More especially should we in Maryland thank Him that the attempt so recently made to invade between thehours of 1 our State, and transfer to its soil the scene of the conflict, has been so successfully resisted by our defenders and so impressively rebuked by our citizens, and that whilst war, in its most appair ling aspects, has for the past eighteen months raged within sight of our borders, our own perple, with the exception of one memorable week, have all practically enjoyed most of the advantages of peace.

Let us, therefore, with grateful hearts, laying aside for the time all secular pursuits, as well as all partisan animosities, offer up, on the day and all the other blessings we still enjoy, accompanied with our prayers that they may be still continued. Let us implore Him who, through out our national career, has so distinguished to with His favor, not to withdraw it new is the day of our severest trial; but that, inspiring out rulers with the wisdom to discern and strength to perform their responsible duties, He will cause our Union to be re-established in all its recent power, restore peace to our bleeding country. reunite its wrangling citizens, curb the mad anbition of those insanely attempting to disme need it, and the factious spirit that would divide those offering to defend it, and allow it once more to resume, among the nations of the earth, the proced position which through His unvarying goodness, it has been hitherto permitted to maintain.
