Miller, where he will provide himself with means of procuring places for servants, and servants for places; of giving information respecting animals strayed; and of furnishing intelligence relative to rare and unusual articles of merchandise or traffic; together with such other articles of intelligence as interest the farmer coming to market, the citizen resident in town, or the stranger who may come hither by land or water.

Artificial Mineral Waters

TO THE PUBLIC.

OF all the choicest blessings bestowed on man, that of health has ever been most duly appreciated. Without this, no other can be truly enjoyed, and with it most affliction may find an alleviation. Whatever, therefore, is conducive to promote and increase this blessing, hath strong claims on public patronage and support. As tending to the object, Artificial Mineral Waters (when properly prepared) have been found effectual, as well in their physical as moral tendency; affording both an agreeable and salutary beverage, which will increase or promote health, offer a pleasing substitute for the pernicious use of spirituous liquors, the inclination to which (from the exhilarating effects of these Waters) is considerably lessened, is entirely removed; being found to possess all the agreeable & useful qualities of natural mineral waters.

The pursuit of this valued blessing, has led many for ages past to resort to springs far distant for their salutary or restorative powers; even when exposed to every inconvenience, or when placed at the greatest distance. Happily the important discoveries of Chemistry, hath so far obviated this difficulty, and enabled art to excite nature by an exact imitation of her process adopted from analysis—thus, their beneficial properties are increased, or their particles found injurious, lessened, or excluded altogether.

It has been generally admitted that nature in the various diseases with which mankind are afflicted, has been equally bountiful in furnishing a remedy, than which none a benefit and more efficacious than the use of those waters; having proved successful in many cases, where all other applications had failed. I depend on their medicinal properties, they afford the luxurious (either by themselves or united with pleasant syrups, &c.) a truly necessary beverage.

The importance and utility of these celebrated waters, have induced the proprietor to commence and apply every exertion to perfect an establishment so beneficial in its tendency; and his perseverance has been so far successful, as to merit the approbation and support he has received in Philadelphia, &c. may be convinced by the following certificate, with which he was favoured by some of the most eminent of the faculty in that place, viz.

We, the subscribers, have carefully examined specimens of Artificial Mineral Waters, prepared by A. H. Cohen, and find them equal to any heretofore made.

Benjamin Rush,

William P. Dances,

Thomas Parke,

J. C. Fausseau,

M. Abney,

J. D. L. Roche,

B. Morgan.

The following was also received from a gentleman of the most respectable Chemical knowledge, who had analyzed the waters:

DEAR SIR,

I return you my thanks for the different specimens of Artificial Mineral Waters you were pleased to favor me with, at the same time, cannot but congratulate the citizens of Philadelphia, on the acquisition of an establishment which affords them so salutary and agreeable a beverage. I say salutary, as nothing has been found more effectual than the use of those waters in many cases, where all other applications have failed; this effect chiefly resident in a principle which I have found to exist in a constant proportion in the waters as prepared by you; having discovered by analyzing, and comparing them with the natural waters, that they exceed by 34 times the quantity of fixed air any natural aerated water ever yet discovered, whilst their other qualities are the same.—Wishing on every success so useful an establishment in this I am,

J. STUART.

Mr. A. H. COHEN.

From the known liberality and public spirit of the citizens of Baltimore, the subscriber has been induced to extend a branch of his establishment to this city—having employed an agent for that purpose, whom he can with confidence commend as fully competent to the correct mode of preparing these waters, having practised with him since the commencement of the establishment in this county. The proprietor is persuaded his wishes and endeavors will be zealously seconded, in the most strenuous exertions to merit and obtain public approbation. It is expected the Waters will be ready for delivery by the 27th instant, of which due notice will be given.

In submitting the above scheme to the public, the Managers will not attempt any eulogium on the importance or necessity of the object in view. They believe that, at this time, not a doubt exists in the mind of any well-informed person, of the efficacy of the Vaccine Matter as a safe and certain preventative of the Small Pox. The difficulty, and it might be added the impossibility, of preserving this remedy without the aid of an Institution, (such as is intended to be established and supported by the profits arising from this Lottery) is also well known. But it is proper to observe, that this Institution not only contemplates to preserve the genuine Vaccine Matter for the use of the citizens of this State, but also to give it, at all times, free of every expense, (with directions when required) to any of them who may have occasion to use it. To aid them in accomplishing objects such as these, the Managers feel confident of the liberal and prompt support of the public.

The Scheme on an attentive examination, will be found to afford inducements to adventurers, at least equal to any heretofore proposed in this city. All prizes will be paid within sixty days after the drawing is completed.
