THE WRIT.

"GIVE US BUT LIGHT." BALTIMORE: MONDAY, AUGUST 6 1810.

By the ship Hope, capt Barnard, arrived at this port on Saturday, from New Orleans, papers from that place to the 2d ult. were received at this office. The Louis. Gaz. (a federal print) of the 27th June, contains the following paragraph with the annexed note, in writing on the margin of the paper: "Letters have been received to day from Bayou Sarah and Baton Rouge, stating that the people of those districts in West Florida, had in contemplation to form a government of themselves, that they had been for some time without law, or the semblance of government, and that self preservation drove them to the measure they were about to take.—We are promised extracts of the letters, which if handed to us, shall appear to morrow."

The letters could not be published, being of too serious a nature to be inserted in a newspaper.

CENSUS.

The Citizens of Maryland are respectfully informed, that the Marshal and his assistants will commence taking the third Census to day, each and every free person, more than 16 years old, belonging to any family is obliged by the 6th section of the act, under the penalty of 20 dollars, to answer the following questions: 1. Who is the master or mistress, steward or overseer, or other principal person therein. 2. How many free white males are in the family under ten years of age. 3. How many of ten and under sixteen years. 4. How many of sixteen, and under twenty-six years. 5. How many of twenty-six and under forty-five years. 6. How many of forty-five years and upwards—(the three last questions will of course include heads of families).—The same six questions are to be asked concerning white females of those respective ages.

7. How many other free persons are there in the family. 8. How many slaves. 9. Had any other person or persons their usual abode in the family on the first Monday of August, 1810—if any, of what description. If heads of families or others who are obliged to answer the above questions, would reduce them to writing to be delivered when called for it would prevent much trouble to themselves and unnecessary delay to the Marshal and his assistants. THO: RUTTER, Marshal. August 6

[COMMUNICATED] THE NEWS.—There are one or two points of view, in which the news by the recent arrival at New York, from England, deserves consideration.

1. If the project of a treaty with G. Britain has been sent out by Mr. Pinkney, it must indisputably be such as to ensure its own rejection. The British cabinet has not lately, nor ever, manifested any disposition to relinquish the insolent conditions prescribed by Mr. Canning, in the celebrated instructions of January 1809. And is it possible that our executive can ever recognize, in a formal treaty, pretensions so degrading and ruinous to us? With all the christian humility and meekness which guide their conduct, we really cannot yet believe that they are thus far lost to a sense of the nation's honor and best interests.

2. The rumours of a contemplated peace between England and France, and Russia and England, deserve no credit. They are in every view contradictory: if Russia has made peace with England, as is stated, and these two powers have coalesced against France, it would puzzle even British quidnuncs and lawyers to tell us how, under such circumstances, France could be at peace with England. Maritacured in London, they were, if such a thing as a Pinkney treaty actually exists, probably intended to operate in producing its acceptance by our government. The folks at St James's understand us too well. They have found out a deplorable secret, in respect to American policy. The unofficial, unconstitutional, irresponsible conversations held with the British minister at Washington, by men who have little more right to meddle with the exterior relations of this country, than Tom, Dick, or Harry, have too plainly shown them that our government, like the weathercock, is twined about by every light breeze from Europe. We do trust that for his own character, and for that of the nation, which we sincerely believe this member of our federal councils has at heart, Mr. Madison will promptly reject any arrogant terms proposed on such views of our policy.

3. As to the intelligence from France, it is to be remarked that it comes through the same channel with these rumours. It may be true, that Bonaparte has fulminated another edict against our commercial property. We could expect little else. We have acted so little like a dignified and spirited nation, that we have invited the insults, the kicks and cuffs, not only of the despot of continental Europe, but of all his vassal kings, and, in fact, of every other government with which we have intercourse. In vain may we continually appeal to the honor and justice of regal rulers, whose dominion over their own people has been acquired by fraud and force, for reparation of past aggressions on us, and for balance from those to come. We must put it off as long as we can—at last rest our violence for violence; we shall be kicked into a war, or vilely submit to be trodden beneath foreign feet.

Elections to the 12th Congress.

The southern electors appear to be determined to let all those members of Congress who voted to repeal the embargo have leave to stay at home. In N. York, this has already been accomplished; and by the nominations in Rhode Island and New-Hampshire, it seems they mean to follow suit. In the latter state the election will take place on the last Monday of August ensuing. The following gentlemen are nominated to compose the Republican Ticket for members of congress, at the next election in New Hampshire. Dr. Josiah Bartlett, of Stratham. John A. Harper, Esq. of Meredith. David J. Morrill, Esq. of Goffstown. Gen Samuel Dinwiddie, of Keene. Hon. Obed Hall, of Bartlett.

As a Republican Convention holden at Newport, R. I. on the 21st of June last, Nathaniel Hazard, Esq. of Newport, & Nathan Brown, Esq. of Johnston, were unanimously selected as candidates for Representatives in the twelfth Congress of the United States.

Married, on Friday last, by the Rev Mr. Gandy, Mr. Thomas Little, to Miss Mary Calder, both of Baltimore county.

Boston, July 31. Extract of a letter from Liverpool, to a merchant in this town, dated Liverpool, June 4.

The present is to mention that a bill is now before parliament for increasing the duties on tanning timber. We annex an extract of a letter from our agent on the subject, and we are of opinion, it will be found accurate as to the intentions of our government.

"I understand, it is intended, that the duties on deals, deal ends, deal battens, boards and oak planks, is not to take place until the 31st December, 1811; but on balks, batten ends, clap boards, oak boards, palling boards, pipe boards, wainscot boards, fire wood, fir, quarter, handspikes, lath wood, masts, yards, bowsprits, oars, spars, staves, fir timber, ufers and wainscot logs, I understand, the duty is to commence on the 30th of September next. "The duty, however, is not to attach on deals above seven inches wide and eight feet long, nor exceeding 1 1/4 inch in thickness; nor on fir, being 8 inches square, not exceeding ten inches, being the growth of Norway; nor on wood the produce of Africa. "The act to continue until six months after a treaty of peace, and to be exactly twice the amount of the present duty."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Liverpool, to a mercantile firm in the same city, dated June 9.

"In reply to your note, left late last night at my house, the information I have concerning the double duty on timber, I had yesterday from Mr. Blackburne, M. P. as follows: "That the duty on oak timber, of all sorts, is to take place on the 1st of Jan next; and on fir, and all other sorts, in Jan. after. (say 1812.) On which Mr. Blackburne justly remarks, that the next session will give us sufficient time to counteract both.

"It appears to me, that government have gone too far to withdraw the bill in toto. That on receiving the several memorials, the ministers found they were wrong in the measure partially represented to them, by interested speculators, and that by putting the dates at the above distances, they have rendered the bill harmless without withdrawing it."

NEW YORK, August 3.

Latest from England.

The editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have been favoured with a file of London, Liverpool and Glasgow papers to the 22d of June, received per the Tamaahmah, from the owners, and another commercial house in this city, from which the following extracts are made.

We have also been favoured with an interesting extract of a letter from Paris. The marine intelligence contained in the papers will be found in the proper department.

Capt. Story, of the Tamaahmah, informs us that the British frigate Venus, with Mr. Morier (the new charge des affairs to America) on board, was to sail from Portsmouth on the 24th of June; and that Mr Jackson was to return to England in the frigate Venus.

IMPORTANT.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman in Paris, dated May 31st, per the Tamaahmah, from Liverpool.

"Things are daily growing worse, and my hopes, which from the first were faint, are entirely extinguished. There is a report in circulation, that an order has been sent to Bordeaux to sequester any American funds which may be in the hands of the merchants in that place— This may not be well founded; but, it will not surprise me. The officers of government, are extremely vigilant in frustrating all partial arrangements. In Dunkirk, there has lately been two cases of ships captured by privateers, who compromised with the captors, one of which was the America, of Philadelphia, and the master paid the captors 100,000 francs, and immediately on taking charge of the ship, she was seized by the officers of government, and sequestered. In short, I do not see any prospect of any American property under seizure in this country being released."

London, June 13

Yesterday morning a mail from Helligoland reached London, bringing a series of L'Abelle du Nord to the 29th ult and letters from that island to the 8th inst.— We have also information one day later from a passenger by the packet. The intercourse with the continent had not been re-established. It was supposed, that to the amount of five millions sterling, in British manufactures and colonial produce, were deposited on the island. All the tanks or reservoirs were exhausted, and excepting what was impure or brackish, the inhabitants were destitute of water.

Dutch letters were received yesterday morning to the date of the 7th instant.— Louis had not at that time left Holland, and the report of his abdication of the throne appears to be wholly unfounded.

June 15.

The accounts brought by the Oporto convoy are to the 2d ult. and from the British army three days earlier. The French have been for some time establishing large magazines of provisions at Salamanca, from which it was concluded that they had some great enterprise in contemplation. The force of gen. Junot on that station is much larger than has been represented, consisting of 1600 cavalry and 18,000 infantry. Letters from the north of Spain have also been received, viz. of the 26th from St. Sebastian, and of the 30th from Corunna. In Galicia the greatest rigour prevails among the peasantry for the defence of the country, but they are almost without arms. It is stated that the French are now 60,000 strong in the neighbourhood of Ciudad Rodrigo and Salamanca; and that an attack upon the allies was expected by the first convenient opportunity.

June 16.

We have exclusively Haarlem Courants to the 10th inst. The following official document of great importance, is extracted from them: IMPERIAL DECREE. Art. 1: The line of demarkation of 3000 ruders, of 13 feet each, is to be extended to 5000 distance from the sea coast.—All prohibited magazines or warehouses which shall be found within that distance, with their contents, shall be sequestered. Such magazines and goods shall be disposed of as hereafter determined.

Art. 2. The owners of all such warehouses as occupy the space between the old limit of 2000 ruders and the new boundary of 5000 ruders from the coast, shall be allowed to remove them within the space of 14 days from the publication of this decree.

Art. 3. Licenced shop keepers shall give an account of the goods they have in their possession.

Art. 4. Permits shall be given to such shopkeepers for the proportion of such colonial produce and manufactures which they respectively may be allowed to retain for sale on their premises, but such quantity is in no case to exceed one third of their annual consumption.

Art. 5. The municipalities of the different districts shall deliver catalogues with the names of all the licenced shopkeepers in such districts, which deal in colonial produce and manufactured wares.

The 6th and concluding article, directs the publication of this decree in the usual form.

Two Gottenburgh mails arrived this morning, by which we have letters from Petersburg to the 23d, from Konigsburgh to the 23th ult. and from the port of departure to the 11th inst. At Petersburg colonial produce and Russian articles had undergone no material change in the price, but the Exchange had risen to 14 3/4d. The winter was one of the longest for many years known. The Neva was open at Petersburg, but in a state of congelation at Cronstadt.— The Konigsburgh letters mention the arrival of 15 American ships, and that no obstruction was given to the discharge of their cargoes or to trade in any additional respect. The Gottenburgh letters notice that 13 ships from the Baltic with corn, destined to this country, were waiting for convoy. They say, that no disturbances had arisen in consequence of the death of prince Augustenburg, and that preparations were making for the meeting of the Diet to nominate the new heir to the Swedish crown. One of our letters observes, that apprehensions were felt that the government at Stockholm would issue a prohibitory decree to the injury of our commerce, but it was hoped that the unpopularity of such a measure would disappoint the intentions of the French party in that capital.

The net produce of the stamp duties on newspapers and almanacks, for the year ending the 5th of April, 1810, amounted to 278,845l 5s 8d. These sums do not include the duties on newspapers, almanacks and advertisements in Scotland.

According to a calculation in a Parisian Journal, the French empire contains at present the following population: Inhabitants who speak the French language, 28,156,000;—the German, 2,705,000; the Flemish, 2,227,000; the Breton, 967,000; the Basque, 108,000; forming a total 34,262,000 souls.

Letters from France arrived yesterday morning, by which it appears that Bonaparte has refused to grant any more licences for the exportation of grain; but from what cause is not distinctly explained.

Dutch papers to the 10th, and Paris papers to the 7th inst. reached town yesterday, but their contents are unimportant. The Turkish army is said to be 450,000 strong, of which number, after deducting garrisons, about 180,000 can be brought into the field.

June 18.

A considerable number of Americans have been discharged from our ships of war in the West Indies, in obedience to orders from the Admiralty.

We have received Dutch papers to the 11th inst. but their contents are not interesting. The only article in them that deserves to be mentioned, is a commercial decree, issued by king Louis, which, however, is not sufficiently important to render it necessary to insert the article in detail. Its principal object is to alter the line of demarkation, within which (with some exceptions) all magazines, depots, or warehouses of colonial productions, or English manufactures, were by a former decree prohibited, from 2000 rods to 3000 rods from the sea coast.

We have received French papers to the 11th, and Dutch to the 14th. They contain some long but uninteresting details of the arrival of Bonaparte and his empress at Paris, and the programme of the fête to be given by the city of Paris to their imperial majesties. Several other fetes are to follow, to be given by the war minister and other principal officers of government.

Respecting the affairs of Spain, the Paris papers of the 10th inst. contain the following article: Paris, June 10.

Letters from Bayonne, of the 3d inst. speak of the uninterrupted passage of troops through that town for Spain. Among these reinforcements are about 500 artillery men, who were immediately followed by a number of caissons, &c.—We daily expect the arrival of 6000 fusileers of the Imperial Guard, who are to proceed to Burgos, where they are to remain till further orders. The shipshooters and chasseurs of the Imperial Guards begin to arrive here. They have been reviewed, and their fine military air and discipline excite the admiration of all who see them.

According to letters from Madrid, his
