

coramand of the hon. lieut. col. French, and the brigade of the Portuguese infantry, under the command of col. Champeidmond, directed by col. Mackinnon. Major gen. Leith also moved to his left, to the support of major gen. Picton, and aided in the defeat of the enemy on this post, by the 3d bat. royals, the 1st and 2d bat. 23th regiment.

In these attacks major generals Leith and Picton, cols Mackinnon and Champeidmond, of the Portuguese service, who was wounded, lieut. col. Wallace, the hon. lieut. col. Meade, lieut. col. Sutton of the 9th Portuguese regiment, major Smith 45th regiment, who was unfortunately killed, lieut. col. Douglas, and major Birmingham of the 8th Portuguese regiment, distinguished themselves. Major general Picton reports of the good conduct of the 9th and 21st Portuguese regiments, commanded by lieut. col. Snel Sutton, and by lieut. colonel de Arouge Bacellar, and of the Portuguese artillery commanded by lieutenant colonel Arent child. I have also to mention in a particular manner the conduct of capt. Dansey, of the 88th regiment. Major gen. Leith reports the good conduct of the royals, 1st bat. 9th, and 2d bat. 38th regiments; and I beg to assure your lordship, that I never witnessed a more gallant attack than that made by the 38th, 45th, and 8th Portuguese regiments, on the enemy's division which had reached the ridge of the Sierra.

On the left, the enemy attacked with three divisions of infantry of the 6th corps, that part of the Sierra occupied by the left division, commanded by brig. gen. Crawford, and by the brigade of Portuguese infantry, commanded by brig. gen. Peck. One division of the infantry only made any progress towards the top of the hill, and they were immediately charged with the bayonet by brig. gen. Crawford, with the 43th, 52d, and 96th regiments, and the 3d Portuguese Caadores, and driven down with immense loss. Brigadier general Cleman's brigade of Portuguese infantry, which was in reserve, was moved up to support the right of brig. gen. Crawford's division, and a battalion of the 19th Portuguese regiment, under the command of lieut. col. Macbeen, made a gallant and successful charge upon a body of another division of the enemy, which was endeavouring to penetrate in that quarter. In this attack brig. gen. Crawford, lieut. col. Beckwith of the 95th, and Barclay of the regiments engaged, distinguished themselves.

Besides these attacks, the light troops of the two armies were engaged throughout the 27th, and the 4th Portuguese Caadores, and the 1st and 16th regiments, directed by brigadier general Pack, and commanded by lieut. colonel de Rego Bumpio, lieut. col. Hill, and major Armstrong, showed great steadiness and gallantry. The loss sustained by the enemy in his attack on the 27th has been enormous. I understand that the general of division Merle and gen. Mascun are wounded, and gen. Simon was taken prisoner by the 52d regiment, and 3 colonels, 33 officers and 250 men. The enemy left 2000 killed on the field of battle, and I understand from the prisoners and deserters that the loss in wounded is immense. The enemy did not renew his attack, excepting by the fire of his light troops on the 28th, but he moved a large body of infantry and cavalry from the left of his centre to the rear, from which I saw his cavalry in march on the road which leads from Mortogoa over the mountains towards Oporto.

Having thought it probable that he would endeavour to turn our left by that road, I had directed col. Trant, with his division of militia, to march to Sardo, with the intention that he should occupy those mountains, but unfortunately he was sent round by Oporto by the general officer commanding in the North, in consequence of a small detachment of the enemy being in possession of St. Pedro de Sul; and notwithstanding the effort which he made to arrive in time, he did not reach Sardo till the 23th at night, after the enemy was in possession of the ground.

As it was probable that in the course of the night of the 28th the enemy would throw his whole army upon that road, by which he could avoid the Sierra de Busaco, and reach Coimbra by the high road to Oporto, and thus the army would have been exposed to be cut off from that town, or to a general action on less favourable ground; and as I had reinforcements in my rear, I was induced to withdraw from the Sierra de Busaco. The enemy did break up in the mountains at 11 at night of the 28th, and he made the march expected. His advanced guard was at Avelas, in the road from Oporto to Coimbra yesterday; and the whole army was seen in march through the mountains; that under my command, however, was already in the low country, between the Sierra de Busaco and the sea; and the whole of it, with the exception of the rear guard, is this day on the left of the Mondego.

Although from the unfortunate circumstances of the delay of col. Trant's arrival at Sardo, I am apprehensive that I shall not succeed in affording the object which I had in view in passing the Mondego, and in occupying the Sierra de Busaco, I do not regret my having done so. This movement has afforded me a favourable opportunity of showing the enemy the description of troops of which this army is composed; it has brought the Portuguese levies into action with the enemy for the first time in an advantageous situation; and they have proved that the trouble which has been taken with them, has not been thrown away and that they are worthy of contending in the same ranks with British troops, in this interesting cause, which they afford the best hopes of saving.

The enemy has made no movement in Estramadura, or in the northern provinces since I addressed your lordship last. My last accounts from Cadiz are of the 9th. I enclose a return of the killed and wounded of the allied armies in the course of the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th instant.

Return of the killed, wounded, missing and prisoners of war of the Portuguese army, on the 27th Sept.

Killed—4 captains, 2 subalterns, 1 serjeant, 1 drummer, 82 rank and file.

Wounded—1 colonel, 1 major, 5 captains, 15 subalterns, 9 serjeants, 478 rank and file.

Prisoners and missing—2 serjeants, 13 rank and file.

Total—killed 90, wounded 512, prisoners and missing 20.

The precise loss of the British army is 97 killed and 434 wounded—of the Portuguese, 90 killed and 512 wounded."

"Paris, Sept. 26, "We inform you that his majesty issued the following decree of the 24th inst.:

"The merchandise proceeding from the American vessels which were sequestered in Holland, and which have not been already transported to Antwerp, shall be sent there without delay. The Maryland tobaccos, however which have not been yet removed thither, may be sold in the ports where they are.

"Such persons as have received any article which made part of the aforesaid cargoes either on estimate or as securities, shall pay the amount thereof before the 15th of next October. Those to whom they have been delivered, without a previous valuation, shall pay the amount at the current price on the Amsterdam exchange. The price shall be settled by an inquiry before the 10th of October, and the payment of the value therein fixed must be made before the 1st November. An inspector of the customs shall be sent to Holland to superintend the regulations prescribed by this decree, and to report thereon to our director general."

Insurance against Fire.

The President and Directors of the

BALTIMORE

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY,

at their Office, No. 12, South Street, continue to make insurance on very moderate terms, not only on buildings, and houses of every description, but also on goods, wares and merchandise, contained in any building, and on ships and their cargoes lying in port, for any term at the option of the parties.

Goods to an immense amount have lately been imported into this city. How easy is it for the holder of this property to secure to themselves a indemnity for any loss or destruction, that may happen to it by fire, which so frequently occurs, by making insurance on the same? Those persons who may sustain such loss during the winter, will reflect to great advantage, if they should neglect to guard against it by insurance, means the most simple and easy, and superior to all others by every dictate of prudence and foresight.

Persons desirous of making insurance, will be furnished with the forms of application, by calling at his office.

By order,

THEOPH'S F. DOUGHERTY,

Secretary.

Broad and Narrow

WEAVING.

The subscriber respectfully informs his friends, and the public generally, that he has commenced and intends carrying on the WEAVING BUSINESS, at his manufactory near Market street bridge, in 14 Ughman-st. where Weaving of the following descriptions will be executed with neatness and dispatch, to wit:—Common Carpets, without a seam, large enough for any floor; Diaper, double or single; Bed Coverings; Counterpanes; Towels of every description; and all kinds of Linen, Cotton or Woollen Cloth, or any pattern of Bel'ticks. A number of the inhabitants of the city and county of Baltimore being so well acquainted with the abilities of the subscriber in the above line of his profession he deems it unnecessary to trouble them further than to plead a humble request that to those who may be pleased to favour him with their commands; and he flatters himself that from his knowledge of the business, his attention and close application to expedite all orders he may receive, to merit the approbation of a generous public.
