At Winter's day, And eyes of saddest blue behold The leaves all dreary drift away, And lips of faded coral say, There comes a time when we grow old.

There comes a time when joyous hearts Which leaped as leap the laughing main, Are dead to all save memory, As prisoner in his dungeon chain; And dawn of day

Hath passed away The moon hath into darkness rolled, And by the embers wain and gray, I hear a voice in whsper sav, There comes a time when we grow old.

There comes a time when manhoods prime Is shrouded in the mist of years. And beauty, fading like a dream. Hath passed away in silent tears: And then how dark! But oh! the spark That kindled youth to hues of gold,

And found affections lingering say. There comes a time when we grow old. These comes a time when laughing Spring And golden Summer ceases to be; And we put on the Autumn robe,

To tread the last declivity;

Still burns with clear and steady ray,

With rosy Hope, Beyond the sunset we behold— Another dawn with fairer light, While watchers whisper through the night There comes a time when we grow old.
