SCIENTIFIC DAIRYING.

Mr. J. Booker Clark Working on Lines for the Production of a Fine

A characteristic and gratifying feature of modern improvement and discovery. as far as the industries are concerned, is the reflection of the products. Whether it be a carriage wheel or a one-dollar watch, accuracy and utility are the points striven after and gained Why should it not be in what we eat and drink? It was an edifying pleasure one day this week to a Times representative to visit the dairy of Mr. J. Booker Clark, on the Columbia road, one mile from Ellicott City. Mr. Clark is a farmer and believes in conducting farming on the latest improved ideas. With that end he has paid particular attention to his dairy, now a leading factor in the output of his well-conducted farm of 285 acres. After much study and expense he has attained what he believes to be the acme of success in getting the best possible results out of milk. Want of space prevents us from going into a detailed description of what we observed during our visit to his place.

Of a dairy now a days the separator enters largely into its success, as the work it does is done with scientific thoroughness and it is speedy. Scientific investigation has demonstrated that the development of bacteria is what the dairyman must fortify himself against. The only way to prevent rapid developmoment it comes from the cow. Mr. machinery is able now to fulfill the most exacting demands of science and can produce an absolutely pure article of milk. All the appointments of his dairy stabling where his tifty-odd cows are fed and milked is a marvel in itself, being neat and so thoroughly drained as to be without odors of any kind. An eight horse power engine furnishes power for turning the separator and a corn crusher. Abundance of pure well water by means of pipes reaches all parts of the establishment, and nothing seems to have been left undone to attain the end de sired, namely, a daily complete in all its appointments, having the latest and best methods, designed to furnish a product, about which there is no question, as he is willing to guarantee his milk 20 per cent. cream, while the standard required by law is only 12 per

The Lutheran Choir Entertainment. The musical and dramatic entertain ment in the New Assembly Room Tuesday night, under the auspices of the choir of the Luthern Church here, was large:y attended. The several humorous plays were highly entertaining and the singing all that could be desired, especially the solos by Miss Bessye Knight, Miss Ida Gerwig and Miss Lulu Eichner The parts taken by the Ide Brothers as a quartette, which included the "Huckle berry Hoboes," a musical sketch, were highly appreciated. The program in detail was as follows:

Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Baltimore Local Council of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was held Tuesday afternoon and night at Grace Protestant Episcopal Church, Elkridge. In the afternoon an informal reception and tea was held on the lawns surrounding the church, and given by the members of Grace Chapter. Services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Gray, pastor of the church. A business meeting was held in the evening. Mr. Frank H. Longshore, secretary of the Philadelphia Local Assembly, and Mr. John W. Wood, general secretary of the Brotherhood, made addresses on "Ushering-Methods and Possibilities of." About 135 members of Baltimore and vicinity were present.

Died of Apoplexy. An old employe at the Redemptorist College at Ilchester, named Andrew Cooper, was found dead early Wednesday morning on the College farm. When discovered the body was lying with the face down alongside a small path leading to the vineyard. Cooper was seen Tuesday evening after 5 o'clock walking in that direction, and it was thought he had returned later and retired. Justice Charles A. Frey, of this place, was notified, but after being informed as to the circumstances he deemed an inquest unnecessary, and the conclusion was that he died of apoplexy. He was about 60 years of age, and leaves a widow and two children, living in Baltimore.

Elkridge Methodist Church.

Mr. J. E. Mettee, a theological student of Pennington Seminary, has been as signed to the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Elkridge, this county, by Rev. Charles W. Troop A of the National Guard, which properly belongs to this vicinity, paricipated in a large civic parade at West. minster Wednesday. The boys marched from a rendezvous here to Westminster, presenting quite a martial appearance as they proceeded along the read. Many of the inhabitants along the way took them to be regulars who had seen service in Cuba or the Philippines and praise and ejaculations of "God bless you," were showered upon them, besides receiving many offers of hospitality. At Winchester they drew a large amount of attention. There were 55 in the parade. Mr. James E. Tyson here, who returned from Ocean City Tuesday, says it was his privilege Monday to enjoy the sight of an iceberg off the coast at that point. Though three miles away the temperature of the air at the hotels was reduced from 90 to 60 degrees. The appearance of a 'berg" in that vicinity was most extraordinary and being of immense dimensions promised to spread coolness in the south for many days to come. Mr. Charles W. Peddicord captured a earrier pigeon Monday morning, at his home, near Bethany, in the Second district. The bird's almost exhausted condition, indicated that it had come a long distance. On its right leg was a brass band on which was stamped "U. 3248." On the other leg was also a band, with an inscription which, from wear, could not be made out. The stray bird is still in

CLARK-ROBINSON The Marlin Ball, a paper published at Marlin, Texas, gives us an account of the marriage in that place on May 24, 1899, of Capt. B. C. Clark and Mrs. Sallie Robinson. The captain is a son of the late Thaddeus Clark, of Howard county, and brother of Wm. C. Clark of T., and Jas. T. Clark, well-known and popular citizens of the Fifth district. The Ball describes the wedding as "probably the most recherche affair of the kind that has ever occurred in Central Texas. "Both pardes," says the Ball, "are so well-known in this section of the State that it is unnecessary to add that the former is the popular cashier and large stockholder of the First National Bank of Marlin, while the lady is one of the largest and wealthiest real estate owners in Falls county. The marriage took place at "Rose Hill, the country residence of the bride, and was replete with every attraction that would tend to make the affair an enjoyable one to the fortunate guests in attendance. The happy couple left for California, where they will make a stay of three months. The groom's gifts to the bride were of the most costly and elegant character. The many friends of Capt. Clark here will congratulate him on what necessarily was a an auspicious oc-
