School Board Proceedings. A special meeting of the Howard County School Board was held on Friday of teachers' appointments, awarding free scholarships and selecting a partial list of textbooks to be used in the public schools during the ensuing year. The Board also rendered a decision favorable to the establishment of a High School at Lisbon, in the Fourth district. This question has been under consideration for some time past, there having existed a divided sentiment among the patrons regarding the matter. Mr. E. J. Nelson, of Federalsburg, Caroline county, Md., was appointed principal of the school. Miss Luella Gallion's appointment as teacher of School No. 3, Second district, was confirmed. Miss Lula Peddicord, of the Second district, was given the free The buck, for which $15 was paid, was scholarship to Washington College, at Chestertown, and John P. Collier, of Ellicott City, the Agricultural College scholarship appointment.

First grade certificates were granted to Charles C. Woodland, Julia Johnson and Franklin Johnson.

School books were adopted for use in the county schools for the ensuing year, as follows: Walsh's series of arith metics, Brooks' Mental Arithmetics, Dulaney's Primary Physiology, Steiner's Civics for higher grades, Forman's Civics for elementary grades, and the natural system of vertical writing, Montgomery's leading facts of American History, Barnes' primary United States

Death of a Former Rough Rider. In the Orphans' Court here Tuesday letters of administration were granted to Michael J. Sullivan on the estate of the late C. Joseph Sullivan, a former wellknown resident of Elkridge, in the First district of Howard county. The deceased was the son of the late Cornelius Sullivan, who was formerly a prominent contractor of Baltimore city. His death occurred in Puerto Principe, Cuba, of yellow fever, on the 8th of July last. In 1892 he left Calvert Hall, Baltimore, where he had been a student for four years, and went aboard the United States steamer Newark and sailed on a cruise around the world. He afterwards served in the Sixth United States Cavalry, and at the breaking out of the American-Spanish War, enlisted with the Rough Riders, under Captain Plummer, in General Wheeler's division. He returned with his company to Montauk Point in August, last year, at the conclusion of hostilities in Cuba. He was mustered out of service in time to attend the marriage of his brother, Mr. Michael J. Sullivan, the present administrator, at Elkridge. He returned to Cuba in September and went into business, which he successfully conducted until his death.

Bazar at Glenelg. Next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, August 22nd and 23rd, in the beautiful grove at Proyldence Church, Glenele, Md., will be held a bazar for the benefit of the church. Commencing at 2 o'clock P. M. each day, refreshments will be sold and supper served in the grove. An entertainment will be given in the church each evening, beginning at So'clock. It is expected that Dr. S. W. Anderson, of Woodwardville, Md., will recite the first evening, beside other talent. Music of different kinds will be a striking feature of the occasion. On Wednesday evening Mr. Frank Miller, of Asbury, Md., will give the entertainment. All who attend the bazar held

Highland Pienic. The picnic adjourned to Highland Hall when the rain began to fall, and there everything went on as smoothly and pleasantly as if picnics were intended to be held in-doors. Dinner and supper were served, dancing was indulged in, photographs were taken and games played as if the day were bright and cheerful. It is a characteristic of St. Mark's picnics that people enjoy them, and even on this occasion everyone went away declaring they had had a downright good time The receipts were surprisingly large, but e expenses were disproportionately eavy of course on account of the scale of the preparations. The grove of Mr. F. C. Pue, adjoining Highland, has been so admirably arranged that there is every prospect of the picnic being repeated about the last of the

THE TOURNAMENT AT COOKSVILLE.

Pleasant Weather and Large Crowd-A Day of Enjoyment all Around. As a great social occasion the tournament held in Mrs. Riggs' grove, near the guest of Miss Elanor Mercer, at her Cooksville, Thursday, under the auspices of the Glenwood Farmers' Club, outstripped any similar gathering ever held in Howard county. As to weather the day was an ideal one. The sun most of the time was obscured by cloud and the air just cool enough for an outing. Between three and four thousand persons were present and the grove was packed with vehicles. The greeting of friends were many and cordial. The Baltimore papers had announced that Hon. J Walter Smith, Democratic nominee for covernor, and Hon. E. Warfield would be present, and to this announcement it can be attributed the influx of many who probably otherwise would not have been present, especially those who came long distances. Mr. Smith spent the entire afternoon receiving congratulations from the thousands who sought to take him by the hand, many of them Republicans. Hon. E. Warfield was no less a Hon and one would have thought from the commendatory remarks made concerning him that he was the special property of Howard countians held in reserve for future listinctions. There seemed like a myraid of young adies in the grove and there was a contant intermingling of the thousands apparently rejoicing in the opportunity for mutual congratulation without respect to party, church creed or station The tournament feature of the occasion was more than usually brilliant, Mr. James C. Cooney. The event was eleven knights having entered the lists. HOWARD COUNTY REPUBLICAN CON-

The Howard county Republican Convention after a large amount of unsuccessful "figuring" Monday assembled in the court house and attempted to nominate a ticket but failed. All that the convention accomplished was to select delegates to the State Convention and name county central committee, as follows: State Convention-A. M. Shipley, Chas Fisher, T. H. H. Stansfield, Walter S Black, Philip S. W. Smallwood and Col. Geo. W. King, with half a vote each. County Central Committee-Robt. H Hughes, Truman C. Welling, Henry J.

Warner. The meeting was called to order by Clarence H. Oldfield, acting chairman of the County Central Committee, in the absence of J. Frank Oldfield, who now hold the position of special postoflice inspector in South Carolina. As the first proceeding in the order of business Mr. Oldfield called for the credentials of the delegates. Several members objected to this as being irregular; that the first business of the convention was the selection of a temporary chairman and secretary. Discussion began to wax warm and for a few minutes an ominous cloud hung over the convention. Some began to vehmently declare that the officer in charge was wrong, among whom was Robert H. Hughes. Mr. Oldfield strenuously asserted that he was acting according to precedent, and reminded Mr. Hughes of his action in the New Assembly Room four years ago, when the convention was ripped up by proceedings of his own instigation. Mr.

Hughes immediately became silent. Mr Oldfield insisted on his point and the credentials of the various delegations were quietly handed in, which, after being passed upon, the business of electing emporary officers was allowed to proceed, and Richard Rollins, C. H. Oldfield Ed. W. Day, W. S. Robb, R. S. W. Smallwood and F. T. Baldwin were appointed a committee on credentials.

The work of the committee was considerably delayed by a contest in the Second district, brought up by Wm. A. Makinson, who was at the head of a delegation which, he claimed, had an equal voice in the convention with the delegation headed by Clarence H. Oldfield, which, he claimed, was won by fraud, or, to use a milder term, by proceedings that were decidedly irregular. The committee were out a long time and during the recess speeches were made by Senator Day, Dr. Samuel J. Fort, Col Geo. W. King and Remus Dorsey, the lat ter a colored delegate. Senator Day got off one of his charac teristic harangues and said some things cointed (in his own mind) and amusing. He indulged in such palpably false ex pressions as, the Democratic party nominated a ticket without a platform; the county ticket was a creature like the State ticket-without a platform; the war in the Philippines was the only issue the Democrats had; there would be no Coxey's army during Republican administrations; said the Republican party was in favor of expansion and designed county. to take in the whole world; Democrats were obstructionists and unable to make successfully attacked; the only card the Democrats had to get back to power was the promise they would do better; the pledges of the Republican party had all been carried out; the Republican party originated the free school book law; the Democratic party made an elegant Democrats of Howard county had named a man for governor who was called down by a boss; the Republican party of Howard county were together and would nominate a ticket that will be elected; said that we should not discriminate against a man on account of his color; referred vigorously to the rights claimed by the colored man; eulogized Gov. Lowndes for his interest in the colored man; alluded to J. D. Mctuire's famous expression that he would rather go to hell a Democrat than to leaven a Republican, and explained that Mr. McGuire was a Democrat when he aid that; eulogised the national Repubican party and said that the Democrats

a platform except against trusts; Re-after four years always endorsed what the Republicans did, making use of other oose and offhand expressions, rejoicing he negro element of the convention and illing the minds of the more intelligent with doubt as to the wisdom of such unapported statements. Dr. Fort spoke more calmly and sensily and created a good impression. Col. King used some wornout platiudes concerning Mr. Gorman and became quite animated before he got through, using several anecdotes to illusrate his points but he failed to enthuse. Remus Dersey, the colored man, always a conspicuous if not a picturesque figure in Republican conventions, said there was no danger of the social relations between the whites and blacks being disturbed through political relations This statement was well controverted before the convention was over when a white delegate was seen to hug a coal black delegate and place his cheek against the colored man's cheek in loving embrace. It was a clear case of "cheek and jowl," and created an unfavorable impression.

The committee on credentials finally eported, bringing also a report on reso lutions. The resolutions were a rehast of the same old Republican pretensions and will amount to little as a factor in the campaign.

There was another stir, however, when t became known that the report of the committee allowed the Mackinson dele gation equal voice with the Oldfield lelegation-21 votes each. Mr. Oldfield protested loudly against this proceeding. He had come into the convention with large majority of the Second district There will be a number of changes in votes and whatever irregularity there this neighborhood. Mr. Thomas Batson | may have been his delegation alone had fumed, fretted and protested, and though he appealed to the convention he was not sustained and was obliged to accept the half a loaf. Following the election of the delegates o the State convention and county central committee there came to the eye of Chairman Day an indescribable gleam. He said the next question on hand was whether they proceed to nominate a ticket or postpone the convention to some future date. It was evident the Chairman was in favor of the latter and the ease with which the postponement was ac complished looked suspicious. Had the fences not been properly put up to suit some body? What was to be done in the meantime and who was to do it? was the query of some. Mr. Day said the postponement should be made in the interest of a "good ticket." Accordingly the convention decided to adjourn until September 11, but the impression left among sober thinkers was that the "matory of J. H. GLENWOOD.

GLENWOOD, Aug. 16.-We know that he fashions of the present day are misleading; since the advent of the bicycle girl, it is often difficult to distinguish the sexes. But, when a man is attired in citizen's clothes, mark you, I mean the coat, breeches and waist-coat worn by every male citizen of the United States, it is a gross insult to his dignity to be asked to "call again," and please bring the other ladies next time. Mrs. Hodges and the Misses Snowden, all of Laurel, are now sojourning at Longwood, the hospitable home of Miss Louisa Warfield and Mrs. Emma Shepherd.

Elise E. Bracco and Mary Nicodemus at her home, Inwood, from last Saturday until the following Monday. The ladies of the "Union Aid and Literary Society" will convene at the home of Mr. Gillis Owings on the first Saturday in September. Members are cordialy invited to attend. Mrs. Richard Owings and little son, of

Miss Ella Warfield entertained Misses

Simpsonville, and Miss Albina Clark, of Baltimore, are spending some time at ospitable Ellerslie. Dame Rumor affirms that school wil reopen at Glenwood Institute in the early part of September. We trust that this s not merely a fabrication without foundation as we have ascertained many of he good Dame's previous reports to be. Mrs. Frick, who has been one of Elerslies guests for some weeks, is quite sick at this writing. We trust that ere this appears in print she may be enjoy ing perfect health. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Snyder are the ruests of Mr. and Mrs. James B. McDonld. of Killdeer Park. I have carefully examined all of the ittle bugs, BIG BUGS-bugs with, and without wings in and about our town, and as a result of my labors, I have discovered at last two kissing bugs. They are rare species, and lest close confine ment may endanger their health, I shall

FACTS FROM FULTON.

Fulton, Aug. 16 .- The rain on Tuesday made an unsuccessful attempt to spoil the enjoyment of the picnickers at Highland. While the woods and fields were deserted by the pleasure seekers the hall afforded no lack of enjoyment and the young people had a good time dance-
