"IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH."

Caution is necessary at the approach ug election for members of the II-use of Delegates from this city. It is hoped he republicans will bewere of division and spura any candidate who may be self-nominated, or named by a junta of friends Regular nominations will short ly appear, from a meeting composed of gentlemen from all the wards; it is beloved the the worthy, staunch and unos suming Mr. BLAND will be one of the car didates offered to the republicans.— Let our metto be—Union—Give feder alism no hopes by republican division

Perhaps the federalists may persuade onine reputed republican to run, as the saying is; indeed, if we might be indulged in a pun upon names, they have already prevailed on one gentleman to not republican language to say. Come forward-let condidates be brought forward by the people.

The state legislature is more importent than the coagressional contest -However democrats may differ in one case, let them cordially unite in the other. The candidates for congress are all self nomicated. Candidates for the House of Delegates will, and ever ought to be, selected by the people.

" The odds make the difference," is a quain saying. The contemptible cow ard, Hanson, (whose week it is to be-spatter decency and vilify worth.) has adduced a statement from the Whig, to prove that major Bioys has told an un teurli al - utabe liberation of the American chizen from the Netley Our state ment was that of report which we had heard, and as such we gave it. We find by Mr. Biays's account that it was incorrect; but the l'ederal Republican editors published a long calumny, declaring that they had enquired into the business. Their falshood was, therefore,

Though I dways knew your talents were incompetent to seperated up in any fegiclative body, yet I sopposed vou. pagause I believed you possessed hones ty, moral and political. Belief I can ex-ercise so much charity in future, it is probable I must be favoured with a satisfactory explanation of the following:

Did you was for the law of Mayland, which requires the candidate for congress to reside within the district which e is to represent?

If so-why did you vote against that law, in the case of M Creeky's contested election in congress; es ecially, as the report of the committee of elections made on that occasion, condemned our state Inc. ?

It is generally reported here that you affect if whis his u the renewal of United States' bank charter; and that you have insinuated you would vote for is continuance, if you could do no bet ter! What do you mean by such equivical language?

You sometimes by and write that you have nothing in congress but a choice of evils. Is not such language insincere-since no member cught, on any account, to vote for a wrong thes

NO EQUIVOCATOR.

FOR THE WHIO. Mr. Irvine,

I should not have nedeed the ma lignant aspersions of "Boulus" in your peper of to-day, had they not contained a wilful mistepres, nta io , a d evidently designed to injure the character of Col Little; however much he veils himself under the spacious garb of audiciation of the whole of the candidates. Whoever the writer alluded to may be, his stace ity with reg rd to fauth and moral recained fell short of that which Mr Livle from his youth has maintaine lamongst those with whom he ha associated. It is true his profession in life (being a mechanic) has been a birries to his mixing in the exalted cir. cles of the wealthy. This has been deamed a material objection, and render ed him utterly u fit to fill, (in the estimation of Bruius) so henorable a situations the representative of the people. If Brutus had attended the nice tings where Mr. Little has spoken, and paul that respect to candor which he ought to have done, he would not have charged him with hypocrisy or e vasion. He has stated the law, in his opinion unconstitutional, as an infringe ment of the dearest rights of a free people, as an attempt to controul the right of suffrage. He resides in the district, the people of the district are called upon under the constitution of the United States and the laws of this state, to vote for two, and shall it be deemed right. that that law should locate the candidates, and not permit the citizens to vote for whom they please. What would the cit tzens of Baltimore say, were the legistature to enact a law, that one of their deiegates should reside in Market street and the other on Fell's Point-or the tries, another the second, and so go on to incare the whole, Would it not be an infingement of the constructions right the people pages? I view every artempt to controll then in that respect as a step to a is oc. ccy. Is not the con stitution of our country fixed on the principles of a representative democracy?wit', whom does the supreme power rest? With the people - and shall they not be permitted when mited upon, to exercise the right of sullinge, to do it exercise the right of sulliage, to do it constitute mally, co. formuly to the eye ten laid down by trein delegates in constitute a femaliar is entitled to elect two models y suit salect them from the please of an tuly entry to the constitute of the constitute by the Livile of secount of his residence, by the cons in i nelligial Mr. M Creen's hold ing his scat, when he actually lived twelve mi'es farther from Paitimore the Mr. Meore the county representa-tive did, at the time of his election

But, Mr. Editor, I am insuced to be teve if Co Little was such a faverite aith nonv of the leaders of this city. is Mr M Civery was at the time of us election there would have been no objection to him on that account. The ci is, they are not pleased with having igen from the common weiks of life; and any thing (no matter how in onesters with their former processions) sill be unged to p event his election. We are varessed and fl. trered when yer they have a point to carry, but it we suppen to have the audority to think for urselies that is without consulting those who consider themselves as lead ris, we are immediately a igniatised as configuent, a piring and embitious posseesing no education, nor any other infornation requisite to make the men of tal-tots or legislator. Unto tuch amongst ele m I class your correspondent Bru es. I offer the homage of my most suprome contempt.
