For ages, has the treatment of pulmonary de. eases occupied the greater portion of the attention of the scientific of the medical world, by none acquired more eminence in his treatment of these diseases, than the celebrated Prussian Saloon. Dr. Hoofland, the originator of the Balsame Cordial. His life was devoted to the production of remedies that would stand unrivalled. How well be has succeeded, the American people an able to judge; and we positively assert, that a preparations that have ever been placed befor them, have conferred the same amount of bene fits on suffering humanity, or have elicited a many commendations from all classes of society as the remedies of Dr. Hoofland, prepared 6, Dr. C. M. Jackson & Co., of Philadelphia.

The Cordial is designed for a class of disease more general and more fatal than any other to which the people of this country are subjectthose springing from a "slight cold." That eminent authority, Dr. Bell, says: "I will not say that Colds are to our inhabitants what the Plague and Yellow Fever are to those of other coun. tries; but I can aver confidently that they usbe in disease of greater complicity and mortality than these latter." It is no new and untried article, but one that has stood the test of a twelve years' trial before the American people, and its reputation and sale are unrivalled by any similar preparations extant. The testimony in its favor given by the most prominent and well known physicians and and a careful perusal of the Almanac, published annually by the proprietors, and to be had grats of any of their Agents, cannot but satisfy the most skeptical that this remedy is really deserring the great celebrity it has obtained.

From J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicine in general, through distrust their ingredients and effects, I yet know of at from any simple preparation, in the hope that he
