in excess of the regular party vote.

John S. Wirt, of Cecil, and Hon. Joshua W. Miles, of Somerset, are also men of the high character from whom a ticket should be selected. Both are able lawyers, both are men of high records, the one in the Senate and the House and the other in Congress, both are popular, and either would make a strong candidate for Attorney-General.

These are the class of men the Democratic party must select from in order to but grew worse. He told her she was make the largest possible vote-men of hopeless victim of consumption and that character, of integrity, of capacity and of | no medicine could cure her. Herdruggist of this class will easily carry the state.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for and influenza. It has become famous for part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its sootbing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saying the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by Signature

HON, EDWIN WARFIELD

Eligible as a Candidate for Governor-His The Westminster Advocate in scanning the field of Democratic candidates for Governor of Maryland, has suggested the name of Hon. Edwin Warfield, of Howard county, as a promising and wellequipped leader in the contest.

If Mr. Warfield can be induced to accept, the business men of Baltimore will second the suggestion. Apart from Mr. Warfield's individual fitness for the responsible duties of a progressive business governor, his extensive acquaintance throughout the State puts him in touch with the masses. Affable, generous, magnetic, Mr. Warfield's friends are legion. His whole political record is clean. In every position to which he has faithful service, able administration, coureous and dignified bearing. Accustomed to minutest details, his characteristic energy would make him a watchful and progressive guardian of the State's inter-

Enough evidence has already been taken by the Military Court of Inquiry to convince the country that Gen. Miles was right when he charged that meat unfit for use was issued. What the country desires now is the punishment of those who ought and those who sold that bad meat, but political "pull" will probably save these brutes in human shape.

It is now charged that the attempt to smirch the army record of "Fighting Joe" Wheeler originated with friends of the administration who feared that Gen. Wheeler's popularity might get him on a Presidential ticket. Wherever it originated, it was a failure as it deserved to be.

If the Military Court of Inquiry really wishes further evidence in that direction, It should summon the agent of Armour & Co., who told the regimental commissary sergeant that the beef had been treated with "preservatine."
