CHRISTMAS. Before this issue reaches all of our subscribers Christmastide will be full upon us. Nations have risen and fallen since the Babe of Bethlehem awakened the echoes of heaven by his advent; other festivals have come and gone, but the recurring Christmas seasons remain as bright and as truly heartfelt as they were when celebrated eighteen hundred or more years ago. Indeed the meaning seems to brighten as the world goes on. More and more the world is sighing after the principles taught by His life, without taking into account the tremendous significance of his mission—the fulfillment of all that was told of Him before, and the greater fulfillment of a world finally redeemed from sin and its consequences.

His mission more than fulfills the intensest desire or most fanciful notions of the pagans concerning immortality, or the nature of a Divine Being. He came with wonderful works and authority and the unbelieving world was staggered when confronted by his wisdom, his power to set aside the laws of nature, and thought after all when they saw Him on the cross he was but a man, true, mysterious, but a man after all. How different now. The world sees him in His true light. He brought with him that flood of revelation which explains all, and man has but to accept and he becomes His brother-a joint heir to enjoy with Him an inheritance which is life everlasting.

The freethinker may endeavor to think out something else, but "evolution" can never produce a Christ, such as the Father has given the world. Human nature remains the same and Christian people and nations will continue to make grave mistakes, but who will be so bold as to say that under His beneficent influence the world has not grown betterlove deepening, charity broadening, selfishness less lasting, individual and united effort for the amelioration of mankind assuming more systematic shape. The agnostic may carp and criticize in the presence of his own environments but the religion as taught by Jesus is broader than the earth and deeper than the sea and His last injunction-go preach this gospel to every creature-has been heralded down the ages and his name, even in a unregenerate world, is above every other name.

And this is the reason why the birth of Christ is celebrated. Because He is the embodiment of all that man could hope for-the only rational conception con cerning the true God-answering full and complete every inquiry what man should believe or what he can hope for in a life beyond,-all based upon such proof as to carry conviction to every tinues, and the Boers keep up their ansoul which honestly lays itself open to nexing of territory, the fair-minded ob-

Mr. W. B. Peter, of Howard, will be the oldest ranking State Senator. He served in 1888 and in 1890. In his last term Colonel John Walter Smith enentered the Senate. Of the twenty-six senators who were members during the session of 1888 fourteen are dead, among whom were John Sappington, of Harford, Robert F. Bratton, of Somerset; S K. Dennis, of Worcester; Richard II. Edelin, of Charles; John B. Brown, of and artists who make the high-cost maga-Queen Anne's; Mr. Wentz, Mr. Goodwin, zines. Mr. Adams, of Baltimore City; George Peter, of Montgomery; Charles T. Claggett of Prince George's, and Mr. Bennett, of Carroll.

The death of Gen. Lawton, who was shot and killed Tuesday while leading his men against the Filipinos, at Mateo, will produce profound sorrow throughout the country. He was among our most gallant and energetic officers. He dies with a brilliant record, having distinguished himself as early as 1861, while serving in the federal army during the civil war. His place will be hard to fill in the Philippines.

Governor Lowndes Tuesday appointed and commissioned Charles T. Reifsnider, Sr., Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit vice Judge I. T. Jones, resigned to accept a seat on the Bench of the Court of Appeals.

A WAY TO DEAL WITH THE TRUSTS. Some years ago, when fevers were raging on the Mississippi, the Nile and the Ganges, and when the price of quinine was rising by leaps and bounds, a humane Representative in Congress (Mr. Mackenzie, of Kentucky) moved that the duty on quinine be repealed. The resolution was passed, under a suspension of the rules, by a Republican House, and was sent to the Senate, where it was promptly adopted. Thus the murderous tax on quinine ceased to exist. By a similar method the present Congress could effectually deal with one of the most obnoxious and oppressive of the Trusts, as thus

GREAT BRITAIN'S WAR TO DATE. The beginning of hostilities between the British and Boers in the Transvaal followed the exchange of ultimatums between President Kruger and Mr. Chamberlain in October. Mr. Chamberlain sent a foreshadowing of his ultimatum on September 22, after which preparations for fighting were pushed with vigor. News of the action taken by Mr. Chamberlain led the Boers to believe that the last hope of peace was gone. They waited until October for the arrival of the expected ultimatum. They then sent one themselves, demanding an agreement to an impartial arbitration and the cessation of military investment of the campaign of the Transvaal. Mr. Cham-Per Annum $1.00 | berlains ultimatum embodying the final proposals of the British Government which the Transvaal must accept or go to war was going over the wires to South Africa while the Boer ultimatum was on its way to London. The latter has never been published and there is no no trustworthy nformation as to its contents. Hostilities began the latter part of October with the fierce fight at Glencoe and Dundee, in which the British casualties were 467, and General Yule was compelled to retreat, the Eighteenth Hussars being captured. The next blg fight was at Elandslaagte, where the Boers were checked. At Rietfontein the engagement resulted with little advantage to either side, the conflict being indecisive. The next engagement, at Nicholson's Neck, resulted in a decided British reverse. two regiments and a mountain battery being captured. At Chievely the British armored train was captured, next at

Willow Grange the Boers were checked. This brought the campaign well up in o November. It was followed by the sortie at Ladysmith, in which the Boer guns were destryed, but the siege of the | sion of Philadelphia and passing the city remained unlifted. At Belmont the time with parades and masquerades, British were checked, and the same result to British arms followed at Gras huts provided for the troops were not so Pan and Modder River. The latter battle | very uncomfortable, but it was not long was fought on December 6, resulting in the severest reverse to the British they had yet met. They were completely checked by the Boers in their attempt to cross the river and lost 474 men. At | their shoulders were bowed and chafed Stormberg on December 10 the British | from dragging supplies on sleds through were again defeated, losing 627 men and three guns. At Magersfonstein two days later they met with defeat again, their killed and wounded being report ed at 832. On the 15th they were again defeated, this time at Colenso, as told in full in recent dispatches. Between these greater battles there were a number of skirmishes, in all of which the Boors had the advantage. The aggregate British loss in these so far as reported was 170 The figures of losses are taken from the British reports, the Boer losses being unknown, but in many instances was believed to be as heavy as those of the British. The status of the campaign up to the present date leaves the British practically defeated in their three lines of advance, the first under General Gatace, the second under General Methuen and the third under General Buller.

The appointment of Gen. Leonard Wood whose nomination to be major general of volunteers was confirmed by the Senate last week, to be Military Governor of Cuba, is regarded as the best thing that has happened for the Cubans for some time, as he has shown by his management of the province of Santiago that he thoroughly understands how to get along with them. He was tendered a rousing ovation upon his arrival Wednesday at Havana, all classes vieing with each other to do him honor.

As the struggle in South Africa con server is compelled to admit that the struggle is nothing more or less than a contest for South African supremacy between Boer and Briton.

A GREAT CHRISTMAS NUMBER.—The Christmas number of The Saturday Evening Post marks a new departure in periodical literature—the first successfu attempt to give for five cents, stories, ar ticles and pictures by the same writers

For example, the opening story in the Christmas Post is by Rudyard Kipling, and the tale that of Private Ortheris and his dog, Garm; Joel Chandler Harris tells "Why the Confederacy Failed," stirring story of the Secret Service; and Ian Maclaren, Justin McCarthy, M. P. John Luther Long, M. E. M. Davis, W. C. Coup and W. S. Harwood contribute stories and articles. The verse in the number is by Edwin Markham, Frank L Stanton, Mary E. Wilkins and Clinton Scollard.

The half-tone page headings, illustrate ing Christmas in History, are by Charles Louis Hinton, Frank and Joe Leyendecker, W. S. Lukens, George Gibbs, F L. Fithian, Emlen McConnell and Harri son Fisher. The handsome colored cover is by Henry Hutt. The Christmas Post will be on all news-stands December 21.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds, have given away over ten mil lion trial bottles of this great medicine and have the satisfaction of knowing i has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarse ness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on Dr. Isaac J. Martin's Sons, Druggists, and get a free trial bottle. A CHRISTMAS RETROSPECT. "RY GROSVENOR!

Written for THE TIMES. A few days more and with much inno cent jollity and kindly feeling toward each other the Christmas festival of 1899 will have passed. From our present prosperity and comfort let us look back at two Christmastides of the past.

Defeated, perplexed, not daring to make a stand and yet not daring to show an appearance of flight, disobeyed by General Lee, disregarded by Congress, his force growing less at every step with a strengthening foe at his heels, Washington ferried his shadow-army over the Delaware a few days before Christmas, 1776. He had only 1,700 men to hold the fortunes of the country against several thousand of the enemy, yet with apparent fool-hardiness he lingered on the west bank of the Delaware, as if waiting for the weather to form an ley bridge over which the British could march triumphantly. The calm courage of the man seemed suddenly to mingie with a return of his impetuous boyhood. In stead of waiting for further defeat, he wrested victory from defeat by doing the unexpected thing. Amid darkness and killing cold his forces boldly recrossed the Delaware, fell upon the unsuspecting Hessians, who were heeding only their own appetites at Trenton, slew many of them in their cups, captured a thousand and got safely back into Pennsylvania Christmas day, 1776. Then followed three weeks of such vigorous. splendid campaigning that even Frederick the Great judged it to be the most brilliant in the annals of civilized warfare. In a few weeks the breadth of the State across which he had so ignominiously retreated stretched between him and the discreet and astonished enemy.

Defeated at Brandywine because for once he yielded to public clamor and risked an engagement that he was illprepared to meet; and again defeated at Germantown; the enemy in full posses-Washington went into winter quarters at Valley Forge, 1777. The houses or before fuel, food and clothing were wofully lacking. Our own hearts can tell whether these are essential to comfort in a vigorous climate. The men's feet left bloody tracks behind them in the snow, thedrifts, their bodies were given over to the agonies of scurvy because of the poor quality and small quantity of their food. Thus passed Christmas of 1777. Though God and man seemed to have forsaken them, inspired by the heroic determination of Washington and by the steady drilling of Steuben, this nucleus of revolutionary success had nerve enough to hold out through the great testing of the winter. Then it went out to succeed and never again underwent another long series of defeats.

It is well to think of the manly sort of material that rendered our present happy conditions possible. How would our characters as citizens stand the comparison if these heroes came to sit at our

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use Without The first indication of croup is hoarse ness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croup cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record-twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by

Dr. I. J. Martin's Sons. It is no new thing to charge the U. S Senate with being an extravagant body but the itemized cost, as shown by the re port of the Secretary of the Senate, of the urnishings bought for the Vice Presi dent's room in the Capitol, show that it s growing more extravagant all the time Here are some of the items: Imported carpet $465, antique desk $325, mahoga ny tables $150, sofa $130, two rugs $212 two pairs of lace curtains $300, velve portiere $170, and a solid silver ink stand

IMPORTANT TO MOTHERS. The manufacturers of Castoria have peen compelled to spend hundreds o housands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Cas toria trade-mark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprie tors, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Cartoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has

The Democrats intend pushing trust egislation at this session of Congress. Senator Morgan, of Ala., has introduced an anti-trust joint resolution which he says he intends forcing to a vote if it possibly can be done, and Senator Chilton, of Texas, says the same about the antitrust bill he has introduced.
