Waiting for Spring.

As breezes stir the morning, A silence reigns in air; Steel blue the heavens above me, Moveless the trees and bare: Yet unto me the stillness This burthen seems to bring,-"Patience ! the earth is waiting, Waiting for the Spring."

Strong ash and sturdy chesnut, Rough oak and poplar high, Stretch out their sapless branches Against the wintry sky. Even the guilty aspen Hath ceas'd her quirering, As though she too were wating, Waiting for the Spring.

I strain mine ears to listen, If haply where I stand, But one stray note of music May sound in all the land. "Why art thou mute, O blackbird? O thrush, why dost not sing?"
Ah I surely they are waiting, Waiting for the Spring.

O heart ! thy days are darksome; O heart! thy nights are drear; But soon shall streams of sunshine Proclaim the turning year. Soon shall he trees be leafy, Soon bird shall sing; Like them, be silent, waiting, Waiting for the Spring.
